SENATORS DISCARD ALTERNATIVE PLAN IN LEVY ON PROFITS

Finance Committee Rewrites Entire Section of Bill, Adopting McAdoo's View.

ALTERS INCOME SCHEDULE

Surtaxes to Increase 1% on Every $2,000 Between $6,000 and $1,000,000.

WORK ALMOST COMPLETED

Chairman Simmons Believes Revenue Measure Will Be Ready for Senate Next Week.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The entire war profits and excess profits tax section of the $8,000,000,000 War Revenue bill was rewritten today by the Senate Finance Committee, the alternative system of tax as fixed by the House being discarded. In taking this action the Finance Committee supported the viewpoint of Secretary McAdoo that there ought to be a flat war profits tax, based upon pre-war earnings, instead of the dual system.

The alternative method drawn up by the House Committee, lawyers maintained, would not stand the test in court. Rather than run the risk of the bill being attacked as unconstitutional the entire Senate Finance Committee decided to eliminate the alternative tax and substitute the flat rate advocated by Mr. McAdoo.

The yield under the flat tax, according to experts who appeared before the Finance Committee, will be only slightly less than under the alternative system, while distinctively war profits will be more easily reached.

A new schedule of surtaxes for individual income taxes was also agreed upon by the committee. The rates will not appreciably affect the aggregate yield on the amount to be paid on incomes up to $10,000 a year as compared with the House tax. The yield on incomes from $10,000 to $1,000,000 will be much lower, but it will be considerably higher on incomes running from $1,000,000 up.

Altogether, the work of the Finance Committee today was the most important accomplished in many days. It brought the deliberations of the committee near to their end, so that Chairman Simmons said tonight that it was likely the bill could be made ready for the Senate by the end of next week.

Tax Computed in Three Ways.

Under the scheme of war profits taxes as adopted today, the corporation tax will be computed in three ways. As the section now reads it will be:

"1. Thirty per cent. of the net income in excess of the excess profits deduction of 8 per cent. of the invested capital.

"2. Sixty per cent. of the net income in excess of 20 per cent. of the invested capital.

"3. The amount by which 80 per cent. of the net income in excess of the war profits credit or deduction exceeds the amount of the tax computed under the first and second brackets (or paragraphs)."

The new system, it was explained, is a combination of the two methods of war profits written by the House Committee, but with changes that do away with the use of the alternative method. The House bill fixed the war profits tax at 80 per cent. upon the net income after an exemption of $3,000, based upon the average of pre-war earnings for 1911, 1912, and 1913. The excess profits tax allowed also an exemption of $3,000, plus 8 per cent. of the invested capital for the taxable year. The House system provided a tax of 35 per cent. of the income in excess of the credits allowed and not in excess of 15 per cent. of the invested capital; 50 per cent. of the income between 15 per cent. and 20 per cent. of the invested capital and 70 per cent. of the amount of income in excess of 20 per cent. of the invested capital.

Under the provision put into the bill today, in any instance in which the full amount of excess profits credit is not allowed under the first bracket of computation, the part not allowed shall be deducted from the amount in the second bracket, so that, in the end, the full deduction will be allowed.

Members of the Finance Committee maintain that the system adopted today is simpler than that drawn by the House Committee.

Still Reaches Profiteers.

Under the House system the yield would have been approximately $1,719,000,000, and it will produce somewhat less under the Senate system. But members

Wilson Honors Foch and Joffre and West Front Commanders

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—President Wilson, as Commander in Chief of the army, awarded today the Distinguished Service Medal to Marshals Foch, Joffre, and Haig, and Generals Pétain, Diaz, Gillian, (Chief of Staff of the Belgian Army,) and Pershing.

General Pershing will be the President's spokesman in presenting the medals to the other military leaders and express the high regard of the people of the United States and the American Army for the services they have rendered.

General Tasker H. Bliss of the Interallied War Council will present the medal to Pershing, saying for the President that the medal is awarded as a token of gratitude of the American people for his distinguished service and of appreciation of the success which the American armies had achieved under his leadership.

ASKS $600,000,000 FOR NEW WARSHIPS

Navy to Duplicate Its 1916 Program of 10 Superdreadnoughts and 6 Battle Cruisers.

PLANS 140 SMALLER CRAFT

Daniels Announces That Big Ships Are Being Looked After [illegible] Destroyers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Congress has been asked by the Navy Department to authorize a second three-year naval building program to provide ten additional superdreadnoughts, six battle cruisers, and 140 smaller vessels at a cost of $600,000,000. This was disclosed tonight by Secretary Daniels after his appearance before the House Naval Committee to explain the appropriation.

This authorization is asked for the next fiscal year and is in addition to the 156 naval vessels comprising the first three-year building program which was authorized in 1916 and the great number of new destroyers and other special types contracted for since the United States entered the war. Work on the first three-year program was delayed by the war, but Congress has required that a start must be made on all the vessels before the 1st of next July.

Including the $600,000,000 for the three-year program, Secretary Daniels said, the total estimates of the department for ship construction, including armor and armament, amounted this year to $972,090,000. Only $200,000,000 of the $500,000,000 will be made available next year for structural work on the three-year program. In addition, $372,090,000 is asked for completing vessels already authorized.

"The new program of 156 vessels," said Secretary Daniels, "prescribes specific numbers of battleships and battle cruisers only, there being ten battleships asked for, and six battle cruisers. As regards small vessels, although the total number is to be 140, it is simply asked that they be of types already approved and in existence, or of new types which may develop during the life of the program, the details being left to the discretion of the Navy Department.

"The new three-year program is a continuation of the policy adopted in 1915 increasing the navy, and contemplates its steady upbuilding and improvement. It is in line with the policy adopted by this Government, and which has met with the entire approval of the American people, of building up a navy strong enough to meet all requirements.

"This program, if authorized by Congress, as I am confident it will be, will give us sixteen capital ships that will be the equal of any afloat at the time they are built. The battleships and battle cruisers authorized in the first three-year program will be unexcelled by those of any other navy, and the country may rest assured that, in the new construction authorized, our constructors will produce the most powerful and effective of fighting craft.

"The imperative necessity of turning out as rapidly as possible all the destroyers and other types of craft needed in the war against the submarine—for the necessities of warfare at the time required us to concentrate upon this class of construction—has led to the fear in some quarters that in devoting so much necessary attention to the building of smaller craft we might fail somewhat in looking out for the future in building the capital ships on which the strength of a navy ultimately depends. This the naval authorities have always had in mind. The three-year program adopted in 1916 provided for ten battleships and six battle cruisers. Now we ask for as many more, to be built as those formerly authorised are completed and facilities become available.

"The total expenditure authorized upon this new program, $600,000,000, the provision for the first year being a third of this, $200,000,000. This is exclusive of estimates for emergency appropriations for new vessels to be built under war urgency, which total $140,000,000, and also of estimates for continuing and pushing the old program, the emergency construction of destroyers under way, &c.

"Including the $600,000,000 (for which authorization is requested) in the new three-year program, the total estimates of the department for ship construction, including armor and armament, amount this year to $972,090,000. The total amount recommended for appropriation next year for ship construction, that is, for completing vessels already authorized and for new vessels, is $572,090,000."

HOLD OUT, PRINCE MAX ASKS

Tells Germans to Prepare to Resist a Peace of Violence.

SAYS PEOPLE DEMAND IT

Government Acting Otherwise, He Asserts, Would Fall Before Public Opinion.

FEARS AN END OF PARLEY

Germans Angrily Dispute About Who Brought America Into the War.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 22, (Associated Press.)—"President Wilson's reply to the latest German note may perhaps bring definite certainty as to the result of the negotiations," Prince Maximilian, the Imperial German Chancellor, said today, according to a dispatch received from Berlin. "Till then we must prepare to resist a peace of violence."

"A Government which acted otherwise would be left to the mercy of the fighting and working people. It would be swept away by public opinion."

The above is presumably part of a speech by Prince Maximilian to the Reichstag. A Berne dispatch dated Monday said that the Chancellor was expected to address a full session of the Reichstag yesterday, when a debate on general policies would follow.

Germans Ask Who Forced Us In.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 22.—"Despite the tremendous dangers of the moment, this matter should very soon play a very great part in public discussion." Thus says the Local-Anzeiger in referring to interesting revelations made by the Frankfurter Zeitung regarding America and the introduction of the unrestricted U-boat war. The information comes from "a quarter having close relations with Bethmann Hollweg."

The article outlines the course of events thus:

On the day following President Wilson's message to the Senate on Jan. 22 of last year the President caused the German Ambassador, Count Bernstorff, to be informed that he, the President, would renew his efforts to bring about peace. For that purpose it would be of great importance to have more exact knowledge regarding the German conditions. Bernstorff's telegram to Berlin regarding the matter reached its destination Jan. 28. The decision had then been arrived at to begin the unrestricted U-boat war on Feb. 1. To countermand it was "a technical impossibility."

Bernstorff was immediately informed of this, and was told to declare to the American Government that the German Government warmly greeted the President's intention. For his personal information, and to assist him in his endeavors, the German Government made its peace conditions known to him. The peace program was fully outlined in a telegram to Bernstorff. He was in addition instructed that the unrestricted U-boat war could not, for "technical reasons," be stopped, but that the Government was ready to give orders to interrupt that warfare as soon as the President had succeeded in assuring a basis for peace negotiations which promised success.

Despite this message, the American Government replied to the unrestricted U-boat war by breaking off diplomatic relations.

Such is the gist of the Frankfurter Zeitung's statement, which is put forward with the aim of disproving the charge of duplicity brought against the German Government. It will have little success in that direction, and it has raised a storm of indignation from the democratic press. Several papers are calling for a Parliamentary inquiry.

Vorwärts is exceedingly angry that the unrestricted U-boat war was "introduced right in the middle of a fresh peace move, which President Wilson was undertaking despite his previous failures. It is hereby clearly proved that it was nothing but the unrestricted U-boat war which brought America into the war against us. The responsibility must, in the first place, be carried by the Pan German agitators, but also by the weak Government of Bethmann Hollweg, which allowed itself against its better judgment to be driven along by the jingoes."

The Berliner Tageblatt, too, rages against "the senseless politicians and journalists who stirred up a popular movement in favor of the U-boat war, and who, the moment there was any hint of Wilson endeavoring to bring about an end of the war, roused in the country a stormy campaign of protests against 'a Wilson peace.'"

15,000,000,000 Mark Credit to be Asked from Reichstag

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 22.—A new war credit of 15,000,000,000 marks (nominally $3,570,000,000) will be submitted to the Reichstag in November, according to the Munich correspondent of the Rhenish Westphalian Gazette.

Should this war credit be passed by the Reichstag, it will make the total of credits voted by that body 154,000,000,000 marks, or nominally $36,652,000,000. The previous credits were:

PUT OUR CONSULS IN MOSCOW JAIL

Leonard and Burri Suffering Great Privation, Red Cross Refugees Say.

PRISONERS TWO MONTHS

Executioner Peters Is More Powerful Than Red Council —Fight for Control.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 21, (Associated Press.)—The last of the American Red Cross workers in Russia reached Stockholm today after a four-day trip by train from Petrograd. The party consists of Major Allen Wardwell, Captain J. W. Andrews, and Dr. M. Davidson.

Captain Andrews's illness detained the party in Russia after the departure of the other members of the Red Cross, but he is now much improved, although compelled to walk with crutches as a result of an attack of rheumatic fever.

The Bolsheviki showed the Red Cross party every courtesy, and President Sverdloff of the Russian Red Cross and many Bolshevist officials sought to obtain the assistance of the American Red Cross to prevent the wholesale starvation of noncombatants in Russia this Winter.

The Americans looked after the Entente prisoners at Moscow and Petrograd after the departure of the Entente missions and relieved the condition of many unfortunates in Russian jails. Major Wardwell and his assistants are especially anxious to have food supplies sent to Russia for prisoners and children who are public wards and are now facing starvation.

United States Vice Consul Leonard, who held the post at Astrakhan, and Vice Consul Burri were both in jail at Moscow when the Red Cross party left, but the Norwegian Legation had been assured that they would soon be released. These officials were first imprisoned at Tsaritsin and had been prisoners nearly two months. They have undergone great privation.

Food conditions are rapidly growing worse in Petrograd and Moscow. Although the Bolshevist press says that the retirement of the Czechs from the Volga districts will make it possible to obtain grain from that region, no supplies are reaching the two cities as yet, probably because the peasant organizations will not release grain to the Soviet Government.

The clash of authority between the counter-revolutionary commissions of Russia and the central and local Soviet organizations has become so serious as to show that it is the predominant menace to the dictatorship of the proletariat, according to information brought here by travelers.

M. Peters, head of the commission to suppress counter-revolutions, has become more powerful than the National Council of Commissaries. Even Nikolai Lenine, the Bolshevist Premier, was unable to save men he did not wish executed by the Peters commission. The red terror spread from Moscow has become a monster, which Lenine and other milder members of the Central Government cannot control.

The counter-revolutionary commissions' chiefs in the smaller cities are equally merciless, giving accused persons no chance to prove their innocence. The counter-revolutionary commissions try and execute political suspects without reference to other Government organizations.

The National Commissary of Justice is endeavoring to have the counter-revolutionary commission placed under his authority, but they are resisting. The Red terror is not waged so publicly at Moscow now, the conservative elements evi-

REPLY TO BERLIN DELAYED

President Takes Up Course of Action With Supreme War Council.

MAY REFER ENEMY TO FOCH

Suggestion That Germany Arrange for an Armistice as Bulgaria Did.

TO BE DECIDED IN FIELD

Situation Held to be a Military One—President to Get the Official Text Today.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—President Wilson's course in dealing with the latest German note, it is believed, is beginning to take form.

Exchanges are in progress between Washington and Paris, and there is reason for believing that the military matters touched upon in the German note have been referred by President Wilson to Paris for consideration by the military authorities of the allied Governments. These exchanges will be completed before the President acts on the German reply. Reference of the military points involved to military authorities abroad for judgment and advice in advance of action at Washington would correspond with what was done when Bulgaria applied to the French generalissime on the Balkan front for an armistice. The Bulgarian appeal was referred to Paris, and the decision of the Governments of France, England, and Italy was that Bulgaria must deal with the allied General in command in the field, who handled the appeal for an armistice as a purely military matter, and demanded the unconditional surrender of Bulgaria.

The official text of the note was received by cable at the Swiss Legation today. Arrangements have been made for its presentation to Secretary of State Lansing tomorrow morning by Frederick Oederlin, the Swiss Chargé d'Affaires.

The note could not be decoded and translated in time to be turned over to Secretary Lansing tonight. It is understood that there is considerable verbal difference between the official and the unofficial text.

The situation developed by the German reply in unofficial form was canvassed by President Wilson and his official advisers at today's lengthy session of the Cabinet. Nothing developed to warrant any modification of the statement that the President was standing firmly in the position that Germany must surrender; that the three steps toward peace, in the order named, must be evacuation of invaded territory, an armistice, the terms of which will be dictated by Foch and his military advisers, and then discussion of the application of the terms laid down for peace.

There is nothing as yet to indicate the exact method the President will pursue in dealing with the present note. Were the President to meet the overwhelming sentiment of congressional leaders here, he would make an end of note writing by using the words, "unconditional surrender" to Germany.

Possible Lines of Action.

Three lines of action have been discussed:

First—To give a curt answer, pointing to the "decision" in his recent note to Germany, and saying the time had arrived to deal with Marshal Foch.

Second—To send a note in which the President would stand firmly on his demands, but leave the way open for further discussion, to reach the German people and make plain to them that evidence has not been given of any real overthrow of the military autocracy of Germany.

Third—To send no answer whatever.

While the third of these courses has been freely discussed in Washington, there is no evidence that this is going to be the course pursued. As nearly as can be ascertained, it is to be a choice between the first and second lines of action indicated, and in many quarters it is not believed that the President himself has definitely decided as yet what his line of action will be, further than not to bargain or compromise, or accept anything less than absolute surrender.

That there will be a reply seems to be reasonably certain, but the situation is wholly uncertain as to its tone and character. The German answer is not regarded as satisfactory, but it is not clear how best to deal with it. There was a strong intimation tonight that the President looked on it as wholly a mill-

Victory Is Within Reach and Must Be Complete, King George Tells Interparliamentary Delegates

LONDON, Oct. 22, (British Wireless Service.)—King George received a large deputation of interparliamentary delegates at Buckingham Palace yesterday. The deputation included thirty British representatives, twenty-two from France, eight from Italy, and one from Belgium. The King greeted his visitors cordially.

"More than two years have passed," he said, "since the first visit of the Interparliamentary Committee of the French Chambers, when you and we were in the throes of a conflict the issue of which then seemed to many foreign observers uncertain, although you and we never doubted that our cause, being the cause of right and humanity, would prevail. Now the armies of France, Italy, Belgium, and the United States, side by side with ours, are driving the enemy before them, his forces shattered, his people clamoring for peace.

"Victory is within our reach. And we are all agreed that it must be a complete victory.

"I congratulate you, Senators and Deputies of Italy, on the prospect which opens before you of recovering the regions guarded by those Alpine snows where your valiant soldiers have won such glory—regions inhabited by men of your own race and speech, who have long desired to be united to free Italy.

"And I congratulate you, Senators and Deputies of France, on the approaching restoration of provinces torn from you forty-seven years ago, which have never wavered in their loving attachment to France."

King George recalled that while between Great Britain and Italy there had always been peace, it was once otherwise as to Great Britain and France, who had waged many a war in former centuries.

"But," he continued, "in those days there was always on both sides a spirit of chivalry which forbade bitterness, and when peace came it was made with a sense of mutual respect. We in England have always continued to admire the brilliant gifts of France, gladly owning our intellectual debt to her, as we own also our debt from even earlier days to the versatile genius of Italy.

"That respect and gratitude have furnished a solid foundation for the affection which has now grown up between your nation and ours. Consecrated by the memory of the heroes who have fallen fighting side by side in this war, animated by the same devotion to their countries and to justice, this affection and this memory are pledges of our future concord. Such concord and co-operation will, we trust, become under the blessing of Providence a security for peace not only to our own peoples but to all free Europe, which is longing to return to the paths of tranquillity and progress.

"And you, Sir, representative of the Senators and Deputies of Belgium, we rejoice to see you also upon our soil. Your country, wantonly and wickedly attacked and devastated, has had terrible sufferings to undergo, but the day of your deliverance is at hand. The British people, which has felt for you through those sufferings, has admired the constancy and loyalty of your people and devotion of your soldiers, and earnestly wishes for you a future of that prosperity which you so well deserve, and which you gallantly sacrificed at the call of duty."

BRUGES, Oct. 20, (Midnight.)—"President Wilson saved Bruges," said Town Clerk Victor to whom I talked today. The same opinion is universal among the 50,000 people remaining in the city.

"The President's reply caused a marked change in the German attitude," continued M. Victor. "Thus the commandateur had notified some two score leading citizens ten days ago that they would be removed as hostages. We were conducted to the station for departure when suddenly a counterorder for our release came from General Headquarters.

"The enemy carefully refrained from injuring buildings or works of art and confined his destruction to the arsenal and his own depots. A high Prussian officer admitted that there had been a decision to spare invaded territories henceforward as far as possible. For the Germans, fear of punishment is the beginning of clemency."

Not only Bruges's famous buildings are intact, but priceless pictures and art treasures were so well hidden before the enemy's arrival that everything has been saved. The fact is the Germans never for a moment thought that Bruges would pass from their possession, and consequently did not trouble to consider the question of removing its monuments until it was too late. In the Palace of Justice they did not touch the carved mantelpiece, a masterpiece of mediaeval art, merely saying that the space on the wall opposite it was reserved for the Kaiser's picture directly peace established their hold on the city.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 22.—It may now be told that the American unit which captured St. Juvin, east of Grand Pré, was Company H, 2d Battalion of the 306th Regiment of the 77th Division. Company H was led by Captain Julius O. Adler of New York City.

Captain Adler and twenty-six men of his company were left after the day's fighting, in which St. Juvin and Hill 182, north of the village, were captured. Company H took 352 prisoners, including a German Major.

On the morning of Oct. 12, Major Gen. Alexander, commanding the 77th Division, ordered the 2d Battalion of the 306th Infantry to take St. Juvin, where the boche, with his main position of resistance on Hill 182, held the sore spot in our line. Company H was in reserve, and at once received the commission.

Crossing the Aire River about daylight, the Americans started over the valley plain, when the Germans caught sight of them and opened up with 77s and machine guns from Hill 182. Leading his men, Captain Adler started straight for the village, having been told that only a scattering of Germans were there. As they neared the houses, more machine guns opened on them.

Took Many Prisoners.

Captain Adler says he had forty-six men when he got into the village. Using hand grenades largely, these forty-six, scattered in squads, moved through the village swiftly, killing a number of Germans and taking sixty prisoners. Then they started off for the hill crest lying a few hundred yards north.

The few Americans were scattered and opened fire in all quarters. The Germans, believing the Americans to be present in force, and seeing oth-

BRITISH NEAR VALENCIENNES

Fighting in Western Suburbs—Win Ground North of the City.

BELGIANS DRIVE AHEAD

Hold the Whole Line of Lys Canal and Have Crossed It at Several Points.

FRENCH TAKE 1,100 MORE

In Thrust on the Lys They Seize a Wide Bridgehead South of Deynze.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—On the twenty-five-mile front from Pont-à-Chin [northwest of Tournai] to Thiant [southwest of Valenciennes] British troops have been engaged along the western bank of the Scheldt River, winning ground at many points—notably south of Tournai, (where they reached the river, capturing the villages of Hollain and Bruyelle,) southeast of Tournai, east of St. Amand, [about half way between Tournai and Valenciennes,] and before Valenciennes, the western suburbs of which have been penetrated.

Opposite Pecq, north of Tournai, the British have crossed the Scheldt and established a bridgehead.

These gains were made in the face of increased German resistance.

In Northern Belgium the forces under King Albert have reached the Lys Canal on the whole of their front, and have crossed it at several points.

French troops, attacking in the centre of the allied front in Belgium, are reported to be making good progress beyond the River Lys toward Ghent.

The French attack resulted in the establishment of a bridgehead south of Deynze to a depth of nearly two miles on a two-and-one-half-mile front, and in the capture of 1,100 Germans.

The official communication issued by Belgian Headquarters tonight, says:

The enemy sought to maintain his positions on the Lys and the canal from Deynze to the Dutch frontier. He attempted several counterattacks for the purpose of forcing us back west of Peteghem, which we had occupied Sunday. All these attacks failed with heavy losses. The Belgian Army crossed at several points the Canal de Derivation de la Lys.

In their retreat the Germans were compelled to throw vehicles into the Bruges-Ghent Canal near Miserle, west of St. Georges.

The French troops have established south of Deynze a bridgehead to a depth of three kilometers over an extent of four kilometers. Patrols have traversed the course of the Lys further south to Vive-St. Eloi.

In the course of these operations 1,100 Germans were taken prisoners by the French.

The Second British Army, despite considerable resistance from machine guns and artillery, has advanced on a front of 1,000 meters [about a mile] between the Lys and the Scheldt and has established a bridgehead on the right bank of the Scheldt east of Pecq.

Haig's Bulletin of Progress.

Field Marshal Haig, in his night bulletin on the results of the day's fighting, says:

We have entered the western suburbs of Valenciennes, and, north of that town, have penetrated deeply into the Forêt de Raismes, toward the angle of the Scheldt at Condé.

Progress was made east of St. Amand, and we reached the Scheldt at Hollain and Bruyelle, south of Tournai. Both of these places are in our possession.

Northwest of Tournai we have driven the enemy from the village of Froyennes and progressed beyond it toward the Scheldt. Further north sharp fighting has taken place for the crossings of the Scheldt at Pont-à-Chin.

Several counterattacks by the Germans to retake a bridgehead established by the British yesterday failed, with severe losses to the Germans, according to a supplementary official statement issued tonight on British operations in Flanders, which says:

Throughout the day the enemy endeavored to maintain his positions on the Lys and on the canal between Deynze and the Dutch frontier.

Several counterattacks were launched in order to retake the bridgehead we established yesterday. All failed, with heavy losses to the enemy.

Following is the text of the British day bulletin:

As a result of local fighting during the night we advanced our line to the left bank of the River Ecaillon, south of Thiant, the western portion of which is in our possession.

Further progress has been made by our troops between Valenciennes and Tournai. The enemy's resistance on this front is increasing.

In the Tournai sector, as a result of sharp fighting during the night we drove the enemy out of the village of Ourcq and the woods in the neighborhood of Froyenne. Our troops are now within less than a mile from the town.

German Resistance Stiffening.

WITH THE ALLIED ARMIES IN BELGIUM, Oct. 22, (Association Press.)—The general situation in Belgium seems to be that on most of the front the allied armies have reached a period of pause, which is inevitable when rapid advances have been made.

German resistance stiffened appreciably during the night, especially along the Scheldt River.

Fighting is in progress here and there along the allied line north of Valenciennes, for the purpose of straightening out the front and consolidating positions.

On the front of both the Third and Fourth Armies high-velocity guns and other artillery are active. German machine guns on the eastern bank of the Harpies River, which have been causing considerable trouble, have been put out of action. British bombing airplanes at 2 o'clock this morning flew low over the machine-gun positions and obliterated them and their occupants with enormous bombs.

The British have made slight advances in the valley of the Ecaillon River.

The enemy appears to be in strength in the angle south of Valenciennes, formed by the Scheldt and Ecaillon Rivers, probably indicating that he has a defensive line south of the Scheldt on which he is going to attempt to stand for a while.

West of Tournai the British have reached the village of Ourcq. Tournai is rapidly becoming the peak of the salient being driven in toward the Scheldt by the British.

The French have crossed the Lys River at several points between Grammene and Oesselehem, southwest of Ghent, overpowering opposition. They are now firmly established east of the river, while making progress in effecting crossings at other points.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN BELGIUM, Oct. 22, (Reuter.)—Strong French forces attacked this morning on the centre of the allied front in Belgium.

They are reported to be making excellent progress in the direction of Ghent.

BELGIANS TO CELEBRATE.

Deliverance of Half of Land to be Commemorated at Havre.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Deliverance of half of Belgium from the Germans will be celebrated at Havre, Oct. 26 and 27, the anniversary of the first battle of the Yser, under the auspices of the Belgian Government.

An official dispatch to the Belgian Legation today said Belgian refugees at Havre and in the surrounding territory, would be present to give expression to their great joy over the liberation of the seacoast cities.

REMOVING BRUSSELS STORES.

Germans Work Incessantly to Get War Material Out of the City.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 21.—German forces in Brussels are working incessantly to remove war material from that city, according to the Roosendaal correspondent of the Handelblad. He says that many regiments of German troops are leaving the city and that there is much excitement among the people there. On the other hand, Antwerp is very calm and has not been affected by recent events.

The same newspaper's correspondent at Beermond says that hundreds of refugees from Northern France are arriving there. These people, who are of all ages, have been on the road for three weeks. They had only two hours' notice to collect their belongings.

WANTON RUIN IN DOUAI.

Two Sides of the Grand' Place Blown Up—Houses Uninhabitable.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Not one of several hundred houses in Douai inspected by the correspondent of The Daily Mail at British Headquarters is fit a livable condition. Apparently the inhabitants were removed so that the Germans billeted in the town could have a free hand over the houses and their contents.

The south and east side of the Grand' Place, the correspondent adds, were blown to the ground. A number of houses in the southern part of the town were burned apparently out of sheer caprice. The handsome City Hall was stripped of its candelabra and the archives there were thrown about in confusion.

PROMISES TO RELEASE DEPORTED BELGIANS

Will Be Freed When Country Is Evacuated, Baron Lancken Writes Cardinal Mercier.

ROME, Oct. 22.—Baron von der Lancken, Chief of the German Political Department at Brussels, has informed Cardinal Mercier, Primate of Belgium, that when the Germans evacuate that country the deported Belgians and political prisoners will be spontaneously released, according to the Osservatore Romano, the semi-official Vatican organ.

He told Cardinal Mercier, it is said, that a part of the Belgians who were deported would be free to return to their country on Monday.

This notification was in the form of a letter handed to the Cardinal personally by Baron von der Lancken. The text of the letter read as follows:

"You are the incarnation of the eminence of occupied Belgium. You are its venerated and heeded pastor. It is, then, to you that the Governor General and my local Government have charged me to announce that when they vacate your territory they will spontaneously set free deported Belgians and political prisoners. They will be, in part, free to return to their country on Monday.

"This declaration is of a nature that will fill your heart with rejoicing. I am all the happier to make it to you in that I could not have lived four years among the Belgians without esteeming them and without appreciating their patriotism at its true value."

It is understood that this communication has been transmitted to King Albert of Belgium and President Wilson.

An appeal was made to Prince Maximilian, the German Imperial Chancellor, by the Holy See, asking that the Germans refrain from devastating and burning those portions of Belgium through which they are retreating, according to the Osservatore Romano, the semi-official Vatican organ. A reply was received on Oct. 13 giving assurances that categorical instructions had been issued by the German General Staff that localities should be preserved and respected in every way possible.

Later the Papal Nuncio at Munich was informed that Lille and other places within the zone of operations had been spared as far as possible by the German armies.

PARIS SEES PROOF OF GERMAN DECLINE

But Regards Berlin Note Only as a Device to Stave Off Defeat.

REFORM PLEA IS SCOUTED

No Evidence of Sincere Submission to the Allies' Terms, It Is Held.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Lest everybody in America today may be too busy reading the German note to be studying more ancient history it is proper to call attention to a sentence in a book entitled "The State," written by Woodrow Wilson when he was professor of jurisprudence in Princeton. In a chapter on Germany, in the subsection on "The Emperor," the author, after summarizing the powers of the Kaiser, wrote:

"He possesses no slight claim to be regarded as the most powerful ruler of our time."

If in the future years of his retirement President Wilson should choose to revise the book subsection "The Emperor" might be illustrated by a cartoon published in a Paris journal today. The picture shows a rock-bound section of the American coast with the boldest promontory looming up in the outline of the features of Wilson. Approaching the coast through the breakers is a small, shaky boat with the anxious-looking Kaiser at the helm—a figure not at all suggestive of the most powerful ruler of our time." The title of the cartoon is "The New Discovery of America."

So far as French opinion is concerned, the same thing is to be said about the latest Berlin note as about the previous pleas for peace, made by Austria and Germany: It does not get anywhere. It has not changed one iota the military or political situation as Paris sees it. It is much weaker, more submissive, less resentful than was expected here at this stage of the game, and for that reason is accepted as evidence that Germany is in a worse plight than was supposed. But it is submissive only in tone.

It admits that the question of an armistice should be left to military councils, but does not specify allied councils, and immediately nullifies its admission by the demand that the terms of the armistice be based on the standards of the present relative strength of the contending forces. That in itself, opinion here holds, contradicts President Wilson's contention that an armistice must preserve the military advantage of the Allies.

The chief advantage of the Allies at the present moment lies in the fact that Germany is rapidly growing weaker as they gain in strength. That advantage would cease with any fixing of standards of strength.

So much for French opinion of the military phase of the German note.

Its political promises are not taken more seriously. There is nothing in the way of recent so-called reforms that cannot be undone by a nod from the Kaiser. There are no assurances of guarantees fixed by the laws of the German people. Berlin's continued harping on the fact that the Reichstag is a vital factor in the situation is dismissed here with the comment that it is the same old Reichstag that voted all the war credits, approved the Brest-Litvosk and Bucharest treaties—the Socialist members included—and has sanctioned all the acts of the German Government for the last four years.

The whole situation is summed up in this statement: "Germany needs an armistice to save herself for further fighting. The Allies must not submit to any armistice which will make such further fighting possible."

Kaiser's "Moral Abdication."

PARIS, Oct. 22.—The German reply to President Wilson excited much comment in the lobby of the Chamber of Deputies this evening. It was considered on every side as denoting that a spirit of depression and demoralization pervades Germany. Concerning the reference to the conditions of evacuation and an armistice, the note is regarded as willfully equivocal, crafty, and obscure.

The newspapers express the opinion that the note is a moral abdication of the German Emperor. They say that Germany feels the need of peace and is giving way, but that the Government would like to attain peace without accepting just and necessary sacrifices."

Finds Evidence of Anguish.

Le Figaro says that the men who combined to write the reply to President Wilson have "translated the anguish, distress, and powerless anger of the people in whose name they pretend to speak."

"The German note is a typical document," says Le Matin. "In it are expressed the sentiments of a barbarous people who failed in a foray. There is not a word in th enote which reveals that stoical strength of which France and other nations have so often given proof in misfortune. Nevertheless, by a remnant of that lying trickery innate in the Teuton, our adversary seeks still to deceive himself by lulling himself against all evidence, and hopes by one doesn't know what crazy illusion to succeed in deluding Wilson by emphemisms and equivocations."

L'Homme Libre says:

"The German Government is again trying to quibble. Still, while humiliating itself, it does not admit its defeat, but one feels it is at the end of its resistance."

Wants a Military Decision.

Le Temps says:

"Now more than ever the decision must be with the military and naval chiefs of our alliance. To make the French public believe that Germany yields and to insinuate that peace is coming along the pathway of least effort is an outrage to truth and an ill service to the country. There is only one way to spare French blood, and that is to refuse the enemy until he capitulates. A respite in the fighting would give Ludendorff time in which to recover."

The Temps points out that the note contains no word of apology for crimes committed. The note, it says, is composed of two parts. One part, which is short, carries the need of the General Staff for a respite from fighting. The other, which is verbose, answers the need of the German Government for sustaining hope in Germany.

GERMANS NOW PRAY FOR GOD'S PROTECTION

Cardinal Hartmann Invites All Catholics to Rally Around the Emperor.

BASLE, Oct. 22.—Cardinal Hartmann, Archbishop of Cologne, has issued a pastoral letter in which he says dark hours have come for Germany, threatened by an enemy superior in numbers and shaken to the foundations of the State by internal changes. He calls upon his people to offer public prayers.

Deep discontent is spreading everywhere among the German people, the Cardinal writes, and they not only give expression to their state of mind by what they say, but write disheartening letters to the men at the front, impairing their courage and power of resistance. The Cardinal invites all Catholics to rally around the Emperor.

In all Protestant churches of Prussia public prayers have been ordered for the protection of Germany from the misfortunes which threaten her.

CABINET CONFERS ON NOTE

Recent Cases of Sinking Lifeboats Are Cited to Refute Berlin Contention.

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, Oct. 23.—A day's study of the German note has not materially altered the views taken here yesterday and summarized in first impressions as to the essential points given in these dispatches. The Daily Chronicle prints the following from its diplomatic correspondent:

"Entente minds are engaged in an endeavor to pierce behind the veil of the German peace note. Does it denote a state of collapse or merely a new phase of defiance clothed in the cunning of the tracked beast? Both hypotheses are possible and, indeed, not incompatible.

"Exact interpretation of the document in terms of long resistance of arms occupied the War Cabinet in its protracted sittings Monday and yesterday. In the former case an examination of the British position lasted six hours. There is every reliance on the judgment and firmness of President Wilson. At the same time it is reasonable to suppose that the cables have conveyed to Washington the special views of both London and Paris.

"We may be sure that the naval position has been insisted upon by England with due regard to the fact that, underrated and morally subdued, Germany would come to the conference chamber with her army and fleet intact. Notwithstanding the substantial captures of men and material during the last few weeks, these are still formidable instruments of aggression.

"It seems apparent that the British view of the necessity of obtaining possession of the U-boats will be insisted upon as part of the armistice conditions, though the dismantling of the high seas fleet may not seem to be as imperative.

"France is certainly insisting upon the evacuation of her two lost provinces of Alsace and Lorraine as one of the essentials of an armistice.

"Though there is naturally some difference of view on points in three capitals, there is happily every sign of a substantial agreement along the main lines. The vexed question of the freedom of the seas as included in Mr. Wilson's program has been somewhat misunderstood. America's hostility to the right of search and blockade is more assumed than real. Her objection to signing the Paris declaration was that it did not go far enough.

"The military position, also, is not one that provides only a single and inevitable solution. The large amount of territory liberated by the enemy retreat has increased the work of the pursuers in bridging the interval with railways and in bringing up guns and stores. Preparations for a new attack on the new position must be a lengthy process. Meanwhile Foch strikes hard and swiftly and everywhere, and in so doing may produce the necessary effect, especially in view of the enemy shortage of men."

Tell of Sinking Lifeboats.

LONDON, Oct. 22, (Associated Press.)—With reference to the paragraph in the German note denying that the German navy in sinking ships ever purposely destroyed lifeboats with their passengers, it is pointed out in Government circles that many cases could be quoted in reply to this denial. Two recent cases are those of the Llandovery Castle, the Canadian hospital ship sunk in the Atlantic, and the French steamer Lydiana, sunk off the north coast of Spain on July 16.

The Llandovery Castle was torpedoed and sunk off the Irish Coast on the night of June 27, while returning from Halifax with no wounded aboard. The vessel carried 238 persons, including fourteen female nurses, and only twenty-four were saved. The German submarine made no effort to aid the survivors, and even tried to sink at least one of the lifeboats.

After the Lydiana had been torpedoed, two whaleboats and a raft were lowered. The German submarine rammed both boats, cutting them in two. After several fruitless attempts the submarine succeeded in sinking the raft and then disappeared without helping the survivors. Nine men of the crew of forty-two were picked up later, having clung to wreckage for more than a day. The second engineer of the Lydiana reported that the crew of the submarine had laughed at him when he accused them of deliberately trying to kill all on board the steamer.

Note Denounced as Insincere.

The German note is regarded here as "not business, but mere argument and protestation." In Government, diplomatic, and political circles the view is that it is not a reply, but simply a resort to verbiage designed to cover the absence of reply. One highly placed official described it as "badly camouflaged insincerity." The Government has not considered the reply in detail, although Premier Lloyd George and his colleagues have held protracted deliberations.

Frederick George Kelloway, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Munitions, said:

"The note says that evacuation and an armistice must be based on the actual standard of power on both sides in the field. Does that phrase cover relative strength at sea, relative strength in the production of guns, shells, airplanes and materiel? If not, why are they ruled out?

"Only our leaders, Premier Lloyd George, Premier Clemenceau, and President Wilson, on the political side, and Marshal Foch, Field Marshal Haig, and General Pershing, on the military side, can say if the note means that Germany is at last prepared to face the facts and draw the inevitable conclusion. For the rest of us our duty is plain. It is to go on producing munitions or fighting as if it were at the beginning of the war rather than approaching the inevitable end. The way to make an early peace is to be ready for a long war."

Newspapers here almost without exception view the German reply with impatience and distrust. The Graphic says "verbally, the Germans are getting slightly nearer the point of view upon which the Allies mean to insist."

Insists on Full Acceptance.

"A monument of insincerity" is the way The Times characterizes the German reply. It brusquely waives a detailed examination of the note, saying that the only important consideration is whether Germany intends to accept an armistice in accordance with the method defined by President Wilson. The Times continues:

"An armistice is to be had on terms laid down by the military and naval authorities of the associated forces. It is not to be had on the enemy's terms or upon any terms that leave room for subterfuge. * * * In comparison with this main issue the rest of the note is unimportant."

The Express sees a desire "for an armistice based on an elaborate estimate of the rival forces as they are today." This, the newspaper says, is a "disingenuous twist of the Wilson conditions," and continues:

"We dare not consent to a suspension of hostilities unless we can obtain in October the terms we shall dictate before July to an enemy who is broken and beaten to his knees."

The Manchester Guardian says it does not see that this particular controversy can with advantage be carried much further.

"President Wilson," the paper goes on, "insisted from the first that as a preliminary condition to an armistice the German armies must be withdrawn on all fronts within their own frontiers, and this condition has already been accepted by Dr. Solf. The conditions of an armistice, therefore, can only be considered with this as a starting point, and the actual position of the forces in the field cannot be taken as a 'standard.'"

AUSTRALIA WATCHES MOVES.

Hughes to Remain in London While Peace Question Is Up.

MELBOURNE, Oct. 23. (via Montreal.)—William Morris (Hughes), the Australian Premier, has agreed to the request of the Australian Government that he remain in London during the present discussion concerning possible peace in order to look after the interests of Australia. Acting Premier Watt announced last night in a speech at St. Kilda.

It was also hoped, Mr. Watt said, that if peace should come Mr. Hughes would be able to arrange the machinery for the speedy demobilization of the Australian troops.

OPPOSE FIGHTING ON FOR HOHENZOLLERNS

Significant Utterances in German Papers Now Allowed by the Censorship.

"DIVINE RIGHT" VIEW WANES

Press Considers Berlin Reply Satisfactory, but Doesn't Understand It.

GENEVA, Oct. 22.—Peace must not be delayed a single day on account of the Hohenzollerns, if they are an obstacle to it, declares the Volksfreund of Karlsruhe, which also is permitted to speak of the disappearance of the superstitious belief that the Emperor was chosen to rule by divine right.

The Schwabische Tagwacht says that everybody is now convinced that the Allies will not accord Germany a cheap peace, "but if the glory and power of Imperial Germany is the price, the German people are ready to pay."

In permitting such items to leave Germany, the German censorship apparently is preparing public opinion for coming events.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The German press generally considers the reply to President Wilson satisfactory and a good basis for further negotiations despite the fact that most of the papers are not quite sure what the first part of the note means, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen.

Theodor Wolff, in the Berliner Tageblatt, says that great difficulties will be caused if President Wilson or the Allies refuse to negotiate for an armistice as proposed by Germany.

"In Paris, New York, and London there is now talk about military necessity," Herr Wolff continues. "We will not deny that our own politicians spoke with violence in the same strain when they thought that possession of Paris was in sight."

The article concludes:

"Should President Wilson demand the impossible, we must reckon with a continuation of the war."

It is recalled by the correspondent at Berne of The Times that Mathias Erzberger, leader of the German Centrists and a member of the new Government formed to convince the outside world of the peace-loving character of that Government, in a newspaper article written in February, 1915, expressed sentiments quite the contrary to those he is now supposed to entertain. He wrote:

"The greatest ruthlessness is in reality the greatest humanity. If it should be possible to destroy the whole of London that would be more humane than to allow one of our fellow-countrymen to bleed to death on the battlefield, because such a radical cure would lead most speedily to peace.

"England has stolen from us more than 400 merchant ships. The answer to this should be that for every German merchantman one English town or village will be destroyed by our airmen."

The German newspapers are laying great stress on the supposed attitude of Herr Erzberger on the peace question. They refer at length to his plan for a League of Nations.

VIENNA TO WRITE AGAIN.

Austria Wants Wilson to State the Way for Opening Negotiations.

BERNE, Oct. 22.—The Austrian propaganda service sends the following announcement from Vienna:

"The Austro-Hungarian Government will reply very soon to President Wilson's note, more so as the President has not replied to the question concerning conditions on which peace negotiations are possible."

BELGIUM DEMANDS REPARATION BY FOE

Firmly Upholds King Albert's Terms, Which Include Independence and Guarantees.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The Belgian Legation today issued a statement through the medium of the Belgian Official Information Service, in which it was declared that reparation and liberty were Belgium's only peace terms, coupled with the necessity of guarantees against future aggressions.

"Belgium's terms of peace are simple," said the statement. "They can be stated in a single sentence. Our country demands only what the whole world has agreed she has the right to expect. That cannot better be stated than in the words of King Albert in his reply to the Pope's peace message this year. Belgium's terms now are the same as they were then. Here are the King's words:

If there is a country that has the right to say that she took up arms to defend her existence, such assuredly is Belgium. She desires passionately that an end be brought to the unheard of sufferings of her population, but she would accept only a peace that would assure her at the same time suitable reparation and security and guarantees for the future.

The integrity of Belgium, the territory of the mother country and colonies; political, economic and military independence without condition or restriction; reparation for damage suffered and guarantees against a renewal of the aggression of 1914—such remain the indispensable conditions of a just peace so far as concerns Belgium. Any settlement that would not recognize them would shake the very foundations of justice, since it would forever more be established that in international domains the violations of right created a claim for its author and might become a source of profit.

"The only remaining question is that of the sufficiency of Germany's guarantees against further aggression. In this connection emphasis is laid on the language of the King's reply, referring to political, economic, and military independence without condition or restriction, which precludes the possibility of Belgium again submitting to a neutralized status."

Leaders of Nationalities Declare Firm Opposition to Federalization Program.

ZURICH, Oct. 22.—Opinions of the leaders of the Austrian political parties on the Emperor's manifesto concerning governmental decentralization are published in the Neue Freie Presse of Vienna. All are dissatisfied with it.

The Rumanian leader, Tesperer Apcul, says that the manifesto is absolutely unsatisfactory, for the question of the Rumanians in Hungary is not touched by it. The Rumanian National Council will have to interfere energetically to obtain a union of Austrian and Hungarian Rumanians.

Dr. Petrusewicz, the Ukrainian, says that the manifesto comes too late and has not made a good impression on the Czechs and Southern Slavs, and that it will not satisfy the Ukrainians, who have no confidence in Imperial promises.

Deputy Tresic Pavicic, the Jugoslav leader, declares that the manifesto did not have the approval of the Southern Slavs, who reject it completely. He says will not admit that the country of the Southern Slavs should be shared between Austria and Hungary. It is not left out of view that later Hungary might fight against Austria. In that case the Jugoslavs would be forced to fight against Jugoslavs. They now demand a union now, the Deputy says, of all Jugoslav countries in an independent state.

The Arbeiter Zeitung of Vienna and Socialist and middle class journals of Germany and Austria all reject or severely criticise the manifesto as no more than a method of carrying out President Wilson "decree" and following no creative policy.

REPLY TO BERLIN DELAYED

tary situation to be dealt with as a military problem involving the demand of the President that evacuation of invaded territory must precede any armistice.

WAR COUNCIL TO GUIDE HIM.

President Believed to be Sounding Allies on Reply to Germany.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22, (Associated Press.)—The prevailing belief here tonight is that any action President Wilson may take as a result of the new German note will await and largely be guided by a decision of the Supreme War Council in France.

Shrewd diplomatic observers and some officials take this view, though no intimation of his own attitude has come from the President, because admittedly the one question immediately at issue is a military problem—that of the evacuation of invaded territory by the German armies as the only condition upon which the plea for an armistice even will be given consideration.

The Germans now are evacuating Belgium and Northern France as rapidly as they can move before the sweep of the allied and American soldiers and still maintain their organization. Since the Government at Berlin says they want to get out without further fighting, apparently the issue is one for the Allied War Council to determine—whether it shall be suggested through President Wilson that General Foch be applied to for terms, or whether without further diplomatic parley the approach of a white flag from the German lines shall be awaited.

The official text of the German note reached the Swiss Legation here by cable early today, but it was not delivered at the State Department, because the entire day was spent at the Legation on the serious task of decoding the document and preparing an English translation of the German text. The translation was made with the greatest care by Frederick Oederlin, the Swiss Chargé, because there are obscure phrases in the unofficial version received yesterday by wireless which may be cleared up by a more accurate rendering of the German. When the Chargé's work was done Secretary Lansing had left his office, and an engagement was made for delivery of the note at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

This incident in itself was pointed to later as evidence that exchanges between London, Paris and Washington have been proceeding since the arrival of the wireless version, and that, pending word from the War Council of what the military situation demands, the President is in no hurry to know the exact verbal differences between the official and unofficial texts. There also were reports that any action might wait upon a diplomatic conference about to convene in one of the allied capitals, but these found no official confirmation.

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS SEE NOTE AS SHAM

Clumsy Attempt to Entrap Us, Says Lodge—New Calls It Dangerous—Other Views.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. — Senators and Representatives interviewed today for THE NEW YORK TIMES were, like those interviewed yesterday, of the opinion that President Wilson would find it impossible to accept the latest German peace note as a basis for the cessation of hostilities.

Senator Lodge, ranking Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said:

"It seems to me unbelievable that any one should be taken in by the last German note. It is varnished over with a little false flattery, directed to the President and the people of the United States, which can deceive no one. In other respects, it is a clumsy trap, awkwardly set, to involve us in diplomatic discussions—of all things to be avoided at this moment. It will not bear the slightest analysis.

"They desire to discuss details. What they call details are the vital issues of the war. No attention need be given to their denial of illegal and inhumane actions. Only a day or two ago they took 15,000 women and girls out of Lille, when they abandoned that city. Is that a military act, in accordance with international law? They wish to refer the destruction of our women and children on the Lusitania to a neutral commission. The American people do not intend to have the decision of any commission on such a question as that. The American people have not forgotten the direction of the German Minister at Buenos Aires to 'sink and leave no trace.'

"Of reparation—and it must be very large—there is not a word.

"Of course, all they say about changing their Government is pure camouflage. There has been no election in Germany. It is the same old Reichstag, governed by the same forces and interests. They are merely frightened and trying to deceive the American people—trying to gain by negotiation what they have lost in the field.

"The President's reply to the Austrian note was complete, and is universally approved. I do not think there should be any reply to this German note, but if there is, let it be simply that we demand the same terms which the Allies forced upon Bulgaria—an unconditional surrender. 'Unconditional surrender' is easily said and will be understood by all the world.

"There is something repulsive in having the invaders of Belgium and the makers of the villainous peace which they forced on Russia and Rumania talking about justice and honor."

Worse Than Madness to Accept.

Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri said:

"Germany simply proposes that the Allies shall permit her to withdraw her troops, her artillery, and her supplies, and re-form them on a line to be selected by her. To adopt this request would be worse than madness. The thing to do is to follow Germany night and day and beat her armies to pieces, and compel her to surrender while we have her at a disadvantage.

"The pretense that Germany has changed her Government by a grant of additional powers to the people, graciously conferred by the Kaiser, is laughable. Likewise, the pretense of autonomy for Hungary is equally absurd. No one but the veriest fool will be deceived for a moment. As soon as they are relieved from their difficulties, Austria and Hungary will reproduce the performance of the joint snake which, being struck separates into a number of pieces, but as soon as its antagonist is gone the various pieces come together again and crawl off. It is the same old snake."

Senator New, Republican, Indiana, said:

"The German note is ambiguous and disingenuous. Why continue diplomatic exchanges? Why have inaugurated such dealing at all at this time? The people of the United States, at least, are not in a frame of mind to propose such terms as Germany would now accept, and Germany should be made to know that nothing is to be gained by diplomatic trafficking. Foch, Pershing, Haig, and Diaz are the diplomats to represent us in all negotiations, for the present, at any rate."

Senator Kendrick, Democrat, of Wyoming said:

"The German note does not, in my judgment, begin to meet the conditions laid down by President Wilson. It is clearly the effort of a beaten Government to play for time. If Germany really wants peace she should address herself of the commanders of our allied armies on the western front, at the same time offering absolute guarantees that arbitrary power has been eliminated."

German Government Breaking Up.

Senator Pittman, Democrat, of Nevada, said:

"The German Government has failed to comply with the ultimatum of the President, but to me the most interesting phase of the German note is the conclusive evidence of the breaking up of the German Government.

Senator Curtis, Republican, of Kansas, said:

"The German reply is evasive and misstates the facts. The safest and best answer to the German Government is that there must be an unconditional surrender of all their troops and all their munitions establishments to the armies of the Allies before any negotiations for peace shall be undertaken. The more notes and the more discussion, the more division of sentiment among our people, and this ought not to be permitted."

Disapproves President's Course.

Senator Brandegee, Republican, of Connecticut, said:

"I regret exceedingly that the President allowed himself to be drawn into the correspondence which he is conducting with Germany. I do not consider as of great importance what Germany says under her present stress. If she wants peace, all she has to do is to stop fighting. America's only condition should be Germany's unconditional surrender.

"If Germany has set up a new government, and that new government declines to surrender its army and navy, I favor continuing the war against that new government. There will be no change of heart in Germany so long as its army is able to keep the field. If Germany is allowed to take its army back into Germany and keep its navy, and then peace is made, Germany will boast that she is invincible. She will say that she was able to fight the world in arms for four years without being whipped, and that in all that time no foe had ever set foot upon her soil.

"The President may lay down as many conditions as he pleases, and the astute jugglers of Berlin will probably accept them all—on paper. The only condition they will not as yet accept is the only one which will satisfy America and the Allies, and that condition the President has hitherto refrained from imposing, to wit, 'unconditional surrender.'"

The President has been advised that it would be dangerous to continue note exchanges with Germany so long as Germany sends notes between the lines of which may be read an effort for terms and for driving a wedge into allied unity.

There is a disposition in some quarters to fear that the President, through a continuation of note exchanges, may tempt his prowess as a diplomatic fencer too far.

The point was stressed today that nothing has taken place apropos of the heralded "reforms" in the German Government, to give convincing proof that the control of the Kaiser and his military advisers has been weakened or that there is any guarantee that the military masters of Germany may not override the words of Germany's present civilian statesmen.

Apropos of the German statement that orders had been sent to commanders of German submarines not to sink passenger steamers, it was pointed out today in an official quarter that this promise amounted to almost nothing at this stage of the war. The high seas are virtually free of passenger steamers. Practically all steamships within striking radius of German submarines are war cargo carriers and transports.

OUR ARMY ENGAGING 34 ENEMY DIVISIONS

Germans Draw from All Parts of Front to Hold the Line North of Verdun.

CONTEST GAINS BITTERLY

Americans Succeeding in Task Not to be Measured by the Territory They Capture.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 22.—While the attention of the world has been centred in the glorious victories of the French, British, and Belgian armies in the north, where the Germans have been driven back so many miles, the world must not forget the large degree in which that advance has been facilitated by the fact that to the Champagne and Meuse front has been drawn one-fourth of the German military strength to meet the French Fourth Army and the American First Army, whose rush threatens the whole enemy army.

The success of the American operation north of Verdun is not to be measured in kilometers gained, but in its effect on the whole situation. Since General Pershing's men launched their first attack, in the mist of the morning of Sept. 26, they have fought and put out some twenty German divisions, among which are some of the best in the German Army, such as three of the five Guard divisions and the 28th, known as the Kaiser's Own. In front of us now there are some eighteen more divisions, and others are being brought up day by day to confront us.

On the front of the First American Army the last four weeks have seen some of the fiercest fighting of the whole war, where the best soldiers the Kaiser has are fighting youthful Americans under orders to hold at all costs the line which protects the Luxemburg gateway, the most important artery of the German Army. Captured German officers explain: "We have just got to hold north of Verdun." A captured order of a German General says the fate of the Fatherland may hang on the fight north of Verdun. If the Mézières-Luxemburg railroad system is reached or put under easy gunfire, all communication for the German front from in front of Laon to the Meuse falls.

Taking of Argonne Forest.

In the battle we have advanced generally from fifteen to eighteen kilometers, breaking through the Hindenburg line and taking the Argonne Forest. The taking of the Argonne positions will go down in history as one of the big accomplishments of the war. It is not easy to tell the story of our fight. One reads in communiqués of stubborn resistance, of bitter and heavy counterattacks, and of continued artillery fire. But those terms have become so trite and worn from overuse that they fail to convey to the imagination real meanings.

The enemy's main resistance has been confined to the holding of the line. He has made counterattacks from time to time, but generally apparently for the purpose of frustrating our attack plans, and not to regain lost terrain. In fact, captured orders tell the Germans to make counterattacks only when success seems assured, but, on the other hand, to yield no foot of territory which can possibly be held. And so the German command has placed a large concentration of artillery against us and innumerable machine guns. Therefore the fighting resolves itself into the grueling job of reducing machine-gun nests, and the progress of the battle has become the unsensational affair to which the machine gun has reduced so much modern warfare.

Machine Gun to Every Yard.

One must bear in mind that the machine gun is the prime weapon for defense. This means that a certain number of men on defense, with machine guns well placed, as the Germans know how to place them, can hold back a much larger number of men who are equally good fighters. To attack these machine-gun nests, or rows of them, frontally is too expensive to be generally done. They must be reduced by manoeuvring, flanking, and surrounding. When one realizes that on some parts of our front these venomous little weapons are placed one to a yard, one realizes what a severe task our soldiers have.

That the defense of their line is expensive to the Germans is proved by the replacement of twenty divisions in less than four weeks because they had been so cut up that not enough was left to function, or else so worn out that they could not stand the pressure by Pershing's men. Nearly every day brings identification of new German divisions brought from other parts of the line. We have met troops brought from Flanders, from Cambrai, St. Quentin, and, in fact, from all parts of the German front. The German lines are held in undiminished numbers in front of the American First Army, the German command taking chances elsewhere in order to try to make sure that the Americans do not break through north of Verdun.

A glance at the order of battle map shows that the concentration of divisions in front of us is so heavy that there is scarcely room to write their numbers. Only one other part of the whole front is so heavily held, and that is the Cambrai-St. Quentin sector.

In a word, the task being performed by the American First Army is part of the general battle scheme. It is the hardest, bitterest, and least sensational task of the whole battle, but some army has to do it, and Pershing gladly accepted the commission, knowing that it would be no such picnic as the reduction of the St. Mihiel salient. That the German command could make such resistance, which may be called stronger than some expected, only reflects the more credit on the American First Army for the progress that has been made and the large proportion of German available strength used up.

Foe Used 34 Divisions.

I believe that fully one-fifth of the rifle strength of the whole German Army has been thrown against the American First Army in the last week. There were four divisions in front of us just before the attack. These have been reinforced by fully thirty more, which unquestionably Ludendorff could have used to advantage elsewhere had it not been for the American attack.

From this statement of facts it is hoped that those who may have doubted, because our advance is not to measured by the same kilometer scale as is the advance in the north, will realize that we have achieved and are achieving good success. The battle is a strain upon our strength; it is likewise a strain upon the German strength. We have more strength to expend than the Germans have. Both sides are throwing thousands after thousands into the mill that grinds north of Verdun, but America's strength will have thousands to throw in when the Germans have no more thousands to throw in should the fortunes of war keep the mill grinding.

If one of the purposes of allied effort is to destroy the German military machine, then the American First Army is doing a big job.

AMERICANS DESTROY TWO GERMAN PLANES

Artillery Fires by Both Sides on Our Front—Two Towns Reported in Flames.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Oct. 22, (Associated Press.)—The clear weather early this morning permitted of some aerial work, and the Americans downed a Hanover biplane at Bayonville, a Rumpler at Buzancy, and a balloon in the vicinity of Tailly.

Aside from the normal harassing artillery fire of the enemy on the front lines and the rear areas, and similar activity on the part of the Americans, the day passed without incident. There was no infantry action of importance and the line remains as it was last night.

The towns of Brieulles and Clery-le-Petit, along the western bank of the Meuse and north of the American line, were reported to be burning today.

Two explosions occurred in dugouts in Chatel Chehery today from mines left behind by the Germans when they were driven out of the town two weeks ago.

Prisoners captured yesterday were from all divisions known to be opposite the American lines. The 28th German, or "Flying Shock Division," apparently is no longer being used against the Americans on this sector.

GERMAN FLIERS RAID AMERICAN HOSPITAL

Drop Bombs Around Buildings Near Rarecourt in Retaliation for Our Air Foray.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Oct. 22, (Associated Press.)—In retaliation for the destruction wrought by American bombing planes within the enemy's lines recently, German aviators last night raided the American front and back areas in the largest force since the American offensive began on the Meuse and in the Argonne. In addition to attacking the infantry, the Germans bombed the region around Clermont, Montfaucon, and Rarecourt.

Four bombs were dropped near the American hospital in the neighborhood of Rarecourt, one of the bombs tearing down an outbuilding. The glass ends of four former French barracks, now used by the Americans as hospital wards, were shattered.

A Red Cross nurse, Margery Sawyer, of Buffalo, N. Y., was blown from her bed, but was not injured. All the patients were taken to dugouts, none of them being injured. Another Red Cross nurse, Mabel Butler, of New Haven, Conn., was in the same building with Miss Sawyer, but was not hurt. Both of them immediately went to the aid of the patients.

When the first bomb fell the hospital attendants gave their first attention to their charges, leading or carrying them to shelter. Rocks thrown up where this bomb struck broke the windows in the southern end of the building. Ten other bombs were planted in succession in a great semi-circle. Throughout most of the night German planes were heard many times passing over.

Fifteen American night fliers responded to alert signals when the Germans raided the front and back areas Monday night and searched for the enemy air men up and down the lines. One American saw the tracer bullets of a German firing his machine gun at a supposed troop movement, but he was unable to engage the enemy raiders.

OUR LOSSES BIG, BERLIN SAYS.

Reports Repulses of Attacks Near Sommerance and Bantheville.

BERLIN, Oct. 22, (via London.)—American attacks Monday north of Sommerance and on a wide front on both sides of Bantheville broke down, according to the day official statement from German General Headquarters.

There were infantry engagements along the Lys and Scheldt Rivers. East of Courtrai the Germans repulsed attacks. The statement reads:

There were infantry engagements on the Lys and on the Scheldt. The enemy several times endeavored to cross the rivers with small strong detachments. Northeast of Courtrai he advanced against our lines with tanks, and southeast of Courtrai with strong forces. He was repulsed everywhere with great loss. In this fighting Sergeant Mueller destroyed six enemy tanks.

The British have placed machine guns in the tower of the church at St. Amand, which had been spared by us. On both sides of Solesmes and Le Cateau there were renewed enemy attacks. As the result of nocturnal engagements the farm of Amerval remained in his hands.

French attacks in the forenoon north of the Serre and in the afternoon on a wide front between the Oise and the Serre were repulsed. Northwest of Mesbrecourt-Richecourt Silesian troops carried out a successful counterattack.

On the Aisne heights east of Vouziers violent fighting continues. We recaptured by successful counterattacks the heights east of Vandy, and between Ballay and Chestres and north of Falaise and held them against strong enemy counterattacks. East of Olizy a partial enemy attack, broke down.

After violent artillery preparation the Americans attacked north of Sommerance and on a wide front on both sides of Bantheville. The enemy attacks broke down under our fire, and as a result of our counterattack. The Americans again suffered heavy losses, especially under the fire of our machine guns and infantry rifles.

Tonight's official statement from General Headquarters says:

Strong attacks in Flanders southwest of Deynze and east of Courtrai resulted in a limited gain of territory by the enemy.

On the eastern bank of the Aisne, on both sides of Vouziers and east of Aire violent French attacks failed.

FRENCH TROOPS EXTEND LINES NORTH OF LAON

Capture Two Villages on Serre Front—Czechoslovaks Retake a Champagne Town.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—French troops have captured Chalandry and Grandlup, north of Laon, according to the War Office announcements issued tonight. Farther west, in last night's fighting, they reached the railway northeast of Assis-sur-Serre.

The Czechoslovak forces fighting with the French recaptured the village of Terron [north of Vouziers, in eastern Champagne,] which had temporarily fallen into the hands of the enemy.

The text of the night bulletin follows:

On the Serre front we again forced the enemy to retreat, notwithstanding an obstinate defense by his machine guns. We took Chalandry and Grandlup. Our line runs along the Serre as far as Mortiers, passes through the outskirts of Froidmontooh Artillie, and follows, further south, the line of the Canal de Buze.

This morning the Germans twice renewed their attacks east of Vouziers, but were everywhere repulsed. Czechoslovak troops, engaged in liaison with our forces, recaptured the village of Terron, (north of Vouziers,) which had temporarily fallen into the enemy's hands.

In Alsace a strong enemy attachment attempted on three different occasions to reach one of our centres of resistance north of Thann, but was driven back.

On Oct. 21, along the west front and in Flanders, our observation squadrons carried out important work of reconnoissance and surveillance behind the enemy front. Two enemy planes were brought down, and a balloon was burned. During the early part of the night our bombing planes dropped 18,800 kilos of projectiles on important railway junctions, and, in particular, on the stations at Longuyon, Stenay, Hirson, Vervins, Marle, Montcornet, Rozoy-sur-Serre, Previsy-sur-Serre, and Liart. They noted a great number of hits on their objectives, following which fires broke out in the stations at Longuyon, Hirson, and Rozoy.

Following is the text of the day statement:

North of the Oise the night was characterized by great activity on the part of the German artillery.

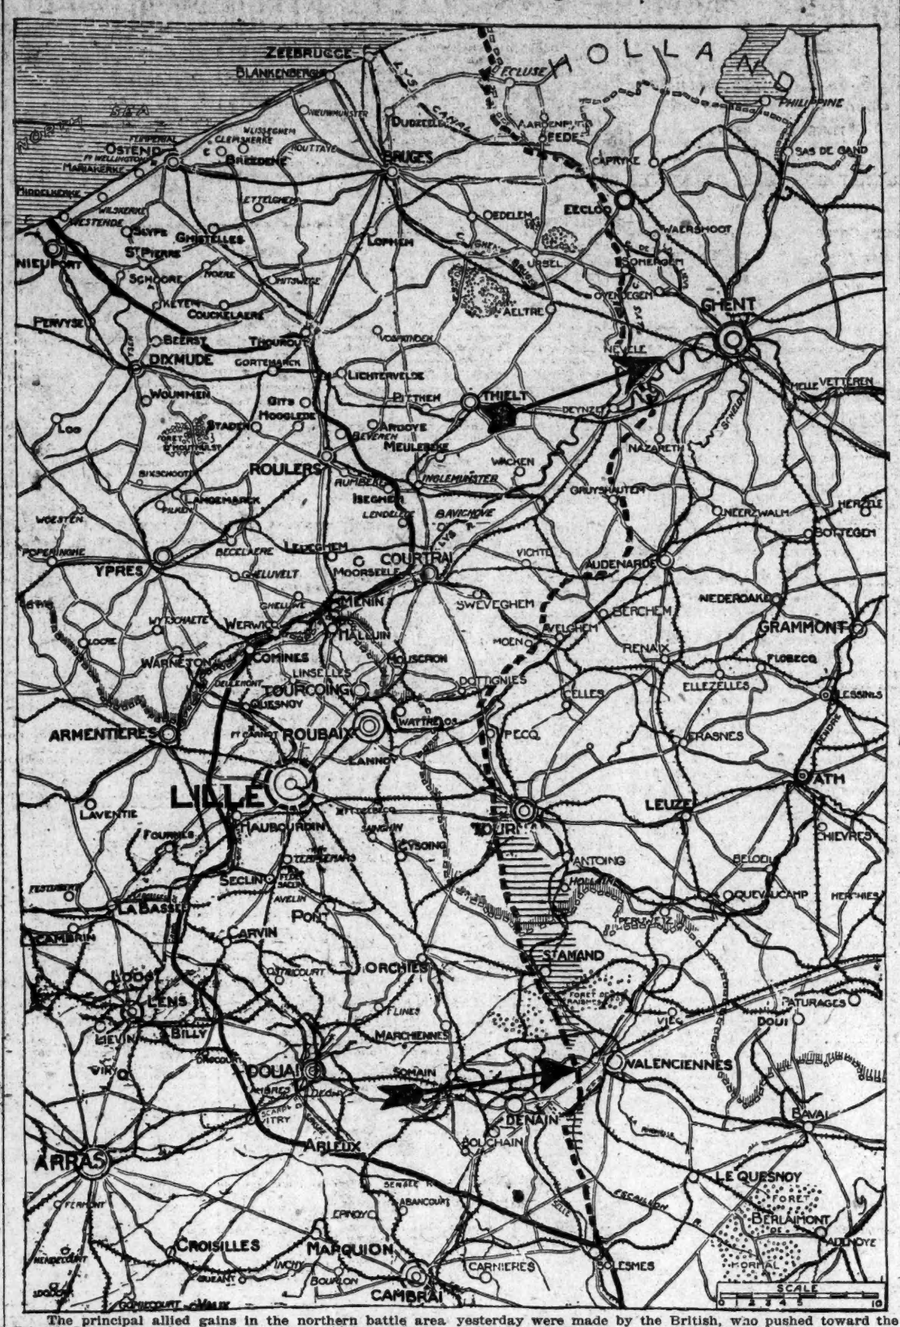
On the Serre front the French made further progress. They reached the railway northeast of Assis-sur-Serre and the St. Jacques Farm, northwest of Chalandry. West of Château Porcoin there was active artillery fighting.

On the plateaux east of Vouziers the battle diminished in intensity last night. It is confirmed that the attacks made yesterday by the Germans were very violent. We have identified elements belonging to sixteen divisions.

This morning a German attack against La Pardonne Farm was repulsed completely.

In the Vosges French patrols took prisoners in the region of Col Bonhomme.

Where the Germans Are Being Pushed Back



The principal allied gains in the northern battle area yesterday were made by the British, who pushed toward the Scheldt River on a front of about twenty-five miles, from northwest of Tournai to southwest of Valenciennes, penetrating the western suburbs of the latter. The ground won in this advance is shown by horizontal shading.

From the region south of Deynze the French started a new drive toward Ghent, which is reported to have made progress to a depth of nearly two miles on a front of two and one-half miles.

This last mentioned movement and the British thrust at Valenciennes are indicated by arrows.

ers approaching in the distance, began to surrender when Adler's men approached, while others fled. With four machine guns, Company H, or what was left of it, got in effective work; and when the Germans were cleared off the hill, they began to count their prisoners. One hundred and ninety-two more had been taken on the hill.

The less than half a hundred Americans held the position unmolested, except for artillery fire during the afternoon. On the night of Oct. 12 other American units went up on either side and consolidated the positions.

Next morning the Germans made a counterattack in force. The small number of Americans holding the trench on the crest of the hill were forced to fall back into the village.

Captain Adler sent three runners by separate routes for reinforcements, and set about holding the Germans until aid arrived. From a German officer taken on the day before he had borrowed a heavy Leuger pistol. He was carrying his own ammunition and automatic as well. With eight of his men he engaged in a close-range fight with the Germans who had filtered into the northern end of the village.

Captain Killed German Major.

Rounding a corner, Captain Adler ran into two German Majors leading a counterattack. His automatic was empty. Drawing his Leuger pistol, he shot one of the Majors dead and wounded the other. Seeing their leaders gone, the German driving force weakened, and the little company was doing well on its own account when ample reinforcements arrived and again occupied the trench on the crest of Hill 182.

Captain Adler came through unhurt. He is now Acting Major commanding the 1st Battalion of the 306th Regiment. The 77th Division is composed of New York men.

Captain Adler is of the executive staff of THE NEW YORK TIMES. He is a graduate of Princeton and received his commission at the first officers' training camp at Plattsburg was senior instructor of the third officers' training camp at Upton, and was assigned to Company H when it was sent abroad last April. He is the son of H. C. Adler, the manager of the Chattanooga Times, now at Washington as assistant to General Crowder, Provost Marshal General.

PRUSSIAN POLES DEFIANT.

City Councilor of Posen Refers to His "Countrymen" of Warsaw.

BERNE, Oct. 22.—The German authorities have under consideration vigorous measures for the suppression of Polish propaganda in the Polish provinces of Prussia. Some light is thrown on the state of affairs there by a violent scene in the Municipal Council of Posen.

The demand was made by Councilor Lewandowsky that a Pole be appointed to a municipal office. The Councilor made a speech in which he expressed complete sympathy for his "countrymen" of Warsaw.

"Long live Poland!" the Councilor exclaimed. "Poland is not yet lost."

The speaker was reprimanded in the sharpest language by the President of the Council.

TANKS DEPRIVING FOE OF CHANCE TO DIG IN

Germans Must Retire to Scheldt or Meuse Line If They Remain in Belgium.

Copyright, 1918, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—So far as Belgium is concerned, the Germans now have only two chances of retaining their hold on any part of the country. They may be able, as experts here see the situation, to organize a line of resistance for a time on the Scheldt, which runs from Valenciennes through Tournai, with a huge bend east of Ghent to Antwerp, or which is much more likely—they may fall right back to the Meuse.

The advent of the tank has rendered it impossible for the Germans to organize any fresh line of defense in a country like Belgium, except on its rivers; and the Scheldt and the Meuse are the only two which count. All possibility of digging in and throwing up anything like adequate defenses to hold back the pursuit of the enemy has been blown to the winds in modern warfare by the development of the tank, which can nullify any kind of hand-made obstacles and against which nothing is or service except mountains and rivers, which are either nonexistent or usually rare in Belgium.

The line of the Scheldt is already almost impossible through the Belgian advance toward Ghent and the British thrust at Valenciennes. Indications are becoming clear that the Meuse by the end of the present month will form the new German line, although it is expected here that the enemy will be able to maintain himself for some time longer in the Ardennes massif, which really forms a huge outlying bastion on the left of his probable Meuse line.

There, and particularly in the Ardennes, he may very probably be able to hold out all Winter, according to opinion here, as he will have shortened his front by nearly 300 miles.

If the enemy can do this, he will have time to organize more or less satisfactorily the defenses of his own frontiers, in readiness for the time, which is certainly approaching, when he will be compelled through sheer weight of overwhelming numbers to fall back into his own territory.

LOOK FOR NEW BLOW AT GERMAN FRONT

Army Officials in Washington Think the Time Is Ripe for Another Stroke by Foch.

ALLIED LINE IS SHORTENED

This, It Is Believed, Releases Forces Which Could Back Up an Attack by Pershing.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Now that the Germans have been cleared out of Belgian Flanders and much of Northern France, army officials here are watching the battlefront intently, many of them with a distinct feeling that a new storm of attack may be about to break against the enemy. There was nothing tonight to indicate that this expectancy was founded upon definite information, and it probably grows out of a number of happenings of a minor character in themselves, but possibly important links in the chain of events soon to be disclosed.

Beyond doubt the German retirement in Belgium has slowed down. However, it is not yet clear whether this is due to the fact that the retreating forces are nearing on the whole northern front the line which frequently has been selected by military critics as the first pausing place on the way to the Meuse or the German border or to the necessity of extending communication lines as the troops advance. It is probable, officers say, that there is a necessity for a breathing spell on both sides.

There is little doubt here that the German Army is headed for nothing short of the Meuse line, and that any pause will be only temporary, to permit readjustment of the columns and supply lines in order that the same orderly sequence of movements shall characterize subsequent retirements. Several halts of this character may be expected, it is said, as the withdrawal project is carried out. The fact that the allied armies are hampered by extending communication lines gives opportunity for such halts before Marshal Foch's forces can come up in sufficient force to compel a resumption of the rearward movement.

The line surrendered by the enemy from Lille northward to the coast, it is pointed out, was far stronger and no longer than that he now stands upon in Belgium. In addition, by the evacuation of the Flanders coast he has furnished the Allies with means of establishing new and more direct communication lines from England via Ostend, Zeebrugge or other Flanders ports. Without question, it is said, these avenues supplying the advancing armies are already being opened to free the longer lines back into France of that burden, and consequently officers cannot see any tactical advantage gained by the enemy unless he intends to fall back at least to the line of the Meuse.

The first stage of the great retreat is almost complete. The German right flank has been swung back like a gate all the way from Solesmes, south of Valenciennes, to the Dutch border. South of the pivot, however, there has been little change on the front from the Oise to the Meuse. It has been noted that heavy concentration of forces was made by the Germans on the Le Cateau-Oise-Serre front, and also against the American pressure northwest of Verdun. Without question the retention of these lines unbroken was vital to the German plan of action. Now that the withdrawal in the north has developed so fully, however, it would cause no surprise here if a retirement between the Oise and Serre were undertaken without delay, to rectify the whole line.

To many officers it seems possible that events have so shaped the lines that a great drive may soon be undertaken, calculated to upset the whole German plan of retirement. Already the allied lines have been shortened so that considerable forces must be available for the work, particularly British. The time cannot be far away, also, when the American Second Army, under Major General Bullard, will be put into play.

SWORD FOR KING ALBERT.

Gem-Studded Trophy Awaits the Monarch's Entry Into Brussels.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—During the early days of the German occupation of Brussels in 1914 a project was formed to present to King Albert a sword of honor upon his return to the city. The model was made, and the artist who designed it carried it through the barrier into Holland, and from there to Paris.

The sword has been made here. The hilt is of gold and platinum, set with precious stones. It represents the Belgian lion overcoming the Teuton eagle. It will be sent to Brussels, and will be there in time for the King's entry to the city. The names of the Brussels committee in charge of the project will be kept secret until the Germans have retired from the country.

The Renaissance

The whole world at war cannot simply mean White Books, mobilization, tanks, aeroplanes, shipbuilding, Pershing, Unter den Linden, victory, and the soft sweet notes of peace with conditions as of yore.

The world will be better, but it will be different.

Think what economic changes will be manifest in this country! 5,000,000 women added to gainful pursuits. 5,000,000 men demobilized from an army that has taught them discipline, sanitation, the three "R's," and more than all else, inspiration.

Prohibition releasing $2,500,000,000 annual booze money.

The example of France for better architecture, better roads, better gardens, orchards—in short, better living for our 23,500,000 families.

And think of the increased power of the printed word!

The greatest nation in the world will go to market, will select first from those lines whose trade-marks have their confidence, their esteem, and their friendship.

Are you preparing during war for peace to follow?

BRITISH CASUALTIES RISE.

37,150 for Week Ended Monday—35,710 for Previous Week.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—British casualties reported for the week ending today numbered 37,150, compared to 35,710 for the previous week. They are divided as follows:

Killed or died of wounds—Officers, 517; men, 4,971.

Wounded or missing—Officers, 1,464; men, 30,198.

TANKS LESSEN CASUALTIES.

Battalion of 36 Saves at Least 1,000 Every Day It Is in Action.

LONDON, Oct. 14, (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Thirty-six tanks—one battalion—save at least 1,000 casualties every day they are in action.

The British war expert who made this statement while discussing the present allied offensive continued:

"We have used in the fighting to date only a fraction of the men the enemy has been accustomed to employ for similar offensives, and we have made up the difference largely with tanks. Since the ultimate victory will fall to the side with the biggest reserves, the more tanks we have the more assured our victory. Tank makers are as much in this fight as their brothers in France.

"Similarly, the more numerous the tanks the less risk of their being knocked out. A German anti-tank gunner can deal with one or two perhaps, but he is overwhelmed with dozens.

"It has been commonly thought that a direct hit by a shell means destruction. Not always. A fortnight ago a tank received seven direct hits from a German 'seventy-seven' gun, but the tank finished its job and trundled back to its lines.

"Another in the Cambrai region went over a rise directly in front of a German howitzer. The howitzer fired from fifty yards away, and a shell tore off part of the tank's side. But the tank went on, driving right over the howitzer and putting it out of action."

Recently Major Gen. Seely, Deputy Minister of Munitions, said:

"I speak the literal truth when I say that I, and hundreds of others it has been my privilege to lead, would be dead now but for the tanks. They probably saved Amiens. They certainly saved us."

FLED FROM BELGIAN BASES.

All German Craft Escaped to Home Ports—Used Dutch Waters.

LONDON, Monday, Oct. 21.—Speaking in the House of Commons today, James Thomas MacNamara, Financial Secretary of the Admiralty, said there was good reason to believe that all German destroyers and torpedo boats which had their bases at Ostend and Zeebrugge had escaped to German ports.

Every possible step was taken to intercept them, he said, but he added that seeing that passage could be made at night and that Dutch territorial water could be used, there was no certainty that the measures taken would be efficacious.

The largest single call suspended was for 140,000 men who were to have entrained on Oct. 14.

SAKS TAILORED CLOTHES OF CUSTOM QUALITY

THERE is no Clothing in New York that suffers from a lack of self-imposed praise. How unfortunate it is that a fine garment cannot be made by the mere stroke of the pen!

The point we make with regard to this self-imposed praise is that in almost every case the store is not certain as to what it is praising. It is vouching for the character of another because it sells clothes neither made in its own shops nor made under its supervision.

Every Saks Garment is Saks-made. For that reason we can make statements over our own name that are based on fact, not on mere belief.

HAIG'S ARMY FACED TWICE ITS NUMBER

Field Marshal Reports that He Had Only 29 Infantry Divisions on March 21.

ONLY 19 OF THESE IN LINE

Germans Employed 64 Divisions in Drive—Gough Hadn't Enough Men to Hold the Line.

LONDON, Oct. 21, (via Montreal.)—An official report from Field Marshal Haig, dated July 20, covering the operations since the first week of December last, has been published. Its chief interest lies in the Field Marshal's account of the German offensive of March 21.

He begins by emphasizing that the difficulities created by the transition from an offensive to a defensive policy, necessitated by the collapse of Russia, were accentuated by the reorganization of the British divisions from a thirteen-battalion to a ten-battalion basis and by the extension of the British front to Paris. Meanwhile the large reserves which the enemy was able to create by transferring numerous divisions from the eastern front enabled him to carry out extensive training with units completed to establishment.

All together, at least sixty-four German divisions participated in the operations of March 21, a number considerably exceeding the total forces composing the entire British Army in France. The total British force on the original battlefront on the morning of March 21 was twenty-nine infantry divisions and three cavalry divisions, of which nineteen infantry divisions were in line.

The Germans, however, failed to divide the British and French armies, as they hoped to do, and a continuous defensive line was maintained, although it was necessary to give up a great deal of ground, mainly the territory decided by the Germans in their retreat of 1917, and which was not strategically vital to the Allies. In retiring, the Field Marshal says, it was thought best to move back more rapidly on the south. The territory there had been overrun by the Germans, and French assistance could reach that sector more rapidly than the front further north. In addition, the southern end of the line was not as important strategically as the centre and the north. Instructions necessary to this end accordingly were given the British Fifth Army early in February.

The thick fog which enveloped the battlefield on the mornings of March 21 and 22 undoubtedly masked the fire of enemy artillery, machine guns and rifles. The southern sector was lightly held and it had not been possible to construct formidable defenses there. These conditions enabled the Germans to penetrate and turn the flanks of certain important localities. The Field Marshal concludes by saying:

"A much larger number of troops would therefore have been required to render the defense of the Rivers Somme and Ose secure."

LONDON, Oct. 22.—In view of recent journalistic changes in London, it is interesting to note the following comments on Sir Douglas Haig's dispatch:

The Daily News heads its editorial, "A Disquieting Dispatch," and asks, "Was the decision to lengthen the British line in the beginning of the year a politicians' decision or a soldiers' decision?"

The Daily Chronicle editorial says that the Commander in Chief makes out a strong case regarding the handicaps under which he labored in the period before March 21," but it thinks the present hardly a moment when the public can be asked to give its best attention to a controversy. The Chronicle further says it is difficult to believe that General Gough could have been equal to the tasks devolving upon him.

FAREWELL TO DA GAMA.

Friends Praise Brazilian Ambassador's Work Here.

Many prominent persons yesterday attended a farewell luncheon given to Domicio da Gama, Brazilian Ambassador to the United States, who is returning to his native land to become Minister of Foreign Relations. The luncheon, which was under the auspices of the Pan American Society of the United States, took place at the Bankers Club, 120 Broadway.

Professor John Bassett Moore, President of the society, presided, and introduced Judge E. H. Gary, Chairman of the Board of the United States Steel Corporation. Mr. Gary said he had known Ambassador da Gama ever since he came to the United States as the official representative of Brazil, and that he could pay no higher tribute to him than to say that he had made a multitude of friends and that his quality of business was no greater than his quality of heart.

"Ambassador da Gama," Judge Gary said, "has, during his entire course of relationship with the United States, been cementing the friendship between his country and ours, and now that he goes back home to become Minister of Foreign Relations, a position which is in line with our Secretary of State, we are sure that he will promote the commercial relationship which exists between the two countries, and that our business relations will grow, not only with his own country, Brazil, but with all those Latin-American countries with which he is associated.

"We are sorry to lose him, but we are glad to have known him so well, because he has done for North America what perhaps few South Americans could have done in promoting the friendly relations between us. He has before him higher and higher honor, and to those honors we wish him Godspeed."

Professor Moore dwelt upon the traditional friendship between the United States and Brazil, and speaking of Brazil's entry into the world war, said it was sometimes debated whether certain nations were "allied" or "associated," and added: "But in a union of hearts, such as exists between this country and Brazil, scientific classifications become relatively unimportant.

"After more than seven years of distinguished service as Ambassador at Washington," Professor Moore continued, "his Excellency returns to Brazil to occupy the post of Minister of Foreign Relations. The circumstances under which he does so are peculiarly gratifying. Sixteen years ago his mentor and friend, the late Baron Rio Branco, accepted the opportunities and responsibilities of the same high position.

"In so doing, he answered the summons of that eminent, sturdy, and wise statesman, Rodriguez Alves, who, returning after an interval of twelve years to serve a second term in the Presidency, now calls to his side Domicio da Gama. In the spirit of his illustrious and revered predecessor, our friend has responded to the call, and, in the same spirit, he will labor to promote in the highest sense his country's interests and to advance the cause of international justice and harmony."

Ambassador da Gama replied briefly. "If I can accomplish anything," he said, "to further the delightfully happy relationship existing between the United States and my country I will do it. During the years I have been here as the representative of my country I have always meant well, but I am not sure that I always did well, but I would like to say to you that from my heart has always come the whole thought and wish that I could do my part in cementing the relationship between Brazil and the United States. If I can do anything to further that idea when I go back to Brazil, you may rest assured that I shall do it, because there is a sympathy between us which means more to me than I can ever express to you."

Ex-Senator Theodore E. Burton and John Barrett were the other speakers.

JUNKERS UNDER PRESS FIRE

German Socialists Denounce War Inciters—Would Hang Guilty.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 22.—German provincial and Socialist newspapers continue their campaign against the "chief culprits" responsible for the war. The Frankische Tagespost of Nuremburg, the first paper in Germany openly to demand the abdication of the Kaiser, declares that the accession of the Crown Prince is entirely out of the question.

"The German people is searching for the guilty," says the Volkszeitung, the organ of the Nuremburg Socialists. "The Pan-Germans and Junkers are silent today, but we do not forget that they are the great war inciters in Germany, that they remain the support of social and political reaction, and that they are a menace to the future healthy development of the German Empire. The Pan-German policy has gone bankrupt, but, unfortunately, it has led the German people to disaster. To the gallows with the guilty, whoever they may be!"

The Socialist Arbeiter Zeitung of Vienna urges the German Socialists to punish the "chief culprits" without mercy, adding:

"When the German soldiers return home from the trenches after four years of unparalleled suffering there will be a reckoning for the people who have led them to this catastrophe. The German people will sweep away the Junkers and take its own destiny into its own hands."

IN the North your neighbors are the people living anywhere within two days' journey by dog sledge or canoe. There is a good deal of visiting from post to post and guests are always welcome. The city dweller knows little of the real joy of social life compared to the man who lives in the wilderness with no companion but his Indian dog driver for many days in the year.

Often the Revillon post trader has official guests, as the Dominion government relies upon the posts and transportation facilities of the fur company for the accomodation of its representatives traveling through the North. The new towns in western Canada are very likely to be on the sites of old trading posts, which in turn move further north and west.

BRUGES INTACT; ART WORKS SAVED

By WALTER DURANTY.

day, the evacuation began fully three weeks ago, and for the last fortnight there had been a steady flow of documents, stores, &c., by train and barge, to Antwerp. The enemy made no secret of his preparations, and on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday a series of explosions and fires in the arsenal and port warned the inhabitants that deliverance was near.

The first Belgian soldiers entered the city yesterday morning, but mine craters at crossroads and the destruction of the canal bridges prevented the passage of vehicles until today. It was a thrilling progress along the beflagged streets between dense rows of people who cheered to the echo every car, camion, motor cycle, or foot soldier along the route to the central square, where the chimes—the sole brasswork not unhidden that had not yet been stolen by the Boches—and the famous great bell of the belfry tower were ringing for the second time during the war. The first time was that day of gloom for the inhabitants when with full pomp and music the Boches announced the signature of peace with Russia, the "beginning of the allied end," as all called it.

An interesting feature was the display in the windows of shops and houses of linen and copper utensils walled up in cellars during four years to escape the German requisitions. Each copper pot, sheet, and tablecloth was proudly decked with a rosette of the Belgian colors. Portraits of the King and Queen were everywhere.

As regards food, Bruges is to be reckoned fortunate. For the poor the American Committee functioned admirably; for the rich there was wholesale smuggling from Holland, wherein the Germans readily participated. One could buy sugar at $1 per pound, coffee at $8, and tea at $10. Milk at 20 cents per pint and butter at $5 per pound were reserved for the invaders, but could nevertheless be bought sub rosa.

German Officials Took Bribes.

For the inhabitants it was a point of honor to enjoy the same comforts as the invaders, no matter at what cost or risk of fines and imprisonment. They took pleasure in buying with the complicity of German officials—generally offered at a price which now is deemed excessive. Just the same the commandateur never ceased perquisitions and pillage. From the leading printer in the town eight tons of lead types were taken with the words: "It will make missiles to fire upon your damned Belgians as Solf's payment."

As early as 1916 the price of clothes was beyond reach to any save millionaires. One girl I saw had manufactured a coat from a blanket, another from a curtain. Shoes were soled with old bicycle tires, and bicycles ran on the front wheel on felt and the rear on springs. The Germans mercilessly pillaged unoccupied houses and, as at Ostend, forced the inhabitants in many cases to yield to them choice dwellings with their contents under pain of fine.

From the outset the authority of the Burgomaster was set aside by the invaders, but until recently a local Magistrate was allowed to try civil cases. Three months ago the Germans suppressed the court.

I visited the Port of Bruges which formed the principal centre of the submarine campaign against the North Sea and British coast. As many as forty submarines often assembled within the huge basins of the port—to say nothing of torpedo boats, three of which still remain with their smokestacks projecting from the water, sunk to avoid capture. It is reported that two submarines were similarly sunk in one of the outer basins.

Contrary to what has been stated the boches neither built nor fitted together parts of submarines at Bruges. The Arsenal served solely for repairs. The work suffered terribly from the activities of the allied airmen. Everywhere the arsenal is dotted with deep dugouts and M. Brandel, the former manager of the company owning the port, who accompanied me, said that tunnels literally miles long had been constructed by the boches to protect the workmen and the crews of the warships against the menace from the air.

M. Brandel was arrested by the Germans at the outset and imprisoned several weeks because he refused to put his services at their disposal. The Germans told him the port henceforth would be the State property of Germany, which would develop it and make Bruges a second Hamburg, through which should pass the trade of Belgium and Northern France.

With this end in view, the boches had begun a vast scheme of construction of new docks to double the port area. Scores of houses had been pulled down to provide the necessary space. Five floating docks were built and the number of cranes, dock buildings, and repair yards increased tenfold.

In the first basin the superstructure of one of the floating docks sunk by the enemy was visible above the surface. In the second was a dismantled destroyer. The buildings are mostly intact, though the roofs of many are holed by allied bombs, but the machines they contained have been carefully smashed. The Germans had burnt a large part of their material, but a depot of wood barrels, concrete, and piles of corrugated iron and barbed wire still remained.

Everywhere there was a litter of planks and charred rubbish. The cranes, all dynamited, dropped grotesquely over the water. A giant crane with a capacity of 25 tons, which the Belgian company bought just before the war, had been blown from its base into the dock. As far as is yet known the boches left the sluices and works of the port and canal intact, but the delayed action of mines may yet complete systematic destruction of a dozen turnstile bridges that crossed the canal between Burges and Zeebrugge.

The enemy evacuated all submarines and destroyers able to make the passage by the canal. During the last six months their crews, and even officers, had shown signs of discouragement. In one boarding house reserved for submarine commanders the Belgian proprietress had noted more than twenty cases of rooms that had been transferred to newcomers with the curt words, "All dead," as a requiem for their former occupants.

About a month ago a Lieutenant Commander excused a drinking bout that had surpassed even German notions of duration and decency with the phrase:

"You can't blame us for what we do on shore, because we are all haunted by the certainty of a horrible death sooner or later."

The officers of the land army were equally discouraged. A Lieutenant on the Commandateur's staff named Strakowsky, of great wealth and high social position, who boasted that he was so intimate with the Kaiser that the latter called him Sir, said a few weeks ago to people with whom he was sheltering in a cellar during an air raid:

"You needn't worry about the damage the airmen do, as Germany will pay the bill, and soon, too. All our money will pass that way, rich and poor alike. I have five big houses, but after the war I'll be lucky if I have a humble roof like this I can call my own. Germany is doomed to ruin."

TO RID ENGLAND OF ENEMIES

Interned Aliens Likely to be Sent Out of Country After War.

LONDON, Oct. 21, (via Montreal.)—Replying to Mr. Kennedy Jones in the House of Commons, Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, stated today that a Government committee had carefully considered the question of preventing enemy aliens interned in England from remaining here after the war. It was undesirable to discuss the matter at the present time, he said, but the Government's proposals would be introduced in good time.

Replying to General Croft, Home Secretary Cave said that if the German Government sanctioned further brutalities to British prisoners this would amount to a deliberate rejection of our recent demands, and the Government would be entitled to take immediate action.

SEVEN YEARS FOR GOULED.

Army Contractor Must Pay $10,000 —Two Years for Capt. Vaughan.

Felix Gouled, the army contractor, of 1 Madison Avenue, who was convicted in the Federal District Court last week of having entered into a conspiracy with Captain Aubrey W. Vaughan, U. S. A., to defraud the Government, was sentenced by Judge E. E. Cushman yesterday to serve seven years in the Atlanta Penitentiary and to pay a fine of $10,000. Captain Vaughan, who had pleaded guilty, and who was a Government witness during the trial of Gouled, was sentenced to serve two years in prison. After Gouled had been sentenced Martin W. Littleton, his counsel, asked that his client be released on bail pending an appeal. The Government suggested that the bail be fixed at $30,000, but Judge Cushman made it $25,000, which Gouled furnished.

Captain Vaughan was a pitiable figure. He was in the full field uniform of his rank, and Judge Cushman said that if clemency was extended in his case it would have to come from President Wilson. Vaughan is married and has four little children. Gouled is facing trial on another indictment, which charges a violation of the Sabotage Act. In the event of conviction for that offense he may be sent to prison for an additional term of twenty-five years. He and Vaughan are the first raincoat conspirators to be convicted. Nineteen others, who are charged with similar offenses, are waiting trial in New York and Brooklyn. Having finished with the Gouled-Vaughan case, Judge Cushman is now trying the case of Jeremiah A. O'Leary, who is charged with conspiring to defeat the draft law through the publication of the anti-English and pro-German monthly that was known as Bull. The O'Leary case was postponed until 10 o'clock this morning owing to the fact that O'Leary, who is in the Tombs, is ill of bronchitis.

SOME SHIPYARDS TOO SLOW

Several of Those Building Wooden Vessels to Get No More Contracts.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Because of their inefficiency from fifteen to twenty shipyards now building wooden ships for the Emergency Fleet Corporation will not receive any additional contracts. In making this announcement today Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board said there would be no curtailment of the shipbuilding program, the step being taken to save material, labor, and money.

As fast as the yards complete the ships now under construction the workmen will be sent to other plants, which constantly are in need of additional labor. Mr. Hurley would not make public the names of the yards, nor did he indicate when the closing of them would begin.

The yards held to be inefficient have failed to deliver contract ships within the time or at the price specified in the contracts, Mr. Hurley said.

Vaccine a Success at Camp Dix.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMP DIX, WRIGHTSTOWN, N. J., Oct. 22.—Out of more than 10,000 soldiers who voluntarily took the vaccine treatment as a preventive against pneumonia during the recent infuenza epidemic here not one has contracted pneumonia, according to records of the office of Lieut. Col. H. R. Berry, camp surgeon. While the treatment is still in an experimental stage, surgeons will not make a final indorsement, but the early success will result in the giving of similar treatment to 10,000 more soldiers here this week.

MEASURES OF PRECAUTION AGAINST INFLUENZA

When you have Influenza, the first thing to do is to go to bed and call a doctor.

In order not to contract it, there are certain common-sense precautions which you owe to yourself and your family.

Health Board Instructions on Influenza, when boiled down, mean:

Keep dry!
Keep warm!
Keep clean — inside and out!

In other words, put yourself into the best condition to repel the attacks of air-borne germs.

Fully ninety per cent. of infection is taken into the system through the mouth and nose. These are the first breeding places of most germs. It is of the greatest importance that micro-organisms be destroyed or made innocuous at the Port of Entry. Keeping the teeth clean alone does not do it. The whole mouth, the throat and the nasal passages should receive proper treatment.

Of all the things readily available and easily applied, Kolynos performs these offices best. The formula of Kolynos Dental Cream contains the following:

Oil of Eucalyptus	Benzoic Acid	Alcohol
Oil of Peppermint	Saccharine	Chalk
Thymol	Glycerine	Soap

It was the open publication of the Kolynos formula which from the first gained the confidence of dentists and physicians, and led them to so largely recommend it.

Protective Measures:

Use Kolynos Dental Cream, during times of epidemic, at least three times daily. Apply with a dry brush, and brush not only the teeth, but reach every part of the mouth, including the tongue.

Gargle the throat with the foam produced by this brushing.

In this way you will not omit any part of the oral cavity.

At the first sign of a cold, place a small amount of the dental cream—about half the size of a pea—in the entrance of each nostril, when retiring, and several times during the day.

Additional Precautions:

If your throat is dry or inflamed, or if you have been exposed to infection, gargle with a twenty-five per cent. solution of Kolynos Liquid, which has the same properties as Kolynos Dental Cream, but in a higher degree.

If you are obliged to go where there is infection, place a pellet of cotton, wet with Kolynos Liquid, full strength, in each nostril.

This filters the air you breathe and, at the same time, carries into the nasal passages, bronchial tubes and lungs the highly volatile ingredients, which have a distinct germicidal action.

Those exposed to infection should, also, frequently spray their mouths and throats with Kolynos Liquid. A generally acceptable strength for this spraying is equal parts of Kolynos Liquid and water.

Kolynos preparations are in no sense recommended as a cure for Influenza, but should be looked on solely as common-sense and scientific pre-cautionary agents.

BIG FIRMS TAKE UP FIGHT ON INFLUENZA

U.S. Steel to Inoculate 275,000 Employes—Gary and Farrell First to Get Injection.

MORE PNEUMONIA DEATHS

Grip Cases Also Increase—Alderman Now After Landlords Who Withhold Heat.

Many firms are immunizing their employes against Spanish influenza by the use of vaccine, it was learned yesterday. This is especially so in the war industries, and in the financial district, it was said, the necessity of being vaccinated is being pressed upon employes.

The United States Steel Corporation has set out to protect its 275,000 employes with a preventive serum. Doctors have been engaged to carry out the work in offices and manufacturing plants, supplementing the efforts of the regular physicians at the various subsidiary companies. The injection of the serum is optional with the employes, but the progress made among the local office employes at 71 Broadway yesterday was thought to indicate that most of the workers would accept the opportunity.

Elbert H. Gary, Chairman of the corporation, and James A. Farrell, President, were the first to be inoculated yesterday. Five physicians from local hospitals began the task of inoculating the 125 employes in the offices at 4:30 o'clock, and finished in a little more than an hour. In two or three days a second injection of the serum is to be made, with a third to follow.

It was learned that Mr. Gary decided a few days ago that precautions should be taken wherever possible to prevent the spread of the disease. In consequence, this telegram, dated Oct. 16, was sent to the Presidents of the subsidiary companies:

> In view of the serious and extended epidemic which is spreading throughout the country, resulting fatally in many cases, we feel that every precaution should be exercised to safeguard the health of our employes. It has been suggested that an antitoxin has been prepared and is being inoculated with considerable success. We would like to have our Presidents carefully consider this subject after consultation with their medical department, and if they believe, and our employes also believe, in the efficacy of this treatment and voluntarily request its use, we would approve any expenditure for the necessary treatment. This is offered only as a suggestion to be determined by you, and more especially by the men themselves. We should do whatever is safe and practicable to conserve the health, comfort, and happiness of our employes and their families.
> E. H. GARY.

The same thing is being done by smaller employers of labor, who are no less interested in keeping their forces up to maximum strength, due to the labor shortage. One firm asked the Health Department for vaccine for 1,300 employes this week, and yesterday a large firm of contractors engaged on subway tunnel work asked for sufficient vaccine to immunize all its employes.

New Cases Increase.

There was an increase in the number of new Spanish influenza and pneumonia cases reported to the Department of Health in the twenty-four hours ending at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. In that time there were 3,040 new cases of influenza, an increase of 278 over the preceding day; 471 new pneumonia cases, an increase of 87. Deaths by influenza totaled 715, a gradual 055 in the preceding twenty-four hours.

Outstanding in yesterday's report was the increase in deaths by pneumonia. There were 398 deaths, an increase of 100 over the day before. The distribution of these cases was reported to the Department of Health as follows:

	New Cases.		Deaths.
	Inf.	Pneu.	Inf.	Pneu.
Manhattan	1,100	293	165	154
The Bronx	813	126	93	76
Brooklyn	1,515	204	197	144
Queens	345	16	54	20
Richmond	165	13	15	4
Total	3,940	712	471	398

Health Commissioner Copeland said it was evident that, while there is a decline in Manhattan and the Bronx, the outlying districts are still centres of activity for the disease. He thought deaths from pneumonia would continue to be heavy for some time.

No serious has the nursing situation become that the Emergency Advisory Council, appointed by Commissioner Copeland, issued a special call last night for women with nursing experience to volunteer.

"Persons with nursing experience or who are used to the care of sick are urgently requested to serve humanity and the city in this present emergency," the appeal said. "Such volunteers are urgently wanted, for there are cases now without any care. Last night the committee received an appeal from a family in which the mother, father, and children are all ill and without proper nursing. It is to meet the needs of such cases that this appeal is made. There are now hundreds of cases without nurses.

"There is need for 200 persons with nursing experience. Volunteers if satisfactory are paid $4 a day and $4 a night, and for casual, or hourly, service at the rate of 50 cents an hour. This committee cannot emphasize too strongly this need. We have fifty districts and every night appeals come from each district."

The headquarters of the committee is in the Municipal Building. Applications will also be received at the office of the Commissioner of Health, in the Department of Health Building in Centre Street.

Aldermen After Landlords.

Just now much of the activity of the Health Department is centred on the effort to obtain heat for tenants from reluctant landlords. Other city departments, under urging of Mayor Hylan, are giving their co-operation. There was introduced into the Board of Aldermen by Alderfen Pallits and eKnnedally and referred to the General Welfare Committee yesterday a resolution to make the nonheating of homes where the lease calls for heat an offense punishable by a fine of $250. The resolution provides:

> "No owner or lessee * * * shall permit the said house * * * to remain heated at a temperature less than 68 degrees between Oct. 15 and April 15 in any year except between the hours of 10 A. M. and 7 P. M."

The Fuel Administration took notice of the campaign, and Deloe W. Cooke, State Fuel Administrator, issued this statement:

> Because of the great number of letters and telephone calls being received at the office of the New York State Fuel Administration, indicating that some proprietors of apartment houses, office and loft buildings state their intention to decline giving any heat prior to Nov. 1, no matter what the weather conditions may be, and alleging as their reason for this decision that the New York State Fuel Administration has ordered them not to give heat before that date, Mercer P. Moseley, Chief of Conservation, stated today that no such order had been issued by either the New York State Fuel Administration or the United States Fuel Administration, and that while all good citizens were interested and anxious to meet the present coal situation with every feasible and logical economy, nevertheless those in charge of fuel in this State wish it distinctly understood that the public health comes first, and that nothing should be done that will jeopardize it.

Hundreds of complaints continue to come to the office of Dr. Copeland from tenants who have illness and are still unableto obtain heat. The police Sanitary Squad is investiagting every complaint, serving warning and preparing to summon into court those who refuse to heed the warning.

United States Marshal McCarthy has received many letters from German women saying they are suffering from influenza and will be unable to come to his office by closing time on Thursday to apply for zone permits. Husbands and brothers have journeyed to the Marshal's office to announce the illness of women relatives.

Arrangements will be made to take cars of such cases after the time limit expires. It is probable that those applying after that time will have to file a physician's certificate. More than 7,000 women have applied, considerably less than half the alien enemy women registered in Manhattan and the Bronx.

Marshal Powers of Brooklyn is keeping his office open until 10 o'clock at night, and he, too, will make arrangements for the accommodation of influenza sufferers.

For Sunday Movie Closing.

John M. Shaw, Special Deputy Police Commissioner of Richmond, has asked the Health Board to close the moving picture theatres and dance halls on Staten Island on Sundays, for the reason that it has been the practice of numerous people from influenza-infected localities in New Jersey, where amusements are closed on Sundays, to travel to Staten Island for their recreation, thus endangering the health of the citizens of that borough. The Health Board will hold a meeting today to act on this request.

Dr. S. T. Silverman of 220 East Twelfth Street, who is in charge of the medical service of the emergency relief unit of the Police Department, Fifteenth Precinct, announced that the unit has purchased an ambulance which has been placed at the disposal of the sick poor for transportation to hospitals. The transportation, as well as all medical attendance, including nurses, will be given free of charge. Applications for the use of the ambulance may be directed to Dr. Silverman's address or by phone through Stuyvesant 5145.

The Nurses Emergency Council announced yesterday that four of its nursing centres will give night service. They are 265 Henry Street, 237 East 104th Street, 27 Barrow Street, and 102 Lawrence Street. The council still needs automobiles to carry the nurses from house to house.

One nurse on the night round yesterday found a house on the upper east side where there were five cases of pneumonia. One member of the family had died two days before and the body was still in the house. The Health Department attended to the burial. The nurse was up all night giving attention to the sick and providing meals for the family.

The Mayor sent a letter to Police Commissioner Enright yesterday in which he called attention to the establishment of district headquarters where cases may be reported and medical attention, nurses, and invalid feeding may be obtained.

As a result of complaints received alleging exorbitant fees charged by physicians in certain districts in Brooklyn and profiteering on the part of druggists in the same sections, District Attorney Lewis of Kings announced yesterday that he would cause an investigation to be made, and if the facts warranted action he would take the matter before the Grand Jury.

"It must not be thought that this practice, heartless, selfish, and unpatriotic, extends to physicians and druggists as a class," said Mr. Lewis. "The complaints are only about certain doctors and certain druggists in certain congested districts. I will make a thorough investigation, and if there is a chance of my exposing and punishing the guilty persons I will do it with a feeling of satisfaction."

Sing Sing Fighting Influenza.

OSSINING, Oct. 22.—Authorities of Sing Sing Prison today fitted up an emergency hospital in the prison school. As a step toward curbing the spread of influenza, of which there are now over seventy ill, Dr. Amos O. Squires, prison surgeon, administered the vaccine preventative treatment to 600 prisoners, all of whom eagerly submitted to the treatment because of a general fear that the disease would spread rapidly if it got into the cell block. The regular prison hospital has accommodations of fifty beds, and the prison school has twenty paptpippenpts comfortably quartered there. The rest of the 1,000 inmates now in Sing Sing will receive prompt treatment to render them immune.

Disease Spreads in Argentina.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 22.—The influenza epidemic, which has seriously hampered business and other activities, continues to spread. The Government today ordered that all schools be closed until further notice.

TO STUDY INFLUENZA.

Whitman Asks Health Experts to Investigate the Disease.

ALBANY, Oct. 22.—Scientific information regarding the influenza epidemic now daily accumulating in the State Department of Health and elsewhere is to be correlated and made available to health officials and the medical profession through the action of Governor Whitman today in appointing a commission to study and report on the cause, prevention, and treatment of the disease.

Among those who have been invited to serve on this commission are the Surgeon Generals of the United States Army, Navy, and Public Health Service, Dr. Rufus Cole, an authority on the treament of pneumonia, Dr. Walter B. James, President of the Academy of Medicine, New York City, Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, New York State Commissioner of Health, and Professor William H. Park, Director of the Research Laboratories, New York City Department of Health.

MEANS WANTS AN INQUIRY.

Questions Federal Agent's Activity in King Murder Case.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Fred J. Coxe of Wadesboro, N. C., attorney for Gaston B. Means, who was acquitted of the murder of Mrs. Maude A. King, at Concord, N. C., a year ago, and Means himself asserted tonight that efforts were being made to have a congressional investigation of the activities of C. B. Ambrose, a former Department of Justice operative, in connection with the murder trial.

Summoning newspaper men to their hotel tonight, Means and Coxe issued a statement saying they would be able to prove that "Ambrose acted for the Northern Trust Company of Chicago, which, as trustee of the estate of the late James C. King, has in its possession approximately $9,000,000, and not the United States Government."

The attorney and his client asserted that Ambrose, at the time of the trial, was not connected with the Department of Justice, but represented himself to be, and thus obtained all the private papers in the case.

"We want to find out why the Department of Justice allowed this," said Mr. Coxe.

Senator Overman of North Carolina, said Mr. Coxe, had said he would conduct an investigation as Acting Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. But tonight Senator Overman said he had not made any promise further than that if Means wished to protest to the Department of Justice, he would forward the papers.

A. Bruce Bielaski, Chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, said tonight:

"Mr. Clabaugh, in charge at Chicago, allowed Ambrose leave because Means had been a German agent, and we wanted to find out if there was anything of value to us in the case that touched on Means's connection with the German Government. Means is utterly unreliable."

Commissioner Kracke Has Influenza

Public Service Commissioner Frederick J. H. Kracke is sick with Spanish influenza at his home, 11 Kenmore Place, Brooklyn. He became ill on Monday night and yesterday it was reported his fever was high. Mr. Kracke is attended by Dr. J. B. Bogart of 463 Clinton Avenue. Mr. Kracke is the Republican leader in Flatbush and has been the spokesman in Brooklyn for Governor Whitman. His brother, Henry Kracke, Deputy Commissioner of Food and Markets, died two weeks ago after an illness of two days.

Killed in Airplane Accident.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 22.—Lieutenant Percy M. Gerwig, 21, son of George W. Gerwing, Secretary of the Pittsburgh Board of Education, was killed in an airplane accident at Miami, Fla., this afternoon, according to a telegram received by his father.

AMERICAN CONSULS IN MOSCOW PRISON

dently realizing the terrible precedent established, and they are endeavoring to dislodge the system.

A message describing famine conditions in Russia as "appallingly critical," and urging that all possible cooperation be given the Red Cross in supplying food, was received in New York last night by the Joint Centenary Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church from Dr. George A. Simons, Methodist missionary at Petrograd.

"Send food for Petrograd children" via Denmark immediately, read the message. "The moral effect of such work would result in increasing Russia's sympathy and esteem for America."

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, held yesterday in the Woolworth Building, resolutions were passed urging a plan for immediate and comprehensive civic-economic assistance to Russia. It was pointed out that Germany could afford to relinquish much on the western front, provided German influence were allowed to reign supreme in Russia. The directors held that Americans should lose no time in making their influence felt in the former empire.

BOLSHEVIK REBUKES GERMAN INHUMANITY

Tchitcherin Answers Protests on Red Cruelty by Tart Reference to Belgium.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—German and Austro-Hungarian consuls received a sharp rebuff from M. Tchitcherin, the Bolshevist Foreign Minister, recently, according to advices from Archangel.

The consuls protested against the inhumane treatment of political adversaries by the Bolsheviki and received a reply from the Foreign Minister which said:

"Germany, which violated the neutrality of Belgium and holds populations of invaded countries under a brutal joke, is not qualified to intervene in this question."

PETROGRAD SAILORS REBEL.

Defeated in Uprising Against Red Conscription Order.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 21. (Associated Press.)—Several thousand insurgent sailors stopped the performance at the Marinsky Theatre in Petrograd on Oct. 14 and compelled the orchestra to lead a march to the Smolny Institute, in protest against the order of M. Zinovieff, head of the Petrograd Commune, conscripting all sailors, according to neutrals arriving here today.

The Bolsheviki organized a resistance, and the sailors were attacked and defeated. Many of them later were executed. Street fighting and riots continued for several days as a result of an attempt to round up the men suspected of promoting the uprising.

The sailors have been disaffected since the summary execution in June last of Admiral Schasnig, commander of the Baltic fleet, who saved it from capture by the Germans.

Simultaneously with the outbreak in Petrograd there was trouble in Moscow, but its extent is not known. It is attributed to an uprising of the Social Revolutionists.

TO PROCLAIM FREEDOM IN INDEPENDENCE HALL

New Declaration for 65,000,000 People of Middle Europe to be Drafted There.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Professor T. G. Masaryk, Prime Minister of the new Czechoslovak Republic, and representative of nationalities comprising 65,000,000 people of Middle Europe, left Washington this afternoon for Philadelphia for conferences to be held at Independence Hall for the purpose of drafting a joint declaration of independence. The conferences will be held in Independence Hall on Oct. 25 and 26, at the invitation of the Mayor of Philadelphia.

The nationalities include Bohemia, now united in the new Czechoslovak Republic; Jugoslavia, Poland, Italian (Irredentist) Austria, Ukrainians (Galicia), Lithuania, the Rumanian National League, and the Uhro-Rusins. Before leaving Washington with the delegation Professor Masaryk said:

"The following organisations and representatives are authorized to help in formulating a declaration of independence for their respective nations in Europe:

"John F. Smulski for the Polish Committee; Dr. John Salupas for the Lithuanian National Council, Captain Vasile Stoica for the Rumanian National League, Dr. R. Hinkovic for the Jugoslav National Council, Charles J. Tomasolli for the Italian Irredentists, M. Sichinsky for the Ukrainian Federation, and Gregory I. Zatkovich for the American National Council of Uhro-Rusins.

"Possibly other representatives will in certain cases be chosen to affix their signatures to a document which, I trust, will go down in the history of the oppressed nations of Europe. One or two more nationalities may be represented, if so, this will be announced later.

"We consider it an honor and a singular privilege that our conferences based, as they will be on the principles of self-determination and co-operation among all groups against Teutonic aggression, may be carried on under the roof where the American Declaration of Independence was drafted and published. We shall do our work under the shadow of a great tradition."

MOBILIZING NEW ARMY.

Five Classes Called to the Colors in North Russia.

ARCHANGEL, Oct. 21. (Associated Press.)—The reorganisation of the Government is bringing quick results as regards the mobilisation of men to fight the Bolsheviki.

The classes for the five years beginning with men born in 1895 have been called to the colors.

WINTER HITS NORTH RUSSIA

Arrives Late on Heavy Snowfall—Troops Warmly Clad.

ARCHANGEL, Oct. 20, (Associated Press.)—An unusually late Winter in Northern Russia was ushered in today by a heavy fall of snow. The Dvina and Vaga Rivers, which usually are closed at this date, are still ice free.

The American and other soldiers are being equipped with semi-arctic uniforms, including sheepskin greatcoats and arctic felt boots.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—For the relief of the population of the Archangel districts, reported to be facing starvation, the Red Cross mission which reached Northern Russia a few weeks ago has sent a shipload of food, medicines, and other supplies, a cablegram received at headquarters here today said. Crops which were expected to alleviate conditions were cut short by an early frost, and scurvy has broken out.

The Russian mission, the cablegram states, is preparing to send relief to other parts of the Archangel district where there are food shortages.

DIVORCES WM. G. BROWN.

New York Woman Gets Decree in Reno, Alleging Cruelty.

Special to The New York Times.

RENO, Nev., Oct. 22.—Mrs. William Grant Brown of New York, who is well known in club circles and charity work there, obtained a divorce here to-day.

Mrs. Brown alleged that her husband was cold and indifferent, showed utter lack of affection, provoked quarrels with her over trivial affairs and would not speak to her for days at a time.

"I am sorry I married you. You can get out, the sooner the better," Mr. Brown told her, according to the complaint.

Mrs. Brown also alleged that the defendant borrowed money from her and insisted on her asking her friends to invest in stocks in which he was interested when he knew that they were not good buys.

TO BRING HOME OUR DEAD.

Instructions Sent to the Army Chaplains at the Front.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Oct. 22. (Associated Press.)—All the American dead in France will be taken home after the war, according to orders received by the army chaplains.

The Grave Registration Bureau has been working with this in view, but nothing definite regarding the future disposition of the dead was known here until instructions came to the chaplains from Washington.

Chilean Bar German Workers.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Monday, Oct. 21.—The electric tramways company here has annulled its contract with its German employes, and will henceforward employ only Chileans and nationals from allied countries.

Transylvanian Rumanian Legion.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Information was received today by the Rumanian Legation that Transylvania Rumanians captured by the Italians while in the Austrian Army have organized a Rumanian legion and now are fighting with the Italian Army against their ancient enemy. The legion numbers 15,000, and was organized under the supervision of the Rumanian National Committee of Paris.

THINK Before You Telephone:

"Is this a necessary call?"

In spite of our urgent appeals that telephoning be restricted because of the serious shortage in our operating force due to SPANISH INFLUENZA, it is impossible for our operators to handle all of the calls that are being made in certain sections of the city.

Every effort must be made to restrict telephoning to calls that are indispensable

In those sections where the voluntary restriction of telephoning by subscribers themselves is not sufficient to meet the situation, it will now be necessary for us to ask the calling parties if their calls are necessary before the connections are made.

Now that the Liberty Loan campaign has closed, it is hoped that the voluntary restriction of calls will be sufficient to meet the situation.

In any case, during the epidemic will you please make it a point NOT TO TELEPHONE IF IT CAN POSSIBLY BE AVOIDED.

Restrictions on Children's Shoes.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Shoe manufacturers and mail order houses selling directly to the consumer are required under a ruling today by the War Industries Board to sign retailers' pledge cards and abide by the recently established price and quality standardization program. At the same time the board ordered colors of children's shoes restricted to black, dark brown and white, and the elimination of perforations except on the tip. Another order forbids importations of men's and boys' felt hats which do not conform to the style, shape and color restrictions imposed upon domestic manufacturers.

CONCEIT— That Passes Understanding

An editorial by A. W.

We have a warmth in our hearts for Old Glory—a proud pride in George Washington—a tender love for Abraham Lincoln—a tremendous admiration for Woodrow Wilson. All these, combined with the fact that our land is a fair one and a free one, makes us want to fight for her.

Germany fights. She fights like a maniac. She dies like a dog—with not a whimper. It is for the Vaterland!

What is the spirit that prompts it all? Patriotism, they say—and perhaps they think they speak the truth. But, if it is patriotism, it is a mongrel patriotism, dammed by Compulsion and sired by Conceit!

Conceit is the basis of German progress in all things. It has been clearly proven in the greatest test of all—the present war. Germany has never entertained even a suspicion that she might be defeated. She fought because she thought she was invincible—there was not a single worthy principle in her war program—least of all a pure patriotism.

That is why our terms for peace must be unconditional surrender. It is the one deadly poison that will kill German conceit—for all time. Anything else will simply anaesthetize it for the time being, and in a few years there will be an encore.

Brand your hands, your heart, your head, with these two words: UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER!

Another Piano Wanted

A few months ago Rotarian Milbauer through Rotary publicity succeeded in gathering together over 40 pianos and sending them to the boys in the service. The letters of thanks received were worth more than the effort. Now comes a request that can be answered by patriotic citizens with a piano or two to donate. Quoting from the officers letter, "We need a few more pianos for ship and shore work among the boys. One of the pianos you sent is now being hoisted aboard the 'Otranto,' leaving us minus one along the water front barracks."

Blow the dust off your old piano, kiss it good-bye and then telephone or write Charles Milbauer, Woolworth Building, Barclay 3940 and say you have one to give. Milbauer will donate the packing and trucking and put it where it will do real service.

Unconditional Surrender Clubs

Rotary Clubs throughout the United States and Canada, of which there are 375, are endorsing and forming Unconditional Surrender Clubs. All citizens will be invited to become members. The idea originated in the Rotary Club of Flint, Mich., and the purpose is propaganda, furthering unconditional surrender or fight until we get it.

COMPARE the PRICE of GOOD CLOTHES with the HIGH COST of CHEAP CLOTHING

IT COSTS a merchant just as much to sell you a poor suit of clothes as a good one.

THE TRANSPORTATION COST is just as high from the mill to the maker, and from the maker to the merchant's store. The mill-overhead and labor-cost of weaving poor material may very well be as great as with better goods.

WHEN IT COMES to cutting and making a cheap suit of clothes the price of the work is out of all proportion to the material.

YOU MAY PAY LESS for a poor suit — but you do not get anything like the same value for what you pay.

THESE ARE some of the things that create the notoriously high cost of cheap clothing.

* * * *

IF THE MOTTO that "The Best is the Cheapest" holds good in ordinary times it is doubly true today. Poor clothing is relatively so much higher in price than good clothing that it pays an economical man to buy the best and less of it.

THAT IS WHY a timid clothing dealer, afraid to meet his customer with the facts, is rendering a poor service. Knowing that costs everywhere are high, he turns to a lower standard of merchandise; he eases over the moment of sale, but fails to consider the day of reckoning with his customer.

A MAN FORGETS the price he paid, but the clothes are in evidence; clear testimony to quality—or the lack of it.

THE HOUSE OF KUPPENHEIMER has always maintained its standards. Its chief effort in these times is to produce the best merchandise available, and we, as exclusive Kuppenheimer dealers in New York, present Kuppenheimer Clothes for this Fall and Winter with the firm conviction that dollar for dollar, they are the best clothes available for men.

FINDS INSANITY DUE TO INFECTED TEETH

Dr. Cotton Reports Discovery to Jersey's State Board of Charities.

CURES FOLLOW EXTRACTION

Removing Affected Tonsils and Clearing Up Digestive Tract Are Part of New Treatment.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 22.—Discoveries announcing a permanent cure for insanity by extracting infected teeth divulged by an X-ray examination, removing infected tonsils, and clearing up the digestive tract are set forth in a report based on the results of eleven years of experimentation submitted today to the State Board of Charities and Corrections by Dr. Harvey A. Cotton, Medical Director of the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane at Trenton. Referring to the results of his experimental work, Dr. Cotton states:

"We are able to cure early cases in a very short time, prevent the disease from becoming chronic in a large number of cases, and restore a certain number who have been in the hospital for as long as nine years. This we are doing daily. We have found that infection of the chronic type and the resulting toxemia are the basis of many mental disturbances. These chronic infections are known as focal infections and may be present for years without their existence becoming known to the patient, and until quite recently the physicians and the dentists have been ignorant of their existence.

"We are practically prepared to state that this infection originates in the teeth, as we find the same organism in the abscessed teeth, tonsils, stomach, and duodenum, and in no case have we been able to eliminate the teeth as the origin of the infection. We have had five acute maniacal cases who died within a short time after coming to the hospital. Formerly the cause of death was considered due to exhaustion from excitement, but a bacteriological study in these cases showed all the organs practically infected. We feel that we have established a very important fact as applicable to general medicine as to nervous and mental diseases, that is, that the infection originates in the teeth, and after some years infects their organs through the lymphatic system.

"In making routine examinations of the blood we found a great number of our patients who gave a positive reaction, showing that they were suffering from a chronic infection. At first the teeth and tonsils were thoroughly investigated. In many cases the infected teeth were extracted, producing gratifying results in some cases, but in the majority no improvement was noted. Some twenty-two of these cases had their infected tonsils removed and again we noted a marked improvement and even recovery in one-half of these cases. The next point of attack was the gastro-intestinal tract, for many of the patients showed evidence of a chronic gastro-intestinal infection. Finally, in April of the present year, we were able to utilize a method of accurately determining the infection of the stomach and duodenum by making direct cultures from these organisms.

In his report on the dental work, Dr. Cotton describes several causes of infected teeth, pointing out bad dental work, absolute neglect of teeth, and in some cases infection inherited from parents. He recommends a campaign of education in regard to the care and treatment of the teeth, so that physicians, dentists, and the public at large would realize the danger of infected teeth, not only in producing nervous and metal diseases, but in undermining the general health. As to the treatment Dr. Cotton says:

"All infected teeth are extracted and infected tonsils are removed." As examples of the success of the treatment, three cases of perfectly different mental conditions were cited."

Mayor Rebukes Wage Agitators.

Mayor Hylan sent a letter yesterday to department heads complaining that workers in several departments were finding fault with the amount of increase in salary allowed city employes. He pointed out that the increases had cost the city $7,000,000, and added: "It is the duty of all commissioners to see that such professional agitators who, instead of attending to the duties of their office, continually annoy the members of the Board of Estimate, be compelled to remain in the offices and perform the duties for which they were appointed."

TAFT AND ROOSEVELT SUPPORT NEWBERRY

Colonel Says Ford Might Have a Seat If United States Had a Hindoo Senate.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 22.—Truman H. Newberry has received letters from ex-Presidents Taft and Roosevelt congratulating him upon his nomination for the United States Senate by the Republicans of Michigan and indorsing his candidacy. Mr. Taft wrote in part:

"The Democratic majority in Congress has not been one upon which the President of the country could depend for the adoption of adequate measures for the winning of the war.

"With Mr. Ford's known pacifist views carried to an extreme, indeed, with his nondescript political affiliations, and with his engaging in this canvass simply at the instance of the President, the people of Michigan are placed in a dilemma in respect to how he will represent them.

"He will either go into the Democratic caucus and follow implicity the wish of the President, who induces him to run, or no one can know what he will do, not even Mr. Ford, in contingencies that are likely to arise."

Mr. Roosevelt wrote that Mr. Newberry's election was required to guarantee support of a war-winning program by Michigan's representatives in Congress. He declares that Mr. Ford's nomination went further than creating merely a Republican-Democratic issue; that it had brought out an issue between straight Americanism and winning the war and an "obnoxious type of pacifism preached in peace and practiced in war."

"If there should be at any time in the future a Hindoo Senate," Roosevelt continued, "and it should choose, in a spirit of cosmopolitanism, to admit outsiders, there is no reason why Mr. Ford should not aspire to membership therein, but he would be signally out of place in the American Senate so long as that body is dominated by men who zealously believe in the American ideal and faithfully endeavor to serve the American people."

PAY PART OF BINGHAM TAX.

Attorneys for the Estate Tender $5,384,084 to the Government.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 22.—Attorneys for the estate of Mrs. Mary Lily Bingham tendered to Scott Mayes, Collector of Internal Revenue, today a check for $5,384,084.67, which the executors have computed as the inheritance tax on Mrs. Bingham's estate. It is understood the Federal Government claims approximately $8,000,000 as the correct amount. The check was accepted provisionally by the collector.

Mrs. Bingham, formerly Mrs. Henry M. Flagler of New York, died at her home in Louisville, July 27, 1917. Her estate was valued at more than $70,000,000, the greater portion of which was left to her niece, Mrs. Louise Wise Lewis of Cincinnati.

GAFFNEY TO PLEAD TODAY.

Escaped Slayer's Possession of Revolver Leads to Investigation.

Vincent Gaffney, convicted of manslaughter, who escaped from the Tombs last June and later from a cordon of police around a Harlem flat, being recaptured last Saturday night in a New Jersey dance hall, was arraigned in General Sessions yesterday before Judge Malone. Gaffney asked for counsel and Franklin Greer was assigned to his defense. On Mr. Greer's request, pleading was put off until today. This means that Gaffney will not start for Sing Sing to serve his term of twenty years until tomorrow or later.

Investigation will be made to the charge by New York Detectives Fitzgerald and Barrett that a policeman had given a revolver to Gaffney while he was a prisoner in North Bergen on Sunday morning. An acting patrolman of the North Bergen force has been suspended pending the inquiry, and at the office of Pierre P. Garven, Prosecutor for Hudson County, it was said the facts would probably be presented to the Grand Jury.

BERGOUGNAN
(BEAR-GOO-NIAN) The POILU of TIRES

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The word "Poilu" means literally "Hairy" and was not always intended as an adjective of praise. It acquired its recent flattering significance when it was applied to those admirable French soldiers whose hairiness was due to days and nights continuously spent in front line trenches, exposed to shrapnel and mud and cold and holding the line against overwhelming odds until help could come up—first the "contemptible little army" of Great Britain, then the Canadians, and later, in the hour of sorest need, our own boys with Pershing.

The steadfastness, the grim tenacity, the dogged spirit of resistance to the last ounce of strength of these hairy men has made the word "poilu" synonymous with solidity and endurance.

BERGOUGNAN TIRES

are known as "poilu" tires because they have within them some of these "poilu" qualities.

THEY "STAND THE GAFF."

Try these tires on one side of your car and compare the mileage they will give you with the mileage gotten from the tires on the opposite wheels. We guarantee at least 5,000 miles, but they frequently give twice this distance.

THEY LOOK BETTER, THEY WEAR BETTER, THEY ARE BETTER and they don't cost any more than ordinary tires

ENGLISH COMEDY AT THE HENRY MILLER

Long Familiar Situations and Characters Are Revamped in "Perkins."

HENRY MILLER COMPANY

Able Acting and a Beautiful Stage Set Gloss Over a Rather Sorry Play.

PERKINS, A Comedy in Three Acts. By Douglas Murray. At Henry Miller's Theatre.

Mr. Priestly.....Frank Kemble Cooper
Bobby Gilmour.....Frederick Lloyd
Fergus Wimbush.....Henry Miller
Ruth Wimbush.....Florence Wollerton
Ada Wimbush.....Lillian Kemble Cooper
Mrs. Hubbard.....Tempe Pigott
Minnie Hubbard.....Marjorie Rast
Dressmaker.....Margery Card
Martha.....Frances Goodrich Ames
Mrs. Calthorpe.....Ruth Chatterton

It is quite possible that "Perkins," with which Henry Miller last night reopened his beautiful new theatre, will prove popular. It contains a choice assortment of situations and characters that have been long tried and often proved true.

There is a will that promises millions to two young people, hitherto strangers to each other, if they will only consent to marry. And the heroine is one of those stage ladies who anciently stooped to conquer and more recently came out of the kitchen into romantic bliss. There is a rough diamond English Colonial who falls in love with the domestic virtues of the British household domestic, quite as in Somerset Maugham's "Smith," and who chants the glories of life on God's own ranch, (which he happens to own,) quite as in "The Walls of Jericho." And the play has the further advantage of a very beautiful stage setting and of the services of the Henry Miller Company, with Mr. Miller and Ruth Chatterton heading it.

And then again, Perkins, as the masquerading heroine calls herself, may soon have to find a new place. For the play is what is called very English. That does not mean that it at all resembles plays by Oliver Goldsmith, Alfred Sutro and Somerset Maugham, or any known playwright of the tight little island. Before the war, at least, to be "English" was to be something utterly alien to anything from Shakespeare to Shaw. It was to confide in a craftsmanship that was wooden and labored—a sort of dramaturgic stage carpentry; to revel in a humor at once obvious and forced. There were moments last night, particularly in the last act, which were reminiscent of all that is painful in amateur theatricals.

The work of the company would have counted for more if there had been at least a spark of observation and basic human truth in the characterizations. Even Mr. Miller's robust and breezy personality and his genuinely subtle method could not quite convince one of this cockney idea of a Canadian ranchman.

Miss Chatterton had moments when the exquisite flavor of her charm and the no less exquisite deftness of her art came into their own. But for the most part she seemed not so much to be living a character as enacting scenes necessary to the author's plot, and the fact was fatal to illusion.

Frederick Lloyd was rather miscast as a very youthful and light-minded idler. Perhaps the most satisfying performance of the evening was that of Frank Kemble Cooper as an uncle and guardian of the heroine—the one character that struck no false note.

The play is said to have been popular in England, appealing to that portion of the public which asks of the theatre only that it shall take them away from the war. There are, no doubt, similar people here; and they may (let it be repeated and reiterated) find a grateful narcotic in "Perkins." But the verdict of last night's audience seemed to be different. If this is what England does when it tries to get away from the war—why, more than ever, let England go to it.

WED IN EDITORIAL ROOMS.

Miss Virginia Hudson, Writer, Marries Sergt. Brightman in Greenwich.

Miss Virginia Tyler Hudson, a newspaper woman and fiction writer, was married to Sergeant Grant L. Brightman, U. S. A., of Camp Upton, last night, at Greenwich, Conn. The couple were married in the editorial rooms of The Greenwich News and Graphic by Justice of the Peace Albert S. Mead.

The bride is a daughter of the Rev. D. T. Hudson of Millersburg, Ky., and has been connected with various New York newspapers for many years. Sergeant Brightman was formerly a newspaper man.

Miss Johnson to Wed Lieut. Todd.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Everts Johnson announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nellie Johnson, to Lieutenant Chapman Coleman Todd, Jr., U. S. N., a son of Rear Admiral and Mrs. C. C. Todd. The wedding is to take place shortly at the home of the bride's parents, 1,631 Massachusetts Avenue. Miss Johnson made her début two years ago. Lieutenant Todd, a native of New York, was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1913, and has recently returned from foreign service.

Miss Lulu Tschirky to Wed Today.

The wedding of Miss Lulu Clover Tschirky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Tschirky, and Leon E. Chambers, which was postponed last week on account of the bridegroom's illness from influenza, will take place at noon today at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Lieut. Farrell Marries Miss Field.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Helen Curtis Field, daughter of George C. Field of Brooklyn, and Lieutenant Edward J. Farrell, U. S. A., of this city, a former member of The New York Sun staff. Lieutenant Farrell is stationed at Camp Grant, Ill.

Dai Buell, Pianist, Plays.

Dai Buell, a pianist of pleasing manner on the stage, though her concert was announced as a first New York recital, appeared at Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon before a considerable audience. In Liszt's B-minor Sonata she showed technical skill and intelligent appreciation, a quality of sincerity more than sympathy, as also in pieces by Chopin, Paradies, and Gluck-Sgambati. She added encores after Paderewski's "Intermezzo Pollacco" and Russian themes of Liapounow and Tschaikowsky.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The illness of Lois Fisher has compelled another postponement of "Be Calm, Camilla," and the piece will not be seen at the Booth Theatre until next week. The exact date will be determined later.

"Little Simplicity," a musical piece by Rida Johnson Young, with score by Augustus Barratt, will begin an engagement at the Astor Theatre on Monday night, Nov. 4. Carolyn Thomson, Marjorie Gateson, the Cameron Sisters, Carl Gantvoort, and Stewart Baird are prominent in the cast.

Robert B. Mantell will soon be seen at the Forty-fourth Street Theatre in his Shakesperian repertoire.

"The Big Chance," by Grant Morris and Willard Mack, will be brought to the Forty-eighth Street Theatre next Monday night. In the cast will be Mary Nash, John Mason, Cyril Keightley, William E. Meehan, and others.

Free performances of "Fiddlers Three," at the Cort, and "Peter's Mother," at the Playhouse, will be given for uniformed men next Sunday night.

COSTIGAN REMOVED FROM VICE SQUAD

"Honest Dan" an Ordinary Inspector Again by Enright's Order.

McDONALD TAKES HIS PLACE

He Is in Charge of the "Special Service Division" Covering All Five Boroughs.

Inspector "Honest Dan" Costigan, after serving for fifteen years as the chief vice crusader of the Police Department, was removed by Police Commissioner Enright yesterday. The Commissioner also abolished the vice squad and replaced it with the Special Service Division of the Police Department, with Inspector Thomas J. McDonald, who has been in charge of the Fourteenth Inspection District of Brooklyn, in command. The only explanation which Commissioner Enright gave was this:

"I am dissatisfied with the manner in which the system under which the vice squad has been working has panned out in the five boroughs. The conclusion has been reached that the service would be improved if the new Special Service Division were created."

The order relieving Inspector Costigan reduced his work by half. While commanding the vice squad, he has also been in charge of the First Inspection District, which embraces the territory on the east side of Manhattan south of Fourteenth Street. He will remain in charge of this district. District Attorney Swann, when he heard that Costigan had been removed, said:

"Has any reason been given for the removal of Costigan? Is there any allegation that he has been inefficient or lacking in his duty? The District Attorney can only answer these questions in the negative. So far as my observation has gone, and my office has had much to do with Costigan's activities, no man ever more honestly earned the sobriquet of 'Honest' than Inspector Costigan. I have found him as honest as sunshine and a man of invincible integrity. I have heard it said that he may have trodden on the toes of persons who regarded themselves as of importance."

There were unofficial explanations of the change around Police Headquarters last night. One was that with the end of racing at the Empire City track on Saturday the men who want to gamble would find New York too "tight" a town. While a new man was familiarizing himself with the gambling opportunities in Manhattan, it was added, there would be opportunity for play. On the other hand, it was pointed out that Inspector McDonald, who succeeds Costigan, had been trained under the latter, and when ex-Police Commissioner Arthur Woods put Costigan in charge of the Vice Squad in Manhattan he put McDonald in charge of it in Brooklyn. McDonald's record and training were called to the attention of District Attorney Swan, who said:

"That sounds encouraging. But whether McDonald is on the job or not, I want to remind the gamblers that Assistant District Attorney Smith is on the job at all hours of the day or night, and he has a roving commission. Let the gamblers make the most of that."

The new Special Service Division will operate and run down vice in all five boroughs. To succeed Inspector McDonald in command of the Fourteenth Inspection District of Brooklyn Captain William A. Coleman has been appointed Acting Inspector. Captain Charles West of the Glendale Station in Queens has been transferred to the Adams Street station, and a Lieutenant will be in command of the Glendale station.

Alice Lindahl Dies of Influenza.

Word was received here yesterday of the death in Pittsburgh on Monday of Alice Lindahl, well known here as an actress. She was the wife of John Cromwell, general stage director for William A. Brady. Mrs. Cromwell had appeared here in "The Man Who Came Back," "Sinners," "The Land of the Free," and other plays, including engagements with Henry Miller and Margaret Anglin. She succumbed to Spanish influenza.

Father and Son Die by Gas.

George Jackson, 40 years old, and his son, John, 10 years old, were found dead yesterday in a room on the top floor of a four-story studio and office building at 28 East Forty-ninth Street, of which Jackson was Superintendent. The father was lying on the floor, and the son on an improvised couch. Each had a gase tube in his mouth.

Jackson and his wife, Catherine, celebrated the eleventh anniversary of their wedding last Friday. On the following day Mrs. Jackson was stricken with influenza and died on Monday morning.

The Right Dentifrice Won't Cause Sore Throat

If you want to be sure that any persistent throat or nose irritation is not being caused by your dentifrice, use one without drugs. Ask your doctor about it.

Naturally, the teeth and gums are no less susceptible to this misapplication of drugs than the throat and nose. The whole matter suggests caution, and more and more people every day are wary of the risk involved.

They prefer instead the complete dental safety of Dr. Lyon's which contains no drugs and no risk. It cleans the teeth thoroughly and so preserves them. And cleaning the teeth with Dr. Lyon's also polishes and makes them white. That's as far as a dentifrice can go safely—or you can go safely.

THE WAY OF DELIVERANCE.

MAXIMILIAN HARDEN should have written the German note of Oct. 21. He is the one man in the German Empire who boldly faces the truth and points to the only source from which light can come to dispel the darkness which Cardinal HARTMANN, Archbishop of Cologne, says has settled over Germany. To his great audience in Berlin HARDEN said on Sunday:

> We are alone. When a fortress can no longer hold, it is no dishonor if the commander surrenders. The Kaiser must take up his cross of concluding quickly necessary peace and accepting whatever is hard. Let the Kaiser declare himself ready and let him fit himself with new Germany as her first citizen.

The actual compilers of the note see what HARDEN sees, that Germany is alone. They make no mention of their "brave allies." Austria and Turkey are left to shift for themselves. It is to the German people that they beseech President WILSON to be merciful, approving nothing irreconcilable with their "honor," leaving open the way to "a peace of justice."

MAXIMILIAN HARDEN points out the way, the beginning of the way to a permanent peace of justice. Let the Kaiser take up his cross, which means let him take off his crown, and "fit himself with new Germany as her first citizen." That would be a direct and understandable answer to Mr. WILSON'S demand to be informed as to the hand that dictates all these notes from Berlin; that would remove from his post of power the great disturber of the world's peace who separately, secretly, and of his own single choice has plotted against the safety and freedom of nations. We could then take measures for the better behavior of the German people.

OUR NAVY'S WORK OVERSEAS.

If our people, as Assistant Secretary of the Navy ROOSEVELT says, have known nothing of the activities of the service in Atlantic and European waters beyond the performance of its duty to furnish convoys, to hunt enemy submarines, and to be ready for a call to battle at the big British base, they have remained in ignorance because the department has thought fit to be reticent about a great many other matters.

Mr. ROOSEVELT, who returned recently from England and France, now raises the curtain, with the assent of Secretary DANIELS, and shows the navy doing a giant's work other than convoying, submarine chasing, and training for a sea fight, if the Germans ever come out again.

The story could not be told before because the work was still going on, and to say anything about it would have been to give information to the enemy. There was the northern mine barrage to make it hazardous for the German submarines to navigate the passage around Scotland. In the preparation and laying of mines the Americans took a prominent part; but for their toilsome labors and their dexterity the enterprise would not have been successful in checking the enemy's raids before the end of Summer. The British reckoned confidently that the mine field in the wide northern passage would be almost as effective as the nets and traps that had so often foiled the Germans in the English Channel. But the mine barrage was a tremendous undertaking. Mr. ROOSEVELT lets some light in on its difficulties when he says that several American bases were established on the coast to facilitate the laying of mines. To save transportation by water, the Americans undertook to construct a pipe line for oil across Scotland, this being a work they were apt at and could do more quickly than the British ally. What hustlers those American naval men must have shown themselves to be!

An enterprise that appeals more to the imagination was the construction of a chain of aviation stations along the Atlantic French coast, "all the way," says Mr. ROOSEVELT, "from the Spanish border clear around to the English Channel." This work was done "almost entirely by our sailors"—that is to say, it was practically an American job from first to last. On that part of the French coast is the "American port" where our soldiers are landed. It was therefore necessary to patrol the coast waters warily from the air. "We have established aviation stations so spaced," says Mr. ROOSEVELT, "that the entire coast is covered by seaplanes and dirigibles." The result is that from fifty miles out to the port of debarkation transports are well protected. The torpedoing of any ship under the American flag is now of rare occurrence.

But this does not complete the list of American naval activities. On the Belgian coast there are American aviation units which co-operate with the French, British, and Belgian. These flying men were engaged in bombing Ostend and Zeebrugge until the Germans were forced to evacuate them by the advance of the Belgians and their allies. An American naval force is co-operating with the British at Gibraltar in convoying vessels through the Strait and giving them a safe start in either direction. Nor must the splendid work of American naval units in the Adriatic be overlooked. From that quarter we have recently heard of the sinking of two enemy submarines by our alert and venturesome patrol.

This diversified work by our navy in the European zones calls for many ships, on the water and in the air, and for the energies of scores of thousands of men. If there has been some mystification about what our hugely expanded establishment was doing, it has been cleared away by the Assistant Secretary's limited but still sufficient exposition.

RECREATIONS OF A REFORMER.

The gentle heart of MATHIAS ERZBERGER has been wrung again. Something is always touching that tender organ. Only a few days ago it was the sad fate of the women and children drowned on the torpedoed Leinster, and of the last batch of civilians deported from Lille before the city was retaken. For neither of these fatalities was the Government in which this distinguished Christian and patriot holds the position of Minister without portfolio in any way responsible; the Leinster passengers, if we believe the gentle MATHIAS, were the victims of the hand of destiny; the civilians at Lille of the Allies' will to war. Before GOD and history the Erzbergerian conscience is clean.

The latest bereavement of this man of sorrows comes a little closer home. A Swiss court has just imposed prison sentences on an Italian deserter and a Swiss consular agent who were conducting on the neutral soil of Switzerland a branch of the "terrorist section" of the German Foreign Office, doing its industrious best to stir up revolution in Italy. Among their paraphernalia were bombs and infernal machines, and revolutionary pamphlets printed in Berlin at the office of La Paix, an international pacifist paper of which ERZBERGER was director. With the right hand our prophet of democracy helps to set up in Germany a "popular" government that may perhaps be a good enough Morgan for the present need; with the left hand he strives for peace by the bomb in France and Italy. Not a very large leopard, this ERZBERGER, but the spots will take a great deal of whitewash.

THE GERMAN PEOPLE.

There seems to be a misunderstanding in Germany, and perhaps in some parts of America, too, about what the United States means when it talks about "the German people." It seems to consist in the idea that we regard the German people as an aggregation of saints, who have gone wrong because they had wicked leaders. That is not at all the view we take of the people who struck off and wore medals to commemorate the sinking of the Lusitania, or of the people to whom the sacred vessels of churches were boxed up and sent home as acceptable loot.

We are not so enamored of the German people that we shall give them carte blanche to start another invasion of Belgium as soon as they recover from this war. It will not suffice for them to say, in justification of such an invasion: "It's all right; don't you see we are not an autocracy, but the thrice-blessed German people?" Neither are we or our allies at all inclined to let the German people adopt a responsible parliamentary government which shall have for its aim the building up of a system of militarism which shall avoid the mistakes of the autocratic system, become infinitely more dangerous, and be irresistible when, say, it sets forth to colonize and conquer Brazil.

We shall not be much more pleased by the individuals whom we may have to meet on future occasions than we should be if we had to meet the Potsdam conspirators, for we are well aware that the German people hysterically applauded the Potsdam conspirators, imagining vainly that the plot of July 5, 1914, would make everybody in Germany rich; and we know, too, that the German people, so far as they could, made haste to make themselves particeps criminis in the plot. But we would rather deal with them than with the Guy Fawkeses who lurked about the Potsdam palace on that July 5 and turned the world into a shambles, because we shall then "know with whom we are dealing."

The German Government is given to wailing over what it believes to be the fact that in insisting on talking about the form of the German Government we are trying to interfere with "the internal affairs of Germany," and to protesting with anguish that Germany has the "same right to self-determination" as other peoples. But we, and the Allies, are not profoundly interested in the particular form of government that Germany has now or may have tomorrow, except in so far as it comes into contact with us. No German can recall that before the war any citizen of any other country was ever eagerly proposing the downfall of Hohenzollernism; it was not a thing which concerned such citizens, and it does not concern them now, except when they come to do business with it. It is immaterial to them if the Germans see fit to have themselves governed by a Sultan, or a Khédive, or by the devil himself. That is for Germany to say. Only, we are not going to do business with the devil, or the Kaiser either, because we have no means of holding them to their contracts, and we do not trust their words. That is the interest we have in the matter; we certainly have not acquired such a vast love for the German people that we are making war so that they can taste the delights of a better government. We are making war because, whenever their masked plotters at Potsdam think fit to make a border foray, they, the German people, obediently follow the signal of "Boots and saddles."

Whether the German people or the German Kaiser rule in Germany, there are some things they have got to do. Mr. BALFOUR told them a long time ago what the things were. "Reparation, restitution, guarantees for the future."

SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN AND THE BALTIC.

The restoration of the Duchies of Schleswig and Holstein to Denmark is more than a question of the violation of treaties and of the rights of small nationalities. It has a vital connection with the Polish question. Upon its right decision depends the freedom of the Baltic Sea. An independent Poland, with access to the sea, must include East and West Prussia and the port of Danzig. For more than three hundred years before the first partition of Poland, Danzig was a free city under Polish protection, substantially a Polish city. Prussia grabbed it, let it remain as nominally a free city until the third partition in 1793. In 1815 the Congress of Vienna gave it back to Prussia.

A reconstituted Poland cannot be independent, must be bound economically to the Central Powers, unless it possesses Danzig. It is noticeable that the inventors of that phantom "autonomous" Poland, to be exploited by the Central Powers, have studiously tried to persuade the Poles that East and West Prussia are not necessary to a united Poland. It has even been proposed to build a canal to the Black Sea by way of the Vistula, San and Dniester, connecting Danzig and Odessa. Thus, to the north and to the south, Poland would find outlets—subject to the Central Powers—for its agricultural and industrial products. To the Scandinavian countries the same bait was offered. Why had they been so lukewarm toward Germany? Here she was, ready to provide for them, as well as for a Poland living happily by the side of East and West Prussia, a great waterway of prosperity.

The fact is that the Baltic is merely a German lake. So long as Germany controls the Kiel Canal, which runs through Holstein, from the Baltic to the North Sea, the Baltic is a closed sea. The canal was built for military purposes. So long as it remains in German hands Germany is master of the Baltic. A Poland of which Danzig was the port would have a mere exit to the Baltic, but no security of exit from the Baltic. Finland, the Russian Baltic Provinces, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, on the west side of the canal Holland, have a cardinal interest in the freedom of the Baltic. So has Great Britain as a great maritime power. So has every other seafaring nation.

The Kiel Canal should be neutralized. Not only Schleswig, but Holstein, through which the canal runs, should be given back to Denmark, who was robbed of them by Prussia and Austria in 1864. Prussia robbed her fellow robber of them in 1866. A provision in the Treaty of Prague between Austria and Prussia in 1866 provided for a plebiscite. The people were to choose whether they would be Danes or Germans. There has never been any doubt as to the wish of the Danes of Schleswig. In this war they have had to fight, as so many Prussian Poles and Alsace-Lorrainers have had to fight, for a cause they hate. The case is the same with many, probably with most, of the Holstein Germans outside of the official class. Fifty-odd years ago the Holsteiners would probably have preferred the independence of the Duchy to allegiance to either Denmark or Prussia. The war, their past and present hardships and sufferings, the certainty that, for a long time after the peace, their taxes will be unbearable and they will not be allowed to emigrate, have turned their hearts and hopes eagerly toward reunion with Denmark.

That reunion will be not only an act of justice and reparation, of obedience to the voice of nationality, the choice, by the people of Schleswig and Holstein, of the government by which they wish to be ruled. It will insure that the Baltic shall be an open sea.

THE CONQUERED SUBMARINE.

Germany will gain nothing by her orders "precluding the torpedoing of passenger ships." In the first place, Germany thereby entitles herself to nothing more than would be given to a murderer who stopped his murdering. It would still remain for justice to say what should be the punishment for the murders done. Moreover, her pledge is limited to passenger ships, of which there are few; it should have included all classes save ships of war. Will she still sink hospital ships without warning? Secondly, Germany did not stop torpedoing passenger ships until the weapon had failed her murderous will. The Belgian coast can no longer be used as the lairs of these weapons of wickedness which other nations disdain to use even in reprisal. And on the very day that Germany confessed her crime in this respect by rescinding the orders from the all highest sources our shipyards "delivered" 77,150 tons of new shipping as the output of a single week. The submarines have been both outfought and outbuilt.

The proportion of submarines put out of action is far above the proportion of shipping made useless. And the production of new ships is greater than the sinkings by the submarines. In no recent week have the submarines sunk fourteen ships, which number was delivered to our Shipping Board last week, according to the report published yesterday. The launchings are more numerous than the deliveries for service, and we have not yet experienced the full capacity of the shipyards which we had to build before we could build ships.

This is only our record. England approximates our ship production, and even claims that, including repairs to disabled or worn shipping, which is nearly all done on the other side of the ocean, she does more for the allied cause than we do. It is a generous rivalry in the best of causes. If England still maintains the lead she won by generations of experience, she soon must succumb to our greater supplies of material and men for the work.

The combined activities of the Allies in fighting and building leave no doubt that the "bridge to PERSHING" nears completion. It was sufficient to supply all that was needed to procure the victories in the field which are bearing fruit in the concessions of the Berlin high command. If the Allies could smash the Hindenburg line and begin their promenade through Belgium despite the submarines, can there be the remnant of a doubt even in Germany that they will go where they wish and do what they wish with whoever may oppose their wills, now that the submarines can no longer use Ostend and Zeebrugge? If Germany was beaten with the submarines, she has not even a fighting chance now.

There is no defeat like the defeat of a foul fighter. A knockout under the rules may be no disgrace, but a knockout when forbidden weapons drop from powerless hands is fatal. For such a fighter there is no other day. Honorable fighters will not meet him, and the ring is closed against him. Germany has lost her place in the sun because she has lost the favor of law-abiding nations. The iron ring around her which hindered her political growth was merely the right of other nations to their own property, and offered no check to honest German commerce. That iron ring now must be handcuffs for the thief among nations which did not restrain its covetousness. A statesman of an earlier generation did not know how to indict a whole people. Our generation is about to show that it knows how to put an entire nation out of the robber industry.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Danger Wholly Imaginary.

It would be interesting to know just why the Right Rev. CHARLES GORE, the Bishop of Oxford, now on a visit to this country, thought it necessary, or at any rate judicious, in addressing the Boston Federation of Churches, this week, to utter a warning against "an overdevelopment of the military system."

It was a very gentle warning, apparently, and to it was immediately added an admission, or rather an assertion, that of course there must be enough development of the military system among the Entente nations to make peace with victory certain. Naturally, nobody wants our militarism developed beyond that point, but where has Dr. GORE seen in the countries of the Allies anything to warrant a fear, or even a suspicion, that a dangerous love of soldiering, of war, is manifesting itself?

Certainly not in the United States. Dr. GORE can see here, indeed, no end of enthusiasm for carrying through the task of which we have assumed our proper share. He can see that we have a full appreciation of the men who have gone or are going to the front, and that those of us who must remain at home are doing what we can—in most cases all we can—to hasten the success of the great undertaking. But of "militarism," in the accepted sense of that word—in the sense of a subordination of civilian to military power—there is not a trace in this country and none has been reported from the civilized parts of Europe.

There has been less than little in this war to create a love of war, as war, or a distaste for peace, as peace, and Dr. GORE would have to search for a long time to find in our new armies even one man whose most eager desire is not to fight the thing through to the right end and have done with a miserable and repulsive business for which the only justification is necessity. The imposition on us of that necessity by the Germans ranks high among our grievances against them.

The soldiers in our streets do not assume the air of superior beings—they do not swagger or push anybody off the sidewalk or inspire the Young Person with terror. Instead, they are quite the gentlest mannered element of the population, and their demeanor is a constant lesson in courtesy and kindness to the folk who are not in uniform. The good Bishop's worry is needless. Probably it is professional rather than personal.

A Fearful Risk Was Taken.

If the Germans were just a little more consistent in their anachronism—if the arrest of their development had left their minds wholly, instead of in great part, like those of their ancestors whose achievements as brigands and pirates they set out in 1914 so ambitiously to emulate—they would not have far to look for an explanation of the sad state in which their army and their country now are. One that would have been called excellent in their part of Europe—and in most other parts of it, for that matter—would be forcing itself on their attention, and they would be blaming their own rash folly, not the malice of their enemies, for what has happened.

And it is not for lack of warning that they have come to this pass. When the great wooden statue of General HINDENBURG was first erected and the Berliners and other Germans were allowed and incited to buy the privilege of driving nails into it, they were solemnly reminded that few beliefs were more firmly established in the good old days, and few had their truth better confirmed by the testimony and experience of more people, than the belief that such treatment of an image would be disastrous to the person whom it resembled or after whom it was named.

That General HINDENBURG has not suffered as much as he would have done had the nails been driven into himself instead of his effigy is only in seeming contradiction of the old theory. For that effigy represented himself less than it did Germany in arms—the Germany of which he was then and for long the chosen hero and embodiment—the Germany of force and the sword and of might as a substitute for right. Naturally it is Germany, and not the General, that has winced and weakened every time one of those nails was driven.

Of course this explanation of Germany's plight will not meet with much acceptance outside of that country, but inside of the Fatherland it should be credited with a more than possible validity. At any rate, there is quite as much reason for doing so as for holding, as the Germans do, to many another belief of about the same age and respectability, and who are they to pick and choose among the superstitions of the Middle Ages, clinging to some of them and casting aside others fully as well founded?

Did Germany Start the Reformation?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Mr. Morgenthau, in his speech on Oct. 18, said:

"Let us not forget that the one event which has perhaps done most to emancipate mankind from tyranny, the Reformation, started in Germany. While we remember that Frederick the Great and Bismarck were Germans, let us not forget that Martin Luther was a German also."

But this is just an example of the way the world has been misled by German teaching. The Reformation did not start in Germany, nor was it started by Luther. He died in 1546. It was as early as 1415 that John Hus was martyred at Constance, and Hus was a Bohemian—he is, in fact, the chief glory of the Czech nation. John Wyclif was an Englishman, and he died earlier still—in 1384.

The Albigenses flourished in the thirteenth century, and they were French. The Waldensians arose in the twelfth century, and they were French, too. The great thinker who laid the foundations of the Reformation on its ecclesiastical side was Marsiglio of Padua, 1275-1342, who was an Italian. Curiously enough, the earliest beginnings of theological Protestantism came, like the Hussites, from Slavdom—from Bulgaria and Serbia, where Bogomil and his disciples taught a doctrine rather like that of Tolstoy, which became dominant also in Bosnia and Herzegovina, till the Ottoman invasion overthrew this primitive Jugoslav Protestantism.

San Marino's Men at the Front.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The smallest nation at war with Germany and Austria is the Republic of San Marino, the oldest independent State of Europe, situated in the middle of Italy. Out of a population of nearly 9,000, from the peak of the three-pointed mountain, nearly 900 men went to the Italian front to fight the battles for freedom and liberty. Therefore San Marino is at war, not diplomatically only but with her little army. Why, then, does her gallant flag not fly from some window on the Avenue of the Allies?

WHO COUNSELS PEACE?

[Written by Robert Southey in 1814.]

Who counsels peace at this momentous hour,
When God has given deliverance to the oppressed
And to the injured power?
Who counsels peace, when Vengeance, like a flood,
Rolls on, no longer now to be repressed
When innocent blood
From the four corners of the world cries out
For justice upon the accursed head;
When Freedom hath her holy banners spread
Over all nations, now in one just cause United; when with one sublime accord
Europe throws off the yoke abhorred,
And loyalty and faith and ancient laws
Follow the avenging sword?

SONG OF VICTORY.

Gone are the long, long nights of dread,
Gone are the days of weeping.
Awake, awake, ye mighty dead!
Wherefore are ye sleeping?
See, fading in the stormy West
The evil fires of warning!
And see!—the Eastern sky is bright
With promise of the morning!

Awake, press on, the hour is nigh,
And Victory your battle cry!

They died for this! Oh, never doubt
For them the dawn is breaking!
At Victory's triumphant shout
The shattered earth is waking.
O living hearts, be worthy these
Strong hearts in silence sleeping,
And peace will bless the earth again,
And joy be born of weeping.

Look up! The long, long night is gone,
And Victory is leading on!

CRITICS OF WILSON ASSAILED BY SMITH

Democratic Candidate for Governor Opens Campaign with Plea for United Nation.

HITS AT COL. ROOSEVELT

Lodge, New, Fess, and Madden Also Accused of Failing to Stand Behind the President.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Opening his up-State campaign here tonight successfully, despite the fact that the influenza epidemic kept many away, Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for Governor, aimed his opening gun against critics of the National Administration. Among the Republican leaders whom he used as targets were Colonel Roosevelt, Senators Lodge and New, and Representatives Fess and Madden.

Arriving here shortly before 6 o'clock Mr. Smith scarcely had time to greet admirers, eat and then go to the Lyceum Theatre, where the meeting was held. He was met at the station by Chester Platt, County Chairman, and a score of Democratic leaders from neighboring cities. With the Gubernatorial candidate were: Mayor Walker of Binghamton, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, who also addressed tonight's meeting, and Dr. Walker Weir of the Democratic State Committee.

An exceedingly optimistic outlook on the election result was presented to Mr. Smith by the up-State leaders who reported here tonight. Asserting that the registration had fallen far below expectation in the Southern Tier of counties, admittedly normally Republican by good margins, the Democratic leaders saw Whitman coming down to the Harlem leading Smith by the scantiest of margins. According to Mayor Walker, the Republican majorities in the Southern Tier will be reduced anywhere from 30 to 40 per cent.

Dean James E. Creighton of the Cornell School of Philosophy, who presided at tonight's meeting, introduced Mr. Smith, who opened his speech with a plea for the election of Democratic Congressmen and for the election of the State ticket as an indication of approval of President Wilson's war policies. Continuing, he said:

"There are two classes of men, candidates for public office, that are seeking election or re-election in the belief that they are standing behind the President. One class is the men that belong to the President's party, really believe in him and appreciate his confidence in them. The other the men that seeks to benefit themselves by declaring with him, and at the same time those men are doing what they can to find fault with him and with his policies to the end that they may lay the foundation for the 1920 campaign against him.

"When the President sent his note to Germany, at that moment above all, the rank and file of the American people should be at his shoulder with all the strength and vigor they possess. Instead of that we find the newspapers circulating the comment of Republican National legislators against the action of the President somewhat after this fashion:

"Senator Lodge said: I am keenly disappointed that the President should at this time enter into a discussion with the Imperial German Government."

"Senator New said: The reply is not what the people either expected or desired."

"Congressman Foss said: We are disappointed."

"Congressman Madden replied: It would be a mistake to have an armistice, even if the German armies were withdrawn."

"There is no disguising the fact that all this criticism comes from Republican sources. We need no better example than the ex-President of the United States himself, the chief critic of President Wilson in this country, who declared at the Republican conference at Saratoga last July, that the War Department was inefficient. That statement was made notwithstanding the fact that America has sent out 2,000,000 men in the field. Turning to the situation in this State as he sees it, Mr. Smith pointed out that from $40,000,000 in the last Democratic year the budget had mounted to $81,000,000 and combated Governor Whitman's assertion that the increase had been due to war defense expenditures. He also condemned his opponent for failing, as he said, to give an explanation of the expenditure of appropriations granted the Department of Agriculture for the hiring of farm labor specialists.

Mr. Smith also paid his respects to what he evidently thought were unsavory conditions in the Highways Department and, concluding his speech with a resume of legislation he had introduced at Albany in the interest of women and children, said:

"I do not believe that the women in the upper part of this State, after they read the record, will vote against me because it happened to be a member of the Democratic party in the largest county in the State."

Preceding Mr. Smith, Mayor Walker also rapped the critics of the President's policies, and urged that Democratic victory in this State would be interpreted as indorsing the President's record to date.

He referred to Roosevelt's Spanish war plea for nonpartisanship and the danger of overturning any administration in the war as proof that such a course today would be unwise. Discussing the dangers that an indirect reproof to the President might have on peace negotiations, Mayor Walker said:

"The same situation was used by Benjamin Harrison, then ex-President, when he said in substance that if the word went forth that the people of the United States are standing solidly behind the President, the task of the Peace Commissioners will be easy, but if there is a break in the ranks Spain will see a gleam of hope and a renewal of hostilities and more war may be necessary to secure us what we have already won."

There were about 600 at tonight's meeting. Mr. Smith, accompanied by Mayor Walker, will speak tomorrow night in Syracuse, and during the day will confer with Democratic State Headquarters there.

COLER TO GUARD POLLS.

Will Put Vigilantes at Work—Schiff Out for Smith.

Democratic vigilantes will be on guard everywhere up-State on Election Day to prevent fraudulent voting and a fraudulent count of the ballots. Bird S. Coler, Commissioner of Charities in the Hylan administration and Democratic candidate for State Controller, started on an up-State tour yesterday, in the course of which he expects to organize this force. His mission was the result of reports received at Democratic State Headquarters in Syracuse.

According to these reports, registration lists were being padded in rural districts where no personal registration is required. The Democratic leaders up-State suspect an attempt to play the vote in the rural districts where Democrats are few in ordinary years, against the vote in the up-State cities, where Alfred E. Smith, they say, has made heavy inroads on the Republican strength among the industrial workers and the liberal element in the Governor's own party.

This year, the Democrats assert, conditions favor such an attempt. In the more populous communities where personal registration is required the Spanish influenza epidemic, in which the Republican leaders see a powerful and effective ally, has left the registration figures at a much lower level than they should be with the women voting. In the rural districts, on the other hand, where no personal registration is required and the voting register for the year is made up by copying the names from the lists of other years, with the necessary addition of new voters, the epidemic, as a matter of course, has had no effect on registration. Hence in the cities and larger communities where the Democrats have some strength many voters otherwise qualified will be unable to vote because sickness kept them from registering, while in the rural districts many who were ill during the registration period will be in a position to vote anyway.

"The people have not forgotten the outrageous manner in which I was counted out by the Republicans sixteen years ago," said Commissioner Coler before starting. "The same sort of tactics may be attempted but cannot be repeated this year with safety, especially in view of the new Federal law which President Wilson signed last week. I do not know whether I will be permitted to make speeches up the State or not, but I certainly can make arrangements to have the count of the vote watched."

Republican State headquarters in this city announced that the banner up-State registration reported yesterday was by Westchester County. There the vote for Governor two years ago was 52,880, which gave Governor Whitman a plurality of 13,000 in round numbers. The registration this year in Westchester is 88,021, which the Republicans say will give Governor Whitman an 18,000 majority if the vote divides on the lines that prevailed in the Gubernatorial election two years ago. Here are some other up-State registration figures, compared with the vote for Governor in the same localities two years ago:

	Reg. 1918.	Vote 1916
Syracuse	50,731	34,195
Elmira	15,147	10,443
Watertown	7,622	6,047
Geneva	4,018	2,529
Canandaigua	2,864	1,783
Delhi	1,720	923

Jacob H. Schiff strongly indorsed Alfred E. Smith in the following letter:

Dear Mr. Smith: My friend, Ambassador Elkus, has expressed the hope that I could see my way to assure you of my support in the coming State campaign, in which you are a candidate for the Governorship.

Though I have not the advantage of knowing you personally, and while I am an independent in politics, I am thoroughly convinced, from having followed and carefully looked into your record in public office, that, if elected to the high office you seek to attain, the affairs of the State would be faithfully and efficiently administered by you, and that you would strive to justify the confidence imposed in you by the people of the State of New York.

As far as I am able to exert any influence I shall gladly give you my entire support in the forthcoming election. Faithfully yours, JACOB H. SCHIFF.

The Hon. Alfred E. Smith, City Hall, New York City.

Mr. Smith also received indorsements from Mrs. Ella O'Gorman Stanton, New York State Vice Chairman of the National Democratic League, and Miss Mary L. Chamberlain, social worker and investigator who was connected with the State Factory Commission when Mr. Smith was its Vice Chairman. Both praised him for his zeal as a member of that body and as a lawmaker in the interest of humanitarian legislation. George A. Glynn, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, on the other hand, made public a statement in which he declared that the legislative record of the Democratic nominee did not justify the belief that if elected he would conduct an administration free from Murphy influences.

It was announced yesterday that Mr. Smith would deliver his message to women voters at a meeting to be held in the afternoon of Nov. 2, the Saturday before election—in some theatre not yet selected. His address will be illustrated with moving pictures reflecting phases of his work as member of the Factory Commission for the emancipation of industrial workers and the improvement of conditions under which they labor. Governor Whitman has called off his Schenectady meeting, scheduled for next Monday. He will speak that evening at the Astoria Casino in Long Island City instead. Tonight the Governor will speak before the North Side Republican Club in the Bronx at 2,661 Third Avenue.

PELL REPLIES TO TANNER.

Democratic Candidate for Congress Asks About Sherman and Mann.

Herbert C. Pell, Jr., Democratic candidate for Congress from the Seventeenth Congressional District, made a reply yesterday to the letter addressed to him by Frederick C. Tanner, Republican candidate in the same district, which was published in the newspapers yesterday morning. Mr. Pell's letter follows:

New York, Oct. 22, 1918.

Frederick C. Tanner, Esq., No. 1 Madison Avenue, New York City:

Dear Mr. Tanner: Apparently you think it proper because we are running for Congress against each other to publish in the newspapers a letter to me before I have had opportunity to answer it. I have not yet become accustomed to the method, but I suppose it is all right.

In effect you charge Congressman Kitchin and Congressman Dent with obstructing those measures and policies of President Wilson. Without debating, as I might, the correctness of that charge, I answer the question of your letter by saying that, if elected to Congress, I propose to do all I can to uphold all of the measures and policies of President Wilson, and to oppose any one, be he Republican or Democrat, who takes an opposite course. The one point of difference that existed with the administration of the United States Army and with the course taken by the Committees on Military Affairs in the Senate and House, and to have been the Kaiser himself, together with certain politicians on this side of the water of whom you now would seem to be one. The record of the present Congress, working together with the present Executive, has resulted in the most miraculous achievement of modern times, namely, forming, arming, equipping and sending 4,000 miles away practically 2,000,000 soldiers since the war broke out.

So here is hoping that I, as well as yourself, may survive the acid test that you propose:

Meanwhile, referring to the beam in the eye of my brother candidate, I would ask you what attitude you would adopt if elected, should you meet your fellow-Republican, Lawrence Sherman, from your own native State of Illinois, and now representing that State in the Senate, who viewed the United States' entrance into the war as having "bought into a bankrupt firm?" Should you meet your own Republican leader in the House, Mr. James R. Mann, also from your own native State, would you salute him as the ideal person to replace Mr. Claude Kitchin?

Meanwhile may I also, even if I descend to personalities, ask you what part you had in forming the boundaries of this Seventeenth Congressional District, eighty-five blocks long and never more than five blocks wide, so that it looks like a tuning fork and comes out as expert a piece of gerrymandering as has happened in our day and generation. Apparently my worthy opponent, who has come to our State comparatively recently, is teaching some of us old New Yorkers more than we ever knew before. I am, yours very sincerely,

HERBERT C. PELL, Jr.

Howard Taylor, Mr. Pell's campaign manager, said, after Mr. Pell had given out the letter, that he and Mr. Pell hoped to keep Mr. Tanner interested for the remainder of the campaign. In keeping Mr. Tanner interested, Mr. Taylor said he hoped also to keep deeply interested the electorate of the Seventeenth Congressional District.

PERSHING TO "FOOD ARMY."

General Says Aid in Home Fields Helps Win the War

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—General Pershing has sent a letter of appreciation to the farmers of America, who, he says, have not only supplied their quota of fighting men and bought largely of Liberty bonds, but have increased crops both last year and this over one thousand million bushels above normal production.

The letter, addressed to Carl Vrooman, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, and made public here by the Committee on Public Information, says:

Food is of vital necessity, and from the day of our entry into the war America's army of food producers have rendered invaluable service to the allied cause by supporting the soldiers at the front through their devoted and splendidly successful work in the fields and furrows at home."

TAMMANY THE ISSUE DECLARES WHITMAN

Governor Opens His Campaign for Re-election with Four Speeches in This City.

ASSAILS SMITH AND TIGER

Declares Republicans Have Supported President and Asks, "Shall Albany Be Run from 14th St.?"

Opening his campaign for re-election in this city last night Governor Charles S. Whitman spoke at four meetings stretching from Harlem to the east side. Each hall where the Governor spoke was well filled and although old-time political enthusiasm was lacking, the Governor was cheered upon his arrival and his remarks were applauded, especially when he told what New York State had done in the way of backing up President Wilson's war policies. Saving the State from Tammany Hall the Governor declared to be the only issue in the campaign this year.

The Governor started his speechmaking at Carleton Hall, 109 West Twenty-seventh Street. Women made up at least a quarter of the crowd that comfortably filled the building. The Governor in talking of the war said that neither party had a monopoly on patriotism, but that the Republican State Administration had done everything possible to uphold the hands of the President.

"We are not boasting of what we have done," said the Governor, "but we have the right to say that we have done the things that we were elected to do. The Democrats ask to have us voted out of power, but I challenge any man to point to any one thing that has not been done in the interest of winning the war or to any act of the Governor or any member of his administration that has not been entirely in support of the Federal Government's conduct of the war. I challenge my opponent to name any failure on the part of any member of my administration to perform any act it was his duty to perform for the nation and the holy cause to which the people are committed."

Getting down to the campaign, the Governor said that the only issue before the people this Fall had been before them for many years.

Danger to the State.

"The only question to be submitted to the voters," he said, "is, shall the power that has managed to get its grasp on the city, that has been termed an organized appetite, reach above the limits of the city, and gather in the whole State. You know what Tammany Hall has stood for and what its leaders have been and it is not possible that you have forgotten its record when it had control of the State. Tammany has had three Governors of the State in four years. There was Dix, who was refused a renomination; Sulzer who was impeached, and Glynn who was repudiated by the people.

"And the man who was leader of the Assembly during this time now asks the city to forget it all and put Tammany back into power because Tammany Hall has been removed to Syracuse. It didn't move the candidate with it, either.

"During the four years Tammany was in power in the State it furnished the worst Government the State has ever known, and now it has the brazen effrontery to ask that it be sent back in order to support Woodrow Wilson during the war."

The Governor declared that no one had supported the President of the United States more loyally or more faithfully or constantly than the

CRACK COLLEGE ELEVENS TO BOOM WAR FUND

LEADING COLLEGES READY TO AID FUND

Rutgers, Georgia Tech, and Penn Anxious to Arrange Big Games for Drive.

QUAKERS MAY PLAY HERE

Philadelphia Football Eleven Is Willing to Meet Either Yale, Harvard, or Princeton.

Eastern colleges are beginning to fall over each other to aid in the drive for the Soldiers' War Fund, which is to be a part of sports' contribution during the week of Nov. 11 to 18. Reports from Rutgers College yesterday were that Foster Sanford was ready and anxious to have Rutgers play any place, any time and any team selected, and Rutgers was further willing to see to it that there would be no expense attached to its side of the spectacle.

Local alumni of Georgia Tech, the undefeated Atlanta champions, began pulling every conceivable wire to interest those in charge of the sport drive in hopes that the Golden Tornado could be turned loose upon some Eastern colleges eleven. Like Rutgers, Georgia Tech insists that it is willing to play at any time and anywhere against any kind of opposition.

Rutgers has games scheduled on the first three Saturdays of November, but is not averse to meeting either Georgia Tech or Pittsburgh in a war fund game on Nov. 23. Rutgers alumni and undergraduates would like to have such a game arranged for New York, but the team is willing that those in charge of the drive shall decide where the game is to be played.

It is doubtful if Georgia Tech and Rutgers can be brought together, since the War Department has decreed that no members of the colleges engaged in war training shall be away from their studies for more than forty-eight hours. This would not give the Atlants team time enough to make the trip North and return. However, friends of the movement and the Georgia Tech alumni are ready to go to Washington in behalf of the Southern eleven and try to gain a furlough of at least one day more than the regulations call for.

It seems certain now that Rutgers will be one of the football attractions arranged for New York, and if Georgia Tech is unable to make the trip Pittsburgh may be brought here to play the Sanford eleven. Any intersectional game of such magnitude would attract a big crowd.

William W. Roper, Secretary of the War Fund Committee, stopped off in Philadelphia yesterday while on his way to Washington to arrange with the War Department officials to handle the sports drive, and he talked with Pennsylvania officials about a game for Philadelphia. Penn was entirely willing to do its share, but balked at the proposition of turning over its proceeds from the Penn-Pittsburgh game. Instead Penn officials suggested that a game should be arranged between the Quakers and Princeton, Yale, or Harvard. If such a game were arranged Penn would be willing that it be played in New York, Boston, Washington or Philadelphia.

The Quaker authorities pointed out that a contest with either Princeton, Yale, or Harvard opposing Penn to be played in New York the latter part of November, would result in a much larger contribution than the Pittsburgh-Penn game could hope to raise. And it was shown that such a game could be arranged virtually with no expenses. Penn, it was stated, would be willing to extend its schedule one first Saturday in December in order to make this donation to the fund.

In the local movement to bring Georgia Tech North to play either Rutgers, Pennsylvania or Pittsburgh, Y. P. Freeman a graduate of Georgia Tech, has interested himself. He wired to his former associates in Atlanta and found that Tech students already are worked up about such a proposition and are more than anxious to play. He will go to Washington today to attempt to interest the War Department in the movement.

Georgia Tech has made a football record in the last three years hardly approached by any other team in the country, and that the eleven this season can be rated alongside of those in the past is shown in the results of its first three games, in which the Golden Tornado ran up 269 points and has not been scored on. Tech defeated Clemson 28 to 0, Furman 18 to 0, and Fort Oglethorpe 223 to 0.

Until Mr. Roper gets back from Washington no definite plans about possible games will be concluded. However it is certain that Rutgers will be used for a New York game and that either Pittsburgh or Georgia Tech will be the opponent of the Sanford eleven.

LAYTON IS TWICE VICTOR.

Defeats Harmon in Games of Pocket Billiards Tournament.

John Layton, former champion, won two victories over Charles Harmon, Pennsylvania champion, in yesterday's play of the three-cornered pocket billiard tournament at Maurice Daly's Broadway Academy.

In the afternoon Layton won by a score of 100 to 63 in eleven innings. The victor made a high run of 22, against Harmon's 16.

The Pennsylvania title-holder showed a great improvement in his play in the evening game, but Layton played consistent and emerged on the long end of a 100-to-71 score in twelve innings. Layton's highest run in this game was 33, while Harmon's best effort was 20.

To-day Harmon will oppose Joseph Conesannon, New York State champion, in afternoon and evening matches.

JAPANESE IS CUE VICTOR.

Hirai Triumphs in Straight Rail Billiard Contest.

Two games were played last night in the final round of the A. A. B. A. national Class D straight rail championship at Cranfield's. In one M. Hirai, the Japanese player, who represents Daly's, defeated Dave Waterman of Fuller's by a score of 150 to 50 in fifty-two innings. The Oriental averaged 2 46-52 and made a high run of 26.

James Ferguson of Cranfield's was the victor in the other contest. He defeated A. Pricken of Osborne's by 150 to 40 in twenty-five innings. This gave Ferguson an average of 6, and he had a high run of 31.

Pricken was substituted for J. Moses, who was unable to compete because of his father's critical illness.

Coleman's Cue Working Well.

Hal B. Coleman, Acting Secretary of the A. A. B. A., created a new high average record for the tournament last night in the Riverside handicap 18.2 balk line billiard competition at Gruhn's Broadway Academy, when he defeated John Lang by the score of 250 to 95 in 25 innings. This gave Coleman an average of 10, eclipsing his own previous mark for the tournament of 8 2-31. Coleman made high runs of 40, 35, and 29, while Lang's best runs were 22 and 16.

Blaisdell Gains Final Round.

J. S. Blaisdell will represent Lawler Brothers' Academy, Brooklyn, in the final round of the N. A. A. B. P.'s novice straight rail billiard championship tournament, which will be started within a few days. Blaisdell gained this right through his defeat of J. M. Shea in the play-off of a triple tie in the Brooklyn academy. The score was 100 to 88 in 33 innings. Blaisdell averaged 3 1-33 and had a high run of 17.

COLUMBIA HOPES TO PLAY.

Dawson Expects to Have Game Next Saturday.

Columbia's S. A. T. C. Varsity football team will play the Camp Merritt eleven on South Field on Saturday as originally scheduled unless the influenza situation at the camp becomes more serious than it was yesterday. With this assurance Fred Dawson, coach of the Columbia team, put his first eleven through a long and hard signal drill, concluding with a scrimmage between the Varsity and the scrub.

Dawson was still hopeful that the order sending four of his most promising players to officers' training schools would be withheld long enough to permit him to get his substitutes into fit condition to take their places. Robson, the left tackle, who is one of the four to be recommended for intensive training, was not in the practice and his place was taken by Kinnenger. With the exception of this change there were no shifts in the line, Parkes being back at his regular place at right end. In the back field Memmott and Fred Daly alternated at quarter back and full back while Houlahan and Shaw were the half backs.

Zychlinski, the big fullback of the 1918 team, was in togs for the first time in a week. His leg is still painful, but the bruises that forced him out of practice a week ago have healed sufficiently to permit him to play.

There is still a possibility that Archie Brin, the New York University centre, will be admitted to the S. A. T. C. He has renewed his application, and if it is acceptable he will get his place back in the Varsity squad.

Another new man reported for the team yesterday. He is Bullard, a 185-pound guard, who played at Hackensack High School last year.

The revised football schedule of the team calls for five home games at South Field, with a sixth contest, the opposing team for which has not yet been selected. The schedule, as sanctioned by Lieutenant H. J. Duffy for the Navy and Lieutenant E. C. French for the army, is as follows:

Oct. 26, Camp Merritt; Nov. 2, Amherst; Nov. 9, Union; Nov. 16, Stevens; Nov. 23, New York University; Nov. 30, open.

FORDHAM HAS NEW PLAYERS

Trio of Football Stars Join Maroon Squad.

Fordham's football stock took a big jump yesterday when Ryan, half back of last year's Boston College squad; O'Hare, an All-Scholastic guard of two seasons ago on Fordham Prep team, and Tom Manly, quarter back on the N. Y. U. eleven in 1916, reported to Coach Siskind. Each of these men has had experience on the gridiron. O'Hare, who has joined the naval section of the S. A. T. C. unit, will be a power of strength on the line and will most likely take care of one of the tackle positions.

The other two new men are back field candidates. Ryan, a fast, stockily built youngster, who hails from Maine, was a substitute back on last year's Boston College aggregation. Tom Manly, although at Fordham last year, did not try out for the team. However, this year he has decided to don his football togs. Manly is being tried at quarter back, a position he ably held down at N. Y. U. during the season of 1916 on one of the best teams that represented the Violet in some time. In Gilmartin, Barnes, and Manly the Fordham unit eleven will have three experienced field generals of more than average ability.

Yesterday's practice consisted of a long signal drill and a twenty-minute scrimmage with the scrubs. No scoring was allowed.

MIDDIES DRILLED BY DOBIE.

Navy Gets Ready for Hard Game with Newport.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 22.—There was a long practice at the Naval Academy this afternoon, and Coach Dobie went down the line of end runs, line smashes, and forward pass plays with the idea of perfecting the attack for next Saturday's game against the Newport Training Station eleven. Reports have it that the visitors will be strong and will come to Annapolis prepared to battle the Academy line to pieces.

Dobie has been unfortunate in the frequent changes made necessary by illness and injuries. Ingram, Welchel and Roberts, three of his regular backs, will surely be out of the game Saturday, and Graves, one of the regular ends, will not be available, as he has a bad ankle.

BOXING PROMOTERS NAMED.

Gibson, Harvey, and Doesserick to Handle Local Bouts.

Charles J. Harvey, William Gibson, and Charles Doesserick were yesterday appointed as promoters to handle local boxing shows in the United War Work Campaign drive set for the week of Nov. 11-18. James W. Coffroth, who is at the head of a national boxing committee, announced these selections. Jack Curley will be the wrestling promoter.

Giants Must Repay Club.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 22.—The National Commission today ordered the New York National League Club to return to the Kansas City Club $1,000 which the latter club had paid for the services of Player Middleton. The evidence showed that Middleton had never reported to or signed up with Kansas City, but had quit baseball.

WAR CLOUD VICTOR IN DRIVING FINISH

Macomber Colt Carries High Weight to Triumph in Empire City Fixture.

A. K. Macomber's War Cloud ran another good race yesterday when he picked up 130 pounds in the New Rochelle Handicap at Empire City and defeated a field of four other three-year-olds over the mile route. War Cloud was giving away twenty-two pounds to Kashmir and more to the other competitors, but after it appeared that he was hard pressed in the stretch War Cloud came away again under the careful handling of Loftus, and, though he only won by a neck, appeared to be well in hand.

War Cloud met with a setback right at the start, as he propped when the barrier went up and was in last place as Lady Gertrude winged her way to the front from the inside position. Andrew Miller's Recount took up the pacemaking after rounding the first turn, but meantime Loftus had been letting the top weight run freely, and at the end of the back stretch War Cloud was in the van.

The Cleveland Stable's Matinée Idol was sleigh riding after War Cloud, and on the far turn challenged the leader, while Recount still was hanging on in determined manner. Matinée Idol ranged alongside of War Cloud at the eighth pole, but Loftus applied the whip to the favorite, which came away gamely and reached the finish with a safe lead, but with Matinée Idol and Recount lapped on him.

Edward Arlington's Koh-I-Noor upset a heavily played favorite in Manister Tol in the fifth race at a mile and seventy yards. The filly led all the way, and had a margin of eight lengths at the finish. The crowd gathered around after the race expecting Joe Vendig to bid up the winner, but was disappointed, as the race was not under selling conditions, and for once Mr. Arlington was allowed to keep the purse Koh-I-Noor had won.

PLAN GAMES AFTER PEACE.

Soldiers to be Entertained During Stay in France.

International games modeled along the lines of the Olympic games, open to the soldiers and sailors of the Interallied nations, will be a feature of the demobilization period following the declaration of peace. These contests, which may eventually be a part of the peace celebration at the close of the world war, will be held in Paris, according to a cablegram received at the headquarters of the United War Work Campaign here today.

Work on the plan has already been started by the athletic department of the Y. M. C. A. abroad, and the program will be submitted to General Pershing for his sanction, as well as the commanders of the other armies and navies forming the allied forces. It is realized that the field of welfare work will be greatly widened during the demobilization period, and special efforts will be made to provide entertainment and instruction for the soldiers and sailors after the close of hostilities.

With this in mind those in charge of the work have outlined an extensive campaign, a prominent part of which includes a series of competitions in various branches of sport.

QUAKERS TAKE GOLF CUP.

New York Advertisers Lose Series of Team Matches.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—The victory of Joseph Simpson of Philadelphia over Stanley Newberry of New York in the second round of handicap match play over the eighteen-hole course of the Whitemarsh Valley Country Club today gave the Poor Richard Club permanent possession of the Rodman Wanamaker Cup in the fifth of a series of five team matches with the New York Advertising Club. Teams of eight men played eighteen holes of match play in the morning and finished with the match all square.

In the afternoon, Simpson, who lost the morning round by 1 up, reversed the result, beating the New Yorker 3 and 2. This gave the Poor Richards the match, 4 to 3, one match ending even. Of the five matches played in the series, Poor Richard won 3 and lost 2.

MOORE'S HORSES ARRIVE.

Exhibitor Sends Big String to Annual Show.

Coming from Pride's Crossing, Mass., twenty-eight horses, entered by Judge William H. Moore in the national horse show, beginning Nov. 11 at Madison Square Garden, arrived in New York yesterday and were taken to his private stable in West Fifty-eighth Street. This is the first string of show horses to reach New York for the coming exhibition.

Included in the string were the four gray coach horses, Lord Gray, Lady Gray, Toronto, and General, that have won two legs on the Alfred G. Vanderbilt Memorial Gold Challenge Cup for road four-in-hand teams, and that will compete again this year. C. Campbell Thompson, who won the first competition for the gold cup in 1915, will be one of Judge Moore's principal competitors. He has assembled a brand new team made up of gigantic gray hunters, the wheelers standing 16.2 hands high and the leaders 16.1 hands.

Masters' Tourney Postponed.

Upon request of four competitors who were not prepared to play, the opening round of the international masters' tournament at the Manhattan Chess Club was postponed until today.

This high valuation is due to sound design, best material and extreme care in building, which has been Pierce-Arrow's standard from the start.

PRINCETON GREETS BRITISH EDUCATORS

Historic Nassau Hall Flies Britain's Flag for the First Time Since Revolution.

HIBBEN FORESEES CHANGES

Predicts America Will Turn to Britain and France After the War for Academic Contact.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 22.—For the first time in a century and a half the British flag flew from the staff over Nassau Hall today, on the occasion of the visit of the British University Mission to Princeton. Its members were received and welcomed in the main hall of the old building, where the Continental Congress sat in session during the Revolutionary War. In this hall news was received by the Congress in 1783 of the signing of peace between Great Britain and the United States, and here later Washington received the thanks of the American people expressed in formal resolutions by the Congress.

The British University Mission consists of Arthur Shipley, Vice Chancellor of the University of Cambridge and Master of Christ College; Sir Henry Miers, Vice Chancellor of the University of Manchester; the Rev. Edward N. Walker, Librarian of Queen's College, Oxford; Sir Henry Jones, Professor of Moral Philosophy at Glasgow University, and Dr. John Joly of Trinity College, Dublin.

Guests Review Student Corps.

They were entertained as the guests of Princeton University, visiting the library, the laboratories, and the college buildings. In the afternoon there was a review of all the student-soldiers now being trained here. The entire corps of 2,300, comprising the army, naval, and paymasters schools, and the aviation corps filed past with their bands.

Later a reception was held for the distinguished guests by the university Faculty in the Main Room of Old Nassau Hall. President Hibben presided and welcomed the commission. He spoke of the present relations between Great Britain and the United States, and the great changes that have come about since Britain's flag was hauled down in 1776 and the Continental Congress met in the famous room.

"In the new world after the war," he said, "the relations between the two countries will surely become more intimate and naturally the point of closest contact will be the connecting link between the educational institutions of Great Britain and America. Consequently we interpret this mission as the bright augury of an academic friendship which, flourishing with the years, shall bring forth the fruit of fraternal understanding and reciprocal benefits.

"Germany can no longer be the educational Mecca of the world. American students, even of the generations yet unborn, will instinctively shun the sources of German kultur. They will turn naturally to Great Britain and France for their Old World academic contact. Therefore, we regard welcome the opportunity of bringing Princeton in closer touch with the British universities.

Hopes for Closer Unity.

"It is my desire and hope that we may be able to establish in the near future an exchange professorship whose incumbents not only shall 'speak the tongue which Shakespeare spake, but the faith and morals hold which Milton held'; that also we may see our graduate students going to Great Britain and you in turn coming to us, each finding a home of learning, though in a foreign land, and thus we may mutually profit by frequent interchange of views upon educational aims and methods, thus establishing an international brotherhood of letters.

"You have come to us as allies in war; we would be also friends in peace, and particularly in the pursuits of peace in which we seek together to know the truth, to defend and proclaim it to an awakened world."

President Hibben was followed by Chancellor Shipley, who commented on the fact that he was talking under the British flag, now flying over the building for the first time in almost 150 years. Sir Henry Jones delivered an address on the part that universities would be called upon to play in the future service of the world.

The speechmaking closed with remarks by Dean Andrew F. West of Princeton, who referred to the present and prospective relations between Great Britain and America.

BRISBANE HEARING PUT OFF.

Senate Committee Will Take Up Washington Times Case After Elections.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The inquiry by the Senate Judiciary Committee into the charge of A. Mitchell Palmer, Alien Enemy Property Custodian, that brewers bought the control of The Washington Times, of which Arthur Brisbane is editor, was put off today until Nov. 12 owing to the illness of witnesses. Alexander Konta, who wrote a letter to Dr. Dernburg, the German agent, regarding newspapers that might be bought up, wrote that he was still too ill to appear.

The Senate committee, before going into the investigation in November, will go over a quantity of documents gathered by Major E. Lowry Humes, former United States Attorney at Pittsburgh, now associated with the Judge Advocate General's office, touching upon money paid by brewers in Pennsylvania to influence newspapers. Major Hume has two trunks and a suitcase full of documents, which the committee will read.

Allegations that Mr. Brisbane had been part owner, in 1917, of the Milwaukee Leader, whose editor, Victor Berger, is under indictment for alleged violation of the espionage act, is also to be investigated by the committee. Mr. Brisbane, according to word imparted to the committee, owned stock in The Leader up to a short time before it was barred from the mails. He is alleged to have paid between $35,000 and $40,000 for the stock.

George Creel, chairman of the Committee on Public Information, wrote to Chairman Overman of the investigating committee, to-day to ask a hearing on statements that funds of his bureau have been wasted. In this connection Senator Overman disclosed that the committee has information that Konta, whose letter to Dr. Dernburg before the United States went to war, regarding the purchase of a newspaper in the interest of German and brewery propaganda has drawn him into this inquiry has been employed by the Committee on Public Information to do loyalty work among Hungarians in this country.

SUPPORT ASHURST BILL.

Knights of Columbus Favor Federal Supervision of War Charities.

Frank W. Smith, Chairman of the War Committee of the New York Chapter, Knights of Columbus, gave out a letter yesterday written to the Senate Committee on Military Affairs urging the bill introduced by Senator Ashurst providing for Federal supervision of war charities. The letter said the Knights of Columbus favored the bill because it would prevent graft, restore public confidence in honest war work organizations, and prevent dishonest organizations from defrauding the public.

"I desire to point out to you that the need for the bill will be as great after the war as it is now," wrote Mr. Smith. "Following peace, war charities will continue and multiply for many years, soliciting public contributions for the welfare of returned soldiers, for their families and dependents, for the relatives of those who died for their country and for various other phases suggesting themselves for welfare work after the war."

Scarcity of Boots and Rubbers.

According to reports, there will be a great shortage of rubbers and rubber boots during the Winter season. Government demands have been very great in this line for some time past, and will continue until the necessary supply is obtained. The increase in price is from 15 to 20 per cent. on all grades.

Can't Get the Webbing.

Conditions in the garter and suspender trade are very precarious. This is due to the fact that it is almost impossible to obtain the necessary webbing for the manufacture of both garters and suspenders. Firms which formerly supplied this material are now busy on Government orders for elastic belts, ammunition belts, and many other articles. During the last year there has been an increase in price of at least 33 1-3 per cent., and another increase in the near future is possible.

Little Demand for Belts.

There has been a decided falling off in the use of leather belts. Manufacturers claim that this is due to the number of young men now in the service who formerly preferred belts to suspenders. There has not been any material increase in price during the last six months.

New Designs for Tapestries.

Suggestions have been made by an importer of hand-made French tapestries, that in the near future American history in the making will be worked out in large tapestry wall panels showing different scenes in the present war. Not only will these be used for exhibitions in museums but also for decorative purposes in the American homes. There has been a slight increase in the price of tapestries, the advance depending upon the size and design.

Gray Goods Sales Limited.

Now that sellers are beginning to be more liberal in offering gray goods for sale, buyers are becoming coy and are picking and choosing before they "sign up." Even then they take only what they want for use in the near future, excepting in the few instances where their judgment tells them to buy contracts running into the new year. Most buyers and sellers seem to be actuated in their present operations by the same idea—that the new differentials which are to be made in about three weeks will not be higher than those now in force. Yesterday business was light and confined to the constructions and deliveries that have sold in the last several days. Quite liberal concessions still fail to induce buyers of fine yarn goods to operate.

Business Still Badly Hampered.

While local retail business is said to be improving, now that the Liberty Loan has been concluded and the epidemic of influenza gives signs of abating, reports that come from many out-of-town cities are decidedly pessimistic. Not only are stores closed in many places throughout the country, but reports received here from the South say that in some communities the people have been ordered by the health authorities even to stay off the streets unless they have imperatively business to transact. Among the hard-hit lines are ready-to-wear garments for women. A veteran dress manufacturer yesterday said that in more than twenty years' experience he had never before seen a smaller demand for these goods.

Cotton Manufacturers to Meet.

Problems of a more general nature than usual are to be worked out at the Fall meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, which will be held at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston, on Oct. 30 and 31 and Nov. 1 and 2. The most important topics for discussion will be the standardization of labor in wartime and the trade acceptance movement. The chief speaker on the former topic will be Dr. Felix Frankfurter, Chairman of the War Labor Policies Board of the Department of Labor, while among other addresses on the trade acceptance will be one by Bert Clark of the Liberty National Bank of this city. Other features will include a smoker, the annual golf tournament, and a dinner at which the principal speaker will be Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson.

Import Business May Pick Up.

Maximum production is absolutely essential to the early winning of the war. Maximum production, however, as all may not fully realize, is dependent upon adequate plant facilities and ample working capital. The money to furnish these essentials must be loaned by the individual man and woman. In return they are paid a rate of interest which could never have been approached in the peaceful days of the past. This is, therefore, a time of rich harvest for those who save and invest in sound securities.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Rail Securities Draw Increased Attention—German Note Without Effect.

The character of dealings in the stock market underwent a considerable change yesterday from that of last week, an alteration which was difficult of close analysis. It could be said that the expansion of activity among the railroad issues was hardly attached in any way to consideration of the latest German note, nor were the sharp declines which occurred in particular industrial shares influenced by the public estimation of the German Government's futile beating about the bush. The financial community assumed from the first reading of the matter from Berlin that it was hardly a document which had an important bearing on the war, either to hasten peace or prolong the struggle, and, from this, it appeared as though domestic developments, together wit the progress of the allied armies, were dominant items in imparting strength to the railroad shares and bonds. Net gains running from 1 to more than 2 points were scored among stocks of the carriers.

The rise of 1½ points in Pennsylvania Railroad stock was a movement well worth special mention, being the broadest advance for any single market session in many months. Great Northern preferred, Chesapeake & Ohio, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul preferred, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Reading, Union Pacific, and others were in demand all the way along. A number of the lower-priced issues shared in the widening interest among the carriers, and it was noticeable that the greater part of the advances were retained until the close.

Some of the railroad stocks in earlier of the current series of million-share days had denoted signs of a reawakening, but yesterday's developments were more emphatic than those which appeared before. The improving earnings of the roads quite possibly are being studied with carefulness in quarters where investments in railroad securities were wont to find lodgment in years prior to the recent period of adverse operating results, and the tenor of comment in general trading circles of late has denoted a return of attention to these issues, after several years of application to the industrial department. The Interstate Commerce Commission's summary of operations in August on nearly 200 prominent roads shows an increase of 37 per cent. in gross and—especially gratifying—a gain of more than 25 per cent. in net revenue over the same month last year. For the eight months ended with August the aggregate net income still showed a recession, but few of these months were affected by the increased rates allowed by the Government, and economies brought about by unified operation doubtless did not show themselves clearly until midsummer or later.

Industrial stocks, on the whole, moved with firmness, although the rapid melting away of some of last week's exceptional gains in three or four issues made the list look weak at times. Bonds were again active, particularly railroad refunding and convertible bonds, with certain of the foreign municipal issues moving forward with strength at times. Foreign exchange rates were irregular, Swiss and Spanish quotations moving slightly against New York, while the others made no especial reflection of sentiment toward war developments.

RAILROAD ENPLOYES HEAVY BOND BUYERS

$164,992,150 Subscribed by 1,642,694 Workers Is Report to Washington.

PLANNING FOR FIFTH LOAN

Publicity Work Being Prepared Already for Next Drive in March or April.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Employes of railroads under Federal control subscribed not less than $164 992,150 to the Fourth Liberty Loan. This total, according to incomplete reports received today by the Railroad Administration, was distributed among 1,642,694 persons.

Subscriptions thus far reported by the various operating regions are: Southwestern, $20,661,250; Northwestern, $25,649,150; Pocahontas, $3,651,700; Allegheny, $21,809,650; Eastern, $44,580,450; Southern, $15,116,550, and Central Western, $32,933,400.

Officers, employes, and enlisted men attached to the War Department in Washington subscribed $14,341,400 to the Fourth Loan, more than the department's subscriptions to all three previous loans combined.

Long before the Fourth Liberty Loan figures have been counted up, or the honor flags have been entirely distributed, or the money paid in, preparations will have been started at the Treasury for the fifth Liberty Loan, whatever it may be called.

The date has not been determined, nor the amount, nor any other features. The only certain knowledge is that there will be another and that it probably will come in March or April next. Whether the present German manoeuvres for peace are successful or not, the Government by that time will need more billions to pay the war costs which can decrease only gradually, even if cessation of military effort should come.

Within a few months the Treasury will again begin issuing new certificates of indebtedness as a means of financing itself, and by next Spring the accumulated billions of these must be redeemed out of proceeds from sale of more bonds. So, with this situation in mind, the loan organization of the Treasury today had turned its attention to campaign plans for the next loan. Two features have been given study thus far in advance—publicity and campaign methods, both closely connected.

As for publicity, it is probable that there will be a fifth Liberty Loan honor flag, honor buttons for subscribers, window cards for the homes of bond buyers, precentage stickers, and art posters. It has been suggested that the honor flag, instead of bearing five bars might carry the Roman numeral V., standing not only for "five," but also for "victory."

1,168,508 SUBSCRIBERS IN METROPOLITAN DRIVE

$247,573,750 in Bonds Sold by This Committee—Final Returns for This District Incomplete.

With the compiling of final returns still incomplete, Liberty Loan officials were unwilling yesterday to estimate the amount of bonds sold in New York on the final day of the campaign, which began with New York still $424,668,950 short of its quota of $1,800,000,000.

The fact that many individual committees and banks reported oversubscriptions of their quotas encouraged many to think that New York would be found safely over the top when the final returns are completed tomorrow. In the meantime, it was stated by those who had charge of the campaign that trustworthy estimates could not be made.

The Metropolitan Canvass Committee, which had charge of the house-to-house canvass, and of the canvassing by the Police and Fire Departments, and through the public schools in Manhattan, the Bronx, and Brooklyn, made a tentative announcement of a total of $247,573,750 in subscriptions from 1,168,508 subscribers. It was stated that slight revisions might be made of these figures, but they are believed to be approximately correct.

The figures of the Metropolitan Canvass Committee indicated a remarkable achievement by the Police Department in the sale of Liberty bonds, the total sales by policemen aggregating $43,076,000. On the last day of the campaign the police sold bonds to the amount of $16,092,100. The Metropolitan Canvass Committee's figures indicate that their sales in the last campaign were greater by $102,083,250 than their sales in the Third Liberty Loan campaign, when they disposed of $145,475,500 of bonds.

The Liberty Loan Committee announced that the Metropolitan Bank probably held the record for the country in oversubscribing its quota, its total being nearly five times its quota.

$10,000 IN WAR BONDS GONE

Securities Are Taken from Cashier's Desk in Bronx Bank.

Liberty bonds of the fourth issue, in denominations of $50 and $100, to the amount of $10,000 are missing from the Bronx National Bank, 360 East 149th Street. The bonds are the property of the bank. All the numbers are known and the banks of the country will be notified not to cash coupons bearing those numbers.

Thomas J. Quinn, President of the bank, said that the bank was fully protected by a surety company from loss. Mr. Quinn said that the bonds were taken from the desk of Harry Kolbe, the Cashier, Monday, when the latter was at lunch. The bonds were locked up in the desk when the Cashier went out, the President said, and on his return the desk was found opened and the bonds gone.

SHIPYARDS RELEASE STEEL.

Free 10,000 to 15,000 Tons a Week Owing to Labor Shortage.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—From 10,000 to 15,000 tons of steel allotted to shipyards would be released each week for other war industries, Charles M. Schwab, Director General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, announced today after a conference with representatives of all the steel ship yards of the East. The 50,000 tons a week assigned to shipbuilding, it was said, proved to be beyond the needs of the plants, operating as they are with a shortage of labor.

"My next problem," said Mr. Schwab, "is to get 150,000 more trained ship workmen. The shortage exists in all the yards of the country and especially in the Delaware River district."

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 11,578 packages. A slight improvement in the demand, and rather more confident feeling shown on the better grades of fresh creamery, though prices remain unchanged throughout. Creamery, higher than extras, a lb., 57¼@58c; extras, 92 score, 57c; firsts, 88 to 91 score, 55@56½c; seconds, 83 to 87 score, 52½@54½c; lower grades, 48@52c; unsalted, higher than extras, 59@59½c; extras, 58@58½c; firsts, 56@57½c; seconds, 53½@55½c; State dairy tubs, finest, 56@56½c; good to prime, 52@55c; common to fair, 47@51c; renovated, extras, 56½@57c; firsts, 48½@49c; lower grades, 48@48c; imitation creamery, firsts, 45@46c; ladles, current make, firsts, 41½@42c; seconds, 40c; lower grades, 38@39½c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 40@40½c; No. 2, 39½c; lower grades, 36@39c.

EGGS.—9,219 packages. The demand continues quiet and selective. Arrivals are larger and advices generally indicate moderate supplies in transit. High qualities of fresh production are scarce and firm, but the market is burdened with accumulations of medium and ordinary qualities, which move slowly. The range of values is without material change. Storage eggs are irregular, with a continued fair demand and a steady, moderate reduction of reserves in warehouses. Nearby white eggs are very scarce and fancy lots command extreme prices. Fresh gathered extras, a dozen, 58@59c; extra firsts, 55@57c; firsts, 52@54c; seconds, 49@51c; dirties, No. 1, 45@46c; No. 2 and poorer, 40@44c; checks, good to choice, dry, 40@42c; undergraded, 35@39c; State, refrigerator, special marks, fancy, charges paid, 40@47c; firsts, charges paid, 44@46c; seconds, charges paid, 42½@44c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby Western hennery whites, fine to fancy, 86@90c; ordinary to prime, 75@85c; gathered whites, ordinary to fine, 72@86c; Western and Southern, gathered whites, 65@82c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby hennery browns, 62@65c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 50@59c.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

Substantial net gains were registered in a majority of the issues at the close of an active market yesterday on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. The exceptions were the steel and copper stocks, and, in the oil stocks, Mexican Petroleum, which closed with a loss of 17 points. In a general way, peace stocks were in demand, while the war issues sold off, though the decline in the steel securities were fractional. The feature of the session was the strong and active market in the rails.

FOOD BOARD ASKS CHILDS TO EXPLAIN

Restaurant Company Called to Defend Bread Charge Under New Service Order.

ONE BUTCHER CLOSES SHOP

First in City to Decline Voluntary Penalty as Profiteer by Enforcement Bureau.

The Childs Company, with a string of restaurants in New York and other cities, will be asked by the United States Food Administration today to explain the interpretation it has placed upon General Order No. 8 of the new set of regulations made effective in all eating places on Monday last. This order, one of twelve framed in the interest of food conservation, specifies that "No public eating place shall allow any bread to be brought to the table until after the first course is served." The Childs Company acts upon the rule by placing in its menu cards the following notice to patrons:

"New regulations by the United States Food Administration require bread and butter to be served only upon request. Henceforth a charge of 5 cents will be made for bread and butter service."

The company's notice aroused protests, and late yesterday the matter was brought to the attention of Arthur Williams, Federal Food Administrator for New York, at the headquarters, 6 West Fifty-seventh Street. Mr. Williams asked Samuel Childs, Vice President of the restaurant concern if such a notice had been issued by the company. Mr. Childs replied that he thought not, but promised to look into the matter today and report to Mr. Williams.

To reporters, Mr. Williams said there was no such regulation as was referred to in the Childs notice. Pending a report today from the restaurants, the Administrator declined to commit himself as to the line of action to be followed by the Food Board. It was understood, however, that there was little question that the notice in its present form would be either withdrawn or modified.

Administrator Williams made it plain that he did not intend to have the notice give the impression to the public that the Food Board's new rule had the effect of placing an extra charge of five cents on customers of the Childs restaurants.

After hearing from Mr. Childs today John Mitchell, Chairman of the local Food Board, will decide the line of action to be taken.

In looking over the "War Program for Public Eating Places" it was found late last night that under the general plan, which is introductory to the twelve General Orders, the following statement appears:

"Bread and Butter—No bread or butter shall be served unless the guest requests it, and when bread and butter are served it must not be put upon the table until after the first course is served."

The pamphlet in which this statement appears is addressed to "To the managers of public eating places of America."

Hotels and restaurants throughout the city yesterday had settled down to the observance of the new orders affecting the conservation of food served in their dining rooms. Fancy dishes were entirely absent from the menus of well-known establishments. The Majestic Hotel management announced that Welsh rarebit was a thing of the past in its restaurant, and similar action was taken by other popular resorts.

The hotel dining room means to have the new form and style of six nine inches, became noticeable yesterday. According to those in charge, the new size in menu cards is really the only appreciable change, for the managers said that ever since the Food Administration suggested its plan for food saving the hotels had been observing the regulations. The Food Board was busy yesterday distributing 12,000 placards in New York's eating places.

Another group of retail butchers charged with profiteering in the sale of lamb appeared at the offices of the Federal Food Board yesterday for individual hearings of the charges against them. A few cases were dismissed, but the majority of the butchers admitted profiteering and accepted voluntary penalties.

Frans Joseph Michel, of 687 Amsterdam Avenue, preferred to have an "unfair order" issued against him rather than accept a voluntary penalty. It was shown that at the time the inspector visited Michel's shop the "fair price" ruling was in force, which exceeded on loin chops to 24½ cents on stew lamb, and that after the inspector's visit an excess of 10 cents a pound was still charged on loin chops. Michel's defense was that he could not do business at the prices suggested by the Board.

J. L. Lindner of the Bureau of Enforcement, decided he was guilty of profiteering, and Michel accepted an order agreeing to close his shop for two weeks. This was said at the offices of the board to be the first case of a butcher in this city who preferred to close down his business temporarily rather than accept a voluntary penalty.

The Food Board announced yesterday that the license of Lang & Co., flour dealers, 280 Nineteenth Avenue, members of the Produce Exchange, had been suspended for thirty days for taking excessive profits in flour.

Complaints having been made that high prices were being charged for oranges and lemons, inspectors will start out today to make an investigation to decide whether there is profiteering in these fruits. The influenza epidemic is responsible for a heavy consumption of all fruits, and some dealers are said to be asking exorbitant prices for their wares.

The board announced also that the Division of Food Council, through its Assembly district leaders, is endeavoring to secure women to assist in relief work made necessary by the influenza. Women desiring to aid in this work should communicate with I. H. Kline, Director, Food Council, 6 West Fifty-seventh Street.

CONDEMNS NEW CITY JOBS.

Citizens Union Says Administration Is Making Unnecessary Places.

The City Government Committee of the Citizens Union, through its counsel, Leonard M. Wallstein, former Commissioner of Accounts, charged yesterday in a letter to Controller Craig that the Board of Estimate had created a number of new places in city departments without giving sufficient publicity, after it had announced a policy of keeping new places at a minimum. The letter says, in part:

We regret that the basis of the congratulation expressed in our earlier memorandum upon the board's disapproval of a large number of requests in the establishment of new positions and for the substantial increase in salary of higher paid positions which already carried fair compensation appears now to have been withdrawn by your committee. Your earlier general policy of establishing no new exempt jobs at high salaries and of making no substantial salary increases in well-paid positions has been abandoned. For instance, we find that the proposed budget, published yesterday, contains provision for the following new and necessarily exempt jobs which were not mentioned in the tentative budget and which in many instances were not even contained in the published requests of department heads for appropriations:

Two Assistant Corporation Counsels at $5,000 each per annum and one at $5,780; a Secretary of the Teachers' Retirement Fund at $3,000; a confidential inspector in the Department of Public Markets at $1,800, and a water register in the Department of Water Supply, Gas, and Electricity at $3,500.

The new positions enumerated are in addition to other new positions which may or may not be made exempt, as, for instance, an accountant in the Finance Department at $4,000, a municipal examiner in that department at $4,000; a municipal engineer at $4,000; and two assistant engineers in the Department of Water Supply, Gas, and Electricity at $3,960 and $2,700 respectively.

Mr. Wallstein complimented the board for increasing the appropriation for the Board of Education in the budget by $3,023,000 and the Public Health Education Fund by $5,000.

COTTON DECLINES ON LIVERPOOL SALES

Spinners' Brokers Take Up Contracts—Rain Reports Fail to Affect Prices.

Heavy selling by Liverpool interests worked to unsettle cotton prices in early dealings yesterday, with declines extending from 40 to 50 points. The output from abroad appeared to be a continuation of the preceding day's effort to undo straddle operations, and while offerings were more than the market could readily absorb at times without prices retreating substantially, it was noticeable that brokers who usually act for spinners were steadily engaged in taking up contracts.

In the afternoon a firmer tone developed, coincident with a slackening of Liverpool operations and the market rallied about 20 points. The time is near at hand when frosts begin to reduce progress in late picking, and reports of heavy, cold rainfall in various parts of the South were received. These appeared to have no effect on prices, however.

Chicago & Northwestern System to Get $23,364,028 Rental, C., B. & Q. $33,300,079.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Director General McAdoo today signed the first contracts to be entered into between the Railroad Administration and railroads under Government control, fixing the amount of annual rental and other details.

The first contract executed was with the Chicago & Northwestern and its subsidiary companies, calling for a total annual rental of $23,364,028. The second was with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, at a rental of $33,300,079. Others were with the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha, at $4,984,739; the Colorado Southern & Wichita, Valley at $2,833,576, and the Forth Worth & Denver City, at $1,891,386.

When the contracts have been signed by the officials of the railroad companies they will be observing the rules for examination by Railroad Administration officials and for any changes believed necessary, and are signed after approval by the Federal Manager of the road concerned. Some of the roads under Government control have asked for extra compensation, it was announced, and the applications now are pending.

SENATORS DISCARD ALTERNATIVE TAX

bers of the Finance Committee insist that in its application it will be more equitable and will not press so heavily upon business that has not profited exorbitantly from war contracts, while the profiteers will be easily reached.

One clause inserted in the bill by the Finance Committee is intended to protect small corporations from unjust taxation. It is a substitute for Section 302 of the House bill, and reads:

"That the tax imposed by Section 301 shall in no case be more than 35 per cent. of the amount of net income in excess of $8,000 and not in excess of $20,000, plus 80 per cent. of the amount of net income in excess of $20,000. Nothing in this section shall be construed in such a manner as to increase the tax imposed by Section 301."

The surtaxes on income as drafted today by the Finance Committee are calculated to yield $1,045,009,000, as against an estimated yield of $930,000,000 as the House bill. The Senate scheme is to add 1 per cent. to the surtax for every additional $2,000 of income above $6,000. Under this method the surtaxes would be as follows:

Income.		Surtax Rate.	Amount of Tax.
$5,000 to	$6,000,	1 per cent.	$4,000,000

101 ARMY MEN LOST ON THE TICONDEROGA

Total Dead Now Placed at 213, Including 10 Navy Officers and 102 Seamen.

FOURTEEN PRIVATES SAVED

War Department Gives Out Names of the Soldiers Who Were on the Steamer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Two officers and ninety-nine enlisted men of the army lost their lives in the sinking of the American steamer Ticonderoga in the war zone on Sept. 30. This announcement today by the War Department brought the total loss of life to 213, the navy having previously reported ten officers and 102 men of the crew dead and two officers carried off as prisoners by the enemy submarine that sent the vessel down.

More than half of the soldiers lost on the Ticonderoga were from Ohio. The list also gave the names of fourteen privates saved. The officers lost were Lieutenants Joseph W. Freeman of Wetumpka, Ala., and Cleveland C. Frost of Berea, Ky.

The Ticonderoga, formerly the German steamer Camilla Rickmers, was torpedoed 1,700 miles from shore, and the only known survivors were three officers and five men of the crew, in addition to the fourteen soldiers saved. The submarine is reported to have shelled the lifeboats, killing many of those who had succeeded in leaving the ship safely.

BOLSHEVIST TRIALS ENDING.

Cases of Five Men and a Woman to Go to the Jury This Afternoon.

The cases of the six local Bolsheviki, who have been on trial in the Federal District Court for the last week on an indictment which charges violation of the Espionage act through the printing and circulating of documents denouncing the President and the war aims of the United States and the Allies, will go to the jury this afternoon. In the event of conviction on all counts, it will be in the discretion of Judge Henry D. Clayton to send the five men and one woman to the penitentiary for eighty years.

Jacob Abrahams, one of the defendants cross-examined by Assistant United States District Attorney S. L. Miller yesterday morning, said he did not believe in "man-made laws." When Mr. Miller asked him under what name he had registered for the Selective Draft, H. Weinberger, a lawyer, who defended the convicted anarchists Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, told the witness not to answer.

Judge Clayton ruled Weinberger in contempt and fined him $10. After the lawyer apologized Judge Clayton remitted the fine.

Samuel Lipman, who admitted he was author of the English version of a leaflet circulated as propaganda, said he had desired to enlighten the people of the United States on permitting American troops to be landed on Russian soil. Lipman said he was a Socialist and not an anarchist. Judge Clayton held that Lipman's opinions had no place in the trial.

Mollie Stimer, the only woman among the defendants, refused to take the oath, and it was ruled that her testimony should go into the record for what it might be worth. The woman said it was true she had favored strikes in munition plants. When asked by Mr. Miller if she did not know that such strikes would cripple the war activities of the United States, she replied that did not concern her.

Gabriel Prober, the last witness, maintained that he knew nothing about the printing and circulation of the documents which figure in the case.

The lawyer for the defense will begin summing up at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Chicago Airpost Service Delayed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The Chicago-New York aerial mail service scheduled to start on Nov. 14 will be delayed about one month because about $15,000 required for the building of a hangar in Chicago has not been raised, it was announced tonight. A Chamber of Commerce committee has undertaken to raise the fund.

GIBBONS ACCEPTS HONOR.

Cardinal Lauds France in Acknowledging the Decoration.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 22.—Cardinal Gibbons announced today his acceptance of the distinction conferred upon him by the French Government in making him a Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor. In a letter to the French Ambassador at Washington, through whom the intention of the French Government was made known to the Cardinal recently, Cardinal Gibbons spoke of his love and admiration for the French people, and declared that without their timely aid "our glorious country could never have been a nation."

"As it was when the soil of your beloved country, uniting Latin culture to the northern races, was first welded together," the Cardinal said, "so again upon the soil of France has this last terrible conflict been fought in which the cause of civilization and liberty has been assured."

Ambassador Jusserand, in his letter notifying the Cardinal of the purpose of his Government, said that the decoration was bestowed upon him as an evidence of the great esteem in which he was held by the French people and in recognition of his "great influence ever exercised in favor of noble causes, and in these latter years in favor of the noblest of all, that of the reign of justice in the world."

The token comes from a country, the Ambassador said, "which has ever had for the United States, and has more than ever now, the warmest sentiments of friendship."

PLEDGE THEATRES IN DRIVE

Representatives Accept $2,000,000 Quota in War Work Campaign.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Chairman of the Executive Committee for New York of the United War Work Campaign, received pledges of hearty co-operation from forty representatives of actors and theatrical interests who were his guests at dinner last night at the University Club. Mr. Rockefeller announced that $35,000,000 had been allotted to New York, and that of this amount the theatres would raise $2,000,000. Those present agreed that previous drives had hurt the theatrical business markedly, but that, despite any personal inconvenience or monetary loss, they would do their utmost in the campaign.

The speakers were W. A. Brady, Daniel Frohman, R. H. Burnside, George M. Cohan, John Drew, Marcus Loew, E. F. Albee, William Fox and A. G. Milbank. Others present were Sam H. Harris, Alf Hayman, Arthur Hopkins, Dr. Joseph J. Klein, Judge Aaron Levy, Adolph Zukor, and Marshal J. J. McCarthy.

It was pointed out by Dr. Klein that in this coming drive the theatres will be required to raise as a gift from the people an amount proportionately nine times as much as they got them to lend in the Liberty Loan campaign, and that this must be done in one-third the time. The managers assured Mr. Rockefeller, however, that they were prepared to go over the top at any cost to themselves.

Mr. Drew pledged the support of the Players, Mr. Burnside of the Lambs, and Mr. Brady of the film interests.

Springfield, Mass., May Enroll Women.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 22.—The Chamber of Commerce announced today that it is conducting an investigation of war labor conditions to determine whether a registration of women for full or part time employment should be undertaken. Should the plan be adopted, as is considered likely, every woman will be asked to fill out a questionnaire, and those available for service would be placed through a special war service bureau.
